MEG'S DOMESTIC EXPERIENCE.

From "Little Women,"—Second Part.

Concluded.

She knew her husband's income, and she loved to feel that he trusted her, not only with his happiness, but what some men seem to value more, his money. She knew where it was, was free to take what she liked, and all he asked was that she should keep account of every penny, pay bills once a month, and remember that she was a poor man's wife. Till now she had done well, been prudent and exact, kept her little account books neatly, and showed them to him monthly, without fear. But that autumn the serpent got into Meg's paradise, and tempted her, like many a modern Eve, not with apples, but with dress. Meg didn't like to be pitied and made to feel poor; it irritated her; but she was ashamed to confess it, and now and then she tried to condole herself by buying something pretty, so that Sallie needn't think she had to scrimp. She always felt wicked after it, for the pretty things were seldom necessaries; but then they cost so little, it wasn't worth worrying about; so the trifles increased unconsciously, and in the shopping excursions she was no longer a passive looker on.

But the trifles cost more than one would imagine; and when she cast up her accounts at the end of the month, the sum total rather scared her. John was busy that month, and left the bills to her; the next month he was absent; but the third he had a grand quarterly settling up, and Meg never forgot it. A few days before she had done a dreadful thing, and it weighed upon her conscience. Sallie had been buying silks, and Meg ached for a new one—just a handsome light one for parties—her black silk was so common, and thin things for evening wear were only proper for girls. Aunt March usually gave the sisters a present of twenty-five dollars apiece, at New-Year; that was only a month to wait, and here was a lovely violet silk going at a bargain, and she had the money, if she only dared to take it. John always said that what was his was hers; but would he think it right to spend not only the prospective five-and-twenty, but another five-and-twenty out of the household fund? That was the question. Sallie had urged her to do it, and offered to loan the money, and with the best intentions in life, had tempted Meg beyond her strength. In an evil moment the shopman held up the lovely, shimmering folds, and said, "A bargain, I assure you ma'am." She answered, "I'll take it"; and it was cut off and paid for, and Sallie had exulted, and she had laughed as if it was a thing of no consequence, and driven away feeling as if she had stolen something, and the police were after her.

When she got home, she tried to assuage the pangs of remorse by spreading forth the lovely silk; but it looked less silvery now, didn't become her, after all, and the words "fifty dollars" seemed stamped like a pattern down each breadth. She put it away; but it haunted her, not delightfully, as a new dress should, but dreadfully, like the ghost of a folly that was not easily laid. When John got out his books that night, Meg's heart sank; and, for the first time in her married life, she was afraid of her husband. The kind, brown eyes looked as if they could be stern; and though he was unusually merry, she fancied he had found her out, but didn't mean to let her know it. The house bills were all paid, the books all in order. John had praised her, and was undoing the old pocket book which they called the "bank," when Meg, knowing that it was quite empty, stopped his hand, saying nervously,—

"You haven't seen my private expense book, yet."

John never asked to see it; but she always insisted on his doing so, and used to enjoy his masculine amazement at the queer things women wanted, and make him guess what "piping" was, demand fiercely the meaning of a "hug-me-tight," or wonder how a little thing composed of three rosebuds, a bit of velvet and a pair of strings, could possible be a bonnet, and cost five or six dollars. That night he looked as if he would like the fun of quizzing her fingers, and pretending to be horrified at her extravagance, as he often did, being particularly proud of his prudent wife.

The little book was brought slowly out, and laid down before him. Meg got behind his chair, under pretence of smoothing the wrinkles out of his tired forehead, and standing there, she said, with her panic increasing with every word.—

"John, dear, I'm ashamed to show you my book, for I've really been dreadfully extravagant lately. I go about so much I must have things, you know, and Sallie advised me to get it, so I did; and my New-Year's money will partly pay for it; but I was sorry after I'd done it, for I know you'd think it wrong in me."

John laughed, and drew her round beside him, saying good-humoredly, "Don't go and hide. I won't beat you if you have got a pair of killing boots; I'm rather proud of my wife's feet, and don't mind if she does pay eight or nine dollars for her boots, if they are good ones."

That had been one of her last 'trifles,' and John's eye had fallen on it as he spoke. "Oh, what will he say when he comes to that awful fifty dollars!" thought Meg, with a shiver.

"It's worse than boots, it's a silk dress," she said with the calmness of desperation, for she wanted the worst over.

"Well, dear, what is 'the dem'd total?' as Mr. Mantalini says."

That didn't sound like John, and she knew he was looking up at her with the straightforward look that she had always been ready to meet with one as frank, till now. She turned the page and her head at the same time, pointing to the sum that would have been bad enough without the fifty, but which was appalling to her with that added. For a minute the room was very still; then John said—but she could feel it cost him an effort to express no displeasure,—

"Well, I don't know that fifty is much for a dress, with all the furbelows and quinny-dingles you have to finish it off these days."

"It isn't made or trimmed," sighed Meg faintly, for a sudden recollection of the cost still to be incurred quite overwhelmed her.

"Twenty-five yards of silk seems a good deal to cover one small woman, but I've no doubt my wife will look as fine as Ned Moffat's when she gets it on," said John dryly.

"I know you are angry, John, but I can't help it; I don't mean to waste your money, and I didn't think those little things would count up so. I can't resist them when I see Sallie buying all she wants, and pitying me because I don't; I try to be contented, but it is hard, and I'm tired of being poor."

The last words were spoken so low she thought he did not hear them, but he did, and they wounded him deeply, for he had denied himself many pleasures for Meg's sake. She could have bitten her tongue out the minute she had said it, for John pushed the books away and got up, saying, with a little quiver in his voice, "I was afraid of this; I do my best, Meg." If he had scolded her, or even shaken her, it would not have broken her heart like those few words. She ran to him and held him close, crying with repentant tears, "Oh, John! my dear, kind, hard-working boy, I didn't mean it! It was so wicked, so untrue and ungrateful, how could I say it! Oh, how could I say it?"

He was very kind, forgave her readily, and did not utter one reproach; but Meg knew that she had done and said a thing which could not be forgotten soon, although he might never allude to it again. She had promised to love him for better for worse; and then she, his wife, had reproached him with his poverty, after spending his earnings recklessly. It was dreadful; and the worst of it was John went on so quietly afterward, just as if nothing had happened, except that he stayed in town later, and worked at night after she had gone to cry herself to sleep. A week of remorse nearly made Meg sick; and the discovery that John had countermanded the order for his new great-coat, reduced her to a state of despair which was painful to behold.—He had simply said, in answer to her surprised enquiries as to the change, "I can't afford it, my dear."

Meg said no more, but a few minutes after he found her in the hall with her face buried in the old great-coat, crying as if her heart would break.

They had a long talk that night, and Meg learned to love her husband better for his poverty, because it seemed to have made a man of him—giving him the strength and courage to fight his own way—and taught him a tender patience with which to bear and comfort the natural longings and failings of those he loved.

Next day she put her pride in her pocket, went to Sallie, told the truth, and asked her to buy the silk as a favor. The good-natured Mrs. Moffat willingly did so, and had the delicacy not to make her a present of it immediately afterward. Then Meg ordered home the great-coat, and, when John arrived, she put it on, and asked him how he liked her new silk gown. One can imagine what answer he made, how he received his present, and what a blissful state of things ensued. John came home early, Meg gadded no more; and that great-coat was put on in the morning by a very happy husband, and taken off at night by a most devoted little wife.

G W Hollis had 350 Kentucky Sheep, average 150 lbs, which will cost here 12c ₱ lb, live weight. We quote sales of Northern Sheep—25 at $4 75 30 at $4 50, 25 at $5, 25 at $3 10 ₱ head; 87 at 8½c, 51 at 8c, 65 at 6½c, 51 at 8½c, 80 at 7½c, 65 at 8c ₱ lb. RED JACKET AXE!

THE RED JACKET COLBURN AXE

is a splendid tool, for these reasons:

First—The Red Jacket cuts deeper than the common bit.

Second—If being round on the cut, it does not stick in the wood.

Third—Every chopper with the common axe must discover that there is as much labor and strength expended in taking the axe out of the cut as in making the blow.

Fourth—This with the Red Jacket is all avoided, and from one-third to one-half the labor is saved in cutting the same quantity.

Fifth—By putting in the same labor that is necessary with a common axe, you can easily make at least thirty-three per cent. more wood in the same time.

The great demand for this axe has compelled us to establish Eastern agencies as follows:

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR:

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 8 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST and blank club orders. Address all orders and communications to the

ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY,

85, 87 & 89 COURT STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to our distant customers, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants all over the country to act as Agents for distributing our Goods in their locality at our Warehouse Prices. We write one such Agent in every town in the Union. Traders desiring it in towns where we have not already appointed one, are invited to correspond, as above, concerning it.

We have appointed
JOHN STOKELL & CO.

WOMAN'S WORK.

Darning little stockings
For restless little feet;
Washing little faces,
To keep them fresh and sweet;
Hearing Bible lessons,
Teaching catechism,
Praying for salvation
From heresy and schism,
Woman's work!

Sewing on the buttons,
Overseeing rations,
Soothing with a kind word
Others' lamentations;
Guiding clumsy Bridgets,
Coaxing sullen cooks,
Entertaining company
And reading recent books,
Woman's work!

Burying out of sight
Her own unhealing smarts;
Letting in the sunshine
On other clouded hearts;
Binding up the wounded,
Healing of the sick,
Bravely marching onward
Through dangers dark and thick:
Woman's work!

Leading little children
And blessing manhood's years;
Showing to the sinful
How God's forgiveness cheers;
Scattering sweet roses
Along another's path;
Smiling by the wayside,
Content with what she hath,
Woman's work!

Letting fall her own tears
Where only God can see;
Wiping off another's
With tender sympathy;
Learning by experience,
Teaching by example;
Yearning for the gateway,
Golden, pearly, ample,
Woman's work!

At last cometh silence—
A day of deep repose;
Upon her breast a rose;
Her locks smoothly braided,
Lashes resting gently
Upon the marble cheek;
A look of blessed peace
Upon the forehead meek;

The hands softly folded,
The kindly pulses still;
The cold lips know no smile,
The noble heart no thrill;
Her pillow needs no smoothing,
She craveth for no care—
Love's tenderest entreaty
Wakes no responses there.

A grave in the valley,
Tears, bitter sobs, regret;
Another lesson taught,
That life may not forget;
A face forever hidden,
A race forever run;
"Dust to dust," the preacher said;
And woman's work is done. —Pic.

"MY TEN ROD FARM; OR, HOW I BECAME A FLORIST," by Marin Gilman, is the title of an interesting manual just issued by the shrewd and indefatigable Loring, of Boston.

It purports to be a true story, with no attempt at embellishment or sensational effect, of a woman, who five years ago, by the sudden death of her husband, found herself obliged to do something for her own support and that of her two children. Her stock in trade at that time was a house and lot, worth $2000, encumbered by a mortgage of $500; an insurance on her husband's life of $2000, and $25 in money.

The one thing to do, under established precedents, was to sell out, pay debt, hire a couple of rooms, enlist in the already over-crowded ranks of under-paid teachers or sewing-women, and so fight out the battle of life.

These two avenues of woman's work were open, and the feet that had hardly learned to stand alone, chose the narrowest, the one that leads soonest to despair. She "went from shop to shop, seeking work, literally despised and rejected of men," and at last obtaining it, receives for eighteen hours' hard labor with the needle, seventy-five cents. Heartsick and discouraged, she knows not where to turn next, when a rich neighbor, in a sudden emergency, pays her so liberally for the common flowers of her humble garden, that she is inspired with the happy thought,—a woman may become a florist.

This idea she follows up, makes some mistakes, as who does not? meets with many discouragements, and who does not? her plants freeze, and she is not spared the "I told you so" of her friends and relatives—who ever was on such an occasion? All of us have our Job's comforters, ready enough to sit down with us among the ashes of our ruined hopes. But all the she meets with kindly help from fellow-laborers in the same vineyard (oh! that there were a Mr. Felix in every profession), and at last achieves such success, that she begins her book in these words:

I own the house in which I live, the furniture, the large greenhouse in the yard, and, in fact, the entire estate. I keep a man-servant, and a maid-of-all-work. My income is $2000 a year and I am out of debt.

This little pamphlet of a hundred pages is quite apropos to the recent movement made by the New England Women's Club, in favor of the establishment of a Horticultural School for Women. The idea has long lain near the hearts of many thinking men and women, that horticulture might be made possible and profitable for women, requiring as it does but a small outlay of money and strength. By devoting an hour to the perusal of this volume, the incredulous will have their doubts removed; the sanguine their hopes confirmed.—Boston Transcript.

A GOOD ONE ON EX-SECRETARY SEWARD.—On a recent occasion, a Washington correspondent relates, a party of intimate friends was gathered in Mrs. Grant's parlor, and the conversation turned on the appointment of Mr. Washburne as Secretary of State. "What," asked Mrs. Grant "are the duties of a Secretary of State?" No one answered for a moment, and she repeated the question. "Principally," explained a gentleman, "I suppose, to manage our relations with foreign countries." "Oh!" Mrs. Grant replied, "I thought it was to buy islands."

—There is a canard circulating in the papers to the effect that the Episcopal Bishop of New Jersey says he will not lay hands in confirmation on chignons and false hair. The story is probably meant as a travesty on Bishop Coxe's announcement that he will not knowingly lay hands in confirmation on those attending immodest theatricals, or engaging in immodest dances, or guilty of ante-natal infanticide.

—A sea gull has been caught in Kentucky. It was probably lured to that whiskey region by misunderstanding the report that there is a "waste of water" in that State.

—A second-hand set of false teeth was sold at auction in Montgomery, Alabama, last week.

THE MEDICINE FOR THE WHOOPING COUGH!
DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR gives agreeable and almost instant relief in the spasms of Whooping Cough. This is a complaint that all children are expected to have; and when it comes, strange to say, they are left to fight it through as they best can, little or nothing being done to break its intensity or help the sufferers along. And when it is reflected that very many of the diseases of older and adult years have their origin in the tear and strain of Whooping Cough, this neglect would be utterly unaccountable, but for the fact that children's diseases, like many of the weaknesses of women, are considered so much a matter of course that people become stolid, or totally unconcerned about them. Let them cough it through, as we did, seems generally to be the unfeeling method. Whooping Cough is a Nervous disease, and Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator treats it with COMPLETE SUCCESS. Mothers, TRY IT, and save your little ones the worst agony of this distressing affection. A sure and beneficent medicine.

Important Certificate.
Speedy Cure of Whooping Cough.
J. W. PECKETT, Esq., Brooklyn, N. Y.
I am not in the habit of taking advertised medicines, nor of certifying to their curative effects when they come under my observation; but I feel constrained to make an exception in favor of DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR, a medicine I have used in my family for some time past. My little daughter had been suffering from severe Whooping Cough for several weeks, and was so much broken of rest at night that—by excessive coughing and loss of sleep—her constitution and general health seemed to be giving away. Various remedies or palliatives were recommended by intimate neighbors, but nothing was tried until our attention was called by a physician not now in practice to Dodd's Nervine.
This we procured and commenced using at once—with an effect immediate and surprising. As the convulsions were hardest at night, we began by giving the Nervine on her going to bed. The first dose administered made its impression; the cough became less frequent, and very much less severe—she soon got her accustomed sleep—rapidly revived in health and vigor—and in a few days was as well as ever. What was left of the Whooping Cough was the matter of no trouble. Of course I cannot but consider Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator an invaluable remedy for this distressing malady. I may add, that I have frequently recommended it to several family friends, in like circumstances, and have found it in every case to be equally successful. It needs only to be known to come into universal demand. J. W. PECKETT.

A Philadelphia dispatch says that a statement of George S. Twitchell, made to Rev. Mr. Binghurst, is published, in which he declares that on the night of the murder he was aroused from sleep by his wife coming to him and stating that she had killed her mother in a quarrel. They both went to the room where she lay and together threw her body out of the window. The statement is made over Mr. Binghurst's signature, who has been in attendance upon Twitchell.

New York merchants fear a financial crisis.

☞ From Arequipa, Peru, which was destroyed by the great earthquake, we learn that at times a most ominous subterraneous rumbling noise is heard there, and that the reconstruction of the ruined dwellings is making but slow progress, on account of the many strong earthquakes happening daily and frightening the people to an extent that quite a number continue camping out in the fields, even in this inclement season, sooner than to trust themselves within town.

BUSINESS.—The oyster business of Fair Haven, Conn., is said to employ, at a low estimate, a capital of over a million dollars, and gives employment to about fifteen hundred or two thousand persons. In 1867 it is estimated that over 700,000 bushels were brought from the southern waters, requiring twenty-six vessels, making six voyages each. During that year about 1,000,000 kegs and 500,000 cans are said to have been packed.

MUTINY.—A mutiny occurred at the Chincha Islands previous to March 3, on board the ship L. B. Gilchrist of Thomaston, Capt. Watts. The ringleader of the party attacked the officers with a razor, when he was shot and killed, and with the assistance of other officers belonging to ships lying near by the mutiny was quelled. An investigation of the affair was subsequently made by the authorities, who fully exonerated the officers of all blame in the matter.

The road between Bradford and New London, was in such a terrible condition on the night of the 29th that Mr. Gillingham, driver of the stage, was forced to give it up about three miles this side of New London. The passengers had to "foot it" about three quarters of a mile to a house, where they put up for the night. On the morning of the 30th, the passengers got to New London in a single sleigh. It took a yoke of oxen to release Mr. Gillingham's team, and ten hours were occupied in going from New London to Bradford, twelve miles.

It appears by a letter from Pittsburg to the Concord Patriot that between 40 and 50 deer have been killed in the vicinity within a short time, and five captured alive. Five moose have also been killed, one of which weighed, dressed, 600 lbs. It says: "The snow here is, to-day, the 22d, from five to seven feet deep, and still it comes, almost every day. It is as cold as it was in January, and many people are nearly out of hay. The prospect is alarming, for no man has hay for sale. If this weather continues long, the cattle must starve. We have fed hay since Oct. 1st and from present prospects shall have to feed it two months longer." [We suppose it has melted somewhat by this time.]

The Keene Sentinel says that Cyrus Hurd's house, situated near the site of the old glass factory, was burnt last Sunday morning before daylight. The circumstances being such as to warrant the belief that Hurd purposely set the house on fire, he was arrested and lodged in jail. The house is said to have been heavily attached, and no other reason can be assigned for his committing the crime than that he wished to keep the property out of the hands of his creditors.

A REMARKABLE FAMILY.—The death of Mrs. A. S. Wilson of Windham, is the first instance of mortality in a family established more than half a century ago, and consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and six children. Mr. and Mrs. W. were married by Rev. Samuel Harris fifty-three years ago. Hence, though Windham is a town of long pastorates, their married life beginning in the latter years of Mr. Harris' service, spans the ministries of Rev. Calvin Cutler and Rev. Loren Thayer, and extends into the early part of the work of Rev. Joseph Lanman, the present pastor.—News Letter.

New Publications.

The American Year Book for 1869, just published by O. D. Case & Co., Hartford, Conn., is a convenient and valuable book of reference and information, with a good Index. It is a volume of over 800 pages, well executed every way, and fully equal to all the promise made of it in our former notice.

Blackwood's Magazine for March, has among its contents an article on New Zealand and its Gold Fields.

☞ New and old anti-rum and anti-tobacco books, tracts, and pledges, in great variety, may be had of Rev. Geo. Trask, Fitchburg, Mass. They are all readable; some of them capital hits.

—They have at Portland, Me., what is called a "Widow's Wood Society." Who ever heard of a widow that wouldn't?

—A London paper wants to know how Art Unions were conducted in the days of the Pre-Raffleites?

—A Philadelphia reporter prophesied the storm of Monday by "the cereal barometer in our left boot."

— The home of the late Mrs. Sigourney, the poetess, at Hartford, has been sold for a railroad station.

—In a Paris cafe concert is a notice posted:—"Ladies are requested not to smoke in this room."

— Young women should set good examples, for the young men are always following them.

OVER 1200 VESTS WITH ONE NEEDLE.—It will be ten years since I purchased a Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine, which I have used ever since in vest-making. In that time I have made more than 3500 vests, and have done all my family sewing beside. I have used the needle now in the machine for nearly four years, and made with it over 1200 vests. MRS. A. ☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

"HOW MODEST worth neglected lies," does not apply to the popularity of "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative." Its worth, though modest, is fully appreciated by the millions who use no other preparation.—N. Y. Sunday Times.

The True Medical Doctrine.

Nature, when struggling with disease, indicates unmistakably the kind of assistance she requires. In cases of nervous weakness and general debility the feeble pulse, the lack-lustre eye, the attenuated frame, the flaccid muscles, the melancholy visage, inform us as plainly as if each organ had a tongue, that a medicated stimulant is needed. It does not require the aid of a medical education to understand this dumb appeal for new vigor, from an exhausted system. Every reader of these lines can comprehend it just as well as the graduate of a physicians' college. Let not this demand of enfeebled nature be neglected. Respond promptly to it by commencing a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a preparation uniting, in their highest excellence, the properties of a STIMULANT, an INVIGORANT, and an ALTERATIVE.—Before three days have elapsed from the taking of the first dose, a marked beneficial change will be manifest in the bodily and mental condition of the patient. The pulse will be stronger and more regular, the eye will begin to lose its dull expression, the muscular and nervous systems to recover their tension, and the spirits to improve. Persevering and a complete revivification of the depressed animal and mental powers is certain. In cases of long standing the same salutary and decisive results will be obtained. The appetite will revive, the sallowness of the skin disappear, and all the distressing symptoms which accompany disorders of the stomach and liver, will rapidly subside.—The sudden changes of Spring often intensifies the malignity of lurking germs of disease. Fortifications, by which so much morbid matter is evaporated through the pores of the body, and thereafter the BITTERS are specially useful to the dyspeptic and bilious at this season. m31

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and are very palatable. These bitters are recommended to all persons requiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which the Iron Bitters will give.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent to the country. Inactione of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to a healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the blood of health. Alas! increase of apathetic has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and dancies the grave that would be for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspepsia Sometimes, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Specks Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society, Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Harmoniousness, no Spontaneity, but a Hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred in two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—absolutely Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"Wild woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.—Price $1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50, delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Allcock's Porous Plaster.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this celebrated plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this moment of writing a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severly injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as before."

LETTER FROM DR. FOLLER OF PEEKSKILL.

Thomas Allcock & Co. Gentlemen:—Since my severe accident I have used as an application to the bruised parts your admirable Plaster.

It has had an excellent effect, soothing while drawing out the soreness and sustaining and strengthening the part upon which it is applied.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we were a prey to the grasping fiend nearly one night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stray friend recommended the remedy, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases innumerable, but never without effect, and when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, in spite of all, will compel them, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills work admirably together as remedies for the affections of the Chest, Lungs and Throat, so common at this season. A few doses of the Pills at once alleviate the general febrile symptoms, and the Ointment faithfully rubbed over the seat of the complaint produces an immediate and powerful local effect; constricting and subduing the inflamed irritation and soon enabling the sufferer to "breathe freer and deeper." This treatment will cure a Cough that resists all other remedies. Sold by all Druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, and throws it off in an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to digest the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and in so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make good blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

Then there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted down to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless the patient wishes their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment into England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physicians having made no effort, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered $100 sterling for a worse pain, incurable and dyscentery. It is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the druggists. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE COLONIAL COMMERCE.—We have been looking over a curious old book, called the "Collector's Exports,—from the Port of Portsmouth to the Southern Ports of Europe, Africa, and the West Indies." It begins in 1770, and extends to Oct. 10, 1775,—when we suppose the Revolution cut it short.

Most of the vessels were small; more than seven-eighths under 100 tons.—Some schooners and sloops of 20 and 25 tons clear for Africa and the West Indies. The ship William, Capt. John Salter, of 80 tons, was built in 1770. A large number of ships were 100 tons each. The ship Fanny, Capt. Main, of 60 tons and 8 men, cld. for Africa Oct.8, 1773.

John Langdon owned the ship Liberty, of 200 tons, Capt. Shackford, which cld. for Montserrat in 1773; he also owned the ship Britannia of the same size. Smith and Atkinson owned the ship Lucretia of 220 tons and 10 men.—Ellis Gray of Boston owned the ship Laying of 280 tons and 14 men, the biggest vessel of the lot. Sloops and brigs made up more than one-third of the number.

The vessels bound to Africa carried cargoes of New England Rum. Those for the West Indies carried Lumber, in the shape of timber, house frames, shingles, boards and hogshead shooks; codfish, sturgeon; train oil; boats, oars; desks; horses, oxen, sheep, and hay and provender for their food; poultry; bricks; soap and candles; chairs; ship and hand pumps; beef; tallow; axes; crow bars; cart wheels; ship blocks; potatoes, apples, and a little of almost everything.

SUGGESTIVE FIGURES.—The following list of wages of Naval Officers at this Station and workmen employed at the Yard shows that retrenchment has commenced in the wrong quarter. The 20 per cent. reduction of the pay of Mechanics and Laborers will hardly make up the deficiency caused by the order of the late Secretary of the Navy, increasing the pay of Naval Officers 33 1-3 per cent. Officers furnished with quarters get but 20 per cent. additional; those who furnish their own lodgings have 33 1-3 per cent. additional. Officers on sea duty get 25 per cent. more pay and the 33 1-3 per cent. additional.

THE HIBERNIANS.—After a dearth of amusements of the kind, the Hibernians, who have been at the Boston Theatre Comique of late, are appear at the Temple this (Monday) evening, in one of their varied and amusing entertainments. They meet great encouragement elsewhere and have given good performances. This evening they offer a tempting bill-of-fare, including the Opera Bouffe, "The Bride of Killarny." The celebrated Desmond Sisters are with them.

ACCIDENT.—Workmen were engaged on Saturday removing the machinery from the Spool Factory at Raynes Ship Yard, and Mr. Samuel J. Horton, while assisting in hoisting a cast-iron balance wheel weighing nearly six tons had his right arm broken and the little finger of his right hand badley crushed, by the fall of the pulley; the finger was amputated by Dr. Folsom. Mr. Horton was also severely injured in the back and shoulder.

☞ Not right yet—the vote of the Aldermen on the Velocipede question; or rather, our statement of it, was incorrect. On the petition to allow these straddle-bugs to run on the sidewalks at night, Messrs. Pendexter, Slater, Miller, Nowell and Clark voted No,—5; Messrs. Spinney, Pender and Cotton, Yes,—3.

☞ Mr. Harry Vanderbilt, formerly of this city, has received a lucrative appointment in the Treasury Department at Washington. Mr. Vanderbilt was an efficient worker for the Republican cause in the Presidential campaign and deserves this recognition of his valuable services.

☞ President Grant nominated Messrs. John H. Bailey and Wm. R. Martin of this city for Collector and Surveyor of this port respectively, on Friday. The Senate will confirm the nominations without delay, probably.

☞ The lad 12 or 14 years old, who was drunk in the street Friday, says he took the liquor himself from the bar of the saloon where he is errand boy, without the knowledge, permission or allowance of anybody.

For the Chronicle.

A SPLENDID CLIPPER SCHOONER, built at York, by Messrs. Barrell & Stephenson, for Harding & Doane of this city, was launched in fine style on Monday noon of last week. The vessel is a superb specimen of the Yankee fishing craft, is 105 tons burthen, named "Velocipede," and intended for a mackerel catcher. She is built in a very thorough manner, the timbers and planking being oak, which grew upon Mr. Barrell's farm, and within a mile or two of the building yard.

Messrs. Harding & Doane are pushing their enterprise in a manner indicating faith in the New England fisheries; their fleet will number fifteen vessels, this season, including several new and really elegant schooners, well calculated in every respect to buffet the storms of Ocean, Bay and Banks, and to serve as an excellent nursery for the Navy, as the fishermen of our coast are confessedly the most daring and skillful sailors any country can produce.

The place of business of Messrs. H. & D. presents a scene of activity, reminding one of stories of the palmy days of old Portsmouth. Men are coming forward and securing chances to go to the Western Banks, in such numbers as to enable them to secure good and experienced crews for all their vessels, and it seems as if the Fishing business was actually reviving, and likely to assume some of its former importance here.

THE MISSING FISHERMEN.—The fleet of Gloucester fishermen that was exposed to the terrific gale on Georges Bank last month have all been heard from except three, viz.: schooners Augustus E. Price, Martha A. Porter and Abigail C. Woodbury. These vessels are now given up as lost with all their crews. The total loss of life by the several disasters on the Banks by the gale is thirty-seven, of which number fifteen were married, leaving widows and sixteen fatherless children. The aggregate loss of vessel property, including cables, anchors, &c., will reach about $70,000. The names of the crews lost have all been published,—and among them we notice that of Levi W. Cobb, of Newcastle.

☞ Dr. How, of Manchester, went to Rumney on Thursday, and tapped an ovarian tumor, which discharged 28 pounds.—Dr. H. is a native of this city, a son of Rev. Moses How. He is Prof. of Anatomy in Dartmouth College, and considered skillful in such cases as the one here referred to.

NAVAL.—Commodore Thornton A. Jenkins has resigned his office as chief of the Bureau of Navigation. He will be assigned to other duty.

Lieutenant-Commander Edward Keyser is detached from the receiving ship Vandalia, and ordered to the Seminole.

From the Journal.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY CONCERT.—The third presentation of the cantata of Esther by the Philharmonic Society should crowd the Temple to overflowing on Fast evening. Those who witnessed its former presentations will need no urging to secure a renewal of the pleasure they then experienced; and it is by request of the music-loving portion of these that the concert is to be repeated. The performers being now all perfect in their parts and having profited by whatever judicious criticism their performance may have been subjected to, we may reasonably anticipate that this last will be the best presentation of this musical composition. No lover of vocal music who has not attended the former concerts should fail to be present at this entertainment of the Philharmonic Society, which embraces most of the best vocal talent in our city, and deserves the liberal patronage of our citizens.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—Special meeting for Election of Officers, FRIDAY evening, April 9, at 7.30.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—Rehearsal at TEMPLE on WEDNESDAY Evening, April 7th, at half-past 7.

VALUABLE FARM IN PORTSMOUTH
AT AUCTION. I shall sell at Public Auction, on the premises, on SATURDAY, April 17, at 2 o'clk, P. M.,
The well-known Peverly Hill Farm!
Formerly owned by the late Hon. James Sheafe, situate on the road leading from the Plains to Lafayette Road, and about two miles from Market Square.
This Farm contains about 140 acres, well divided into Mowing, Tillage, Orchard and Pasture LAND, fenced by Stone Wall, with DWELLING HOUSE, BARN, and suitable OUTBUILDINGS. The Pasture is well Watered, and the character of the soil and its proximity to market, make it an excellent place upon which to cultivate early vegetables.
Upon the Farm is a Valuable ICE PRIVILEGE, now under lease, and which can be increased if desired. From this the best Ice in our market is secured.
The farm is divided by the road into two parts, which will be sold separately.

A Lovely Beast.

A vague idea seems to prevail with some that a good cow makes her milk in some mysterious way, drawing it from the depth of her moral consciousness, rather than from the food which she puts into her machine. Some farmers seem to act upon this theory and thus take pains not to supply their cows with plenty of good succulent food.—Verily, these Sol Silcox farmers have their reward; their cows look meanly, feel meanly, and give as little milk as possible. These men take no prizes at agricultural festivals, they envy those who do, and they are apt to be slow about paying up their grocers' bill.—There are numbers of them about the country, but we trust the last will soon die out.

A good cow deserves a better man than that. A good cow does her utmost to minister to our pleasure and profit, and deserves careful and good treatment. Remember that, after a sort, she is violating her nature to please us.—The natural or wild cow gives milk to suckle her young for a few months, and then runs dry some eight or nine months of the year; while our cow gives her milk for ten months in the year without ceasing. We deprive her of the pleasure of sucking her young, and say to her "Grind up this fodder into milk for us some three thousand quarts of milk per year. We have induced her to forego her own pleasure, to forget her child and to work for us; and for my part I hold her to be a lovely beast. He, therefore who strikes a cow, or kicks a cow, or starves a cow, deserves the stick, the kick, and starvation. When I am king, I propose to myself to keep, for such fellows' use, a breezy knoll, wind always north, thermometer at 10 degrees, a gentle sleety rain seasoned with hail, a four-rail fence, mostly tumbled down; in this delicious retreat I propose to allow the Sol Silcoxes to stand, without overcoats, with their backs up and heads down; there they can chew their cuds, and perhaps find them sweet—as the good cows do not.

What we ask the cow to do and what she does do, is to convert cheap or uninviting food into good and dear food.—That is, we put into a cow, per day, say and we ask her to produce from it ten quarts of nice milk, worth, at six and a half cents, some sixty or sixty-five cents. Now the cow does not wish to do this; she wishes to suckle her calf, to lick it and play with it, and then to wander at her own sweet will along the meadows and bushy pastures. But she foregoes her own wishes and pleases us; and more than that she does it kindly and serenely. Is she not then a most lovely beast?

Twenty pounds of hay, at one-half cent	10
Nine pounds of sprouts or meal, at two cents	18
Total	28

Is there any human beast who ever does so? None! not one!—"Milk Makers," in April Galaxy.

REV. MARSHALL B. SMITH, lately an editor of the Protestant Churchman, has sent a letter to Bishop Odenheimer, of New Jersey, withdrawing from the Episcopal Church. His reasons for following the example of Mr. Cracraft are found in his belief that the Prayer-book is not thoroughly Protestant. He says:

"I love the mode of worship of our church, and never could leave it did I see any possibility of a revision of its offices, the suppression of Romish and other corrupt practices, and a just guarantee of liberty to the Evangelical clergy; but I have ceased to hope for any such result."

He thoughtfully adds a request that the notice of his displacement may be accompanied by the statement that it was at his own request, and for reasons not affecting his moral character.

☞ A majority of the Reformed Presbyterian church in Hermon, Pa., has joined the Old School Presbyterian because of the action of the synod in the case of Geo. H. Stuart. The minority held the church-building. Having unanimously agreed to "suffer wrong" rather than to "go to law before unbelievers," although they had paid all but $100 of the expense of the old church, they resolved, though in the midst of winter, to build anew, and announced that in a fortnight they would worship in their new church. And they did it! The first day they hauled logs to the mill, the next they were sawed into boards, and by the second Sabbath they were sitting in their new church, with the seats and stoves put up, listening to a dedication sermon from Dr. Junkin, of New Castle, on the text "The people had a mind to work."

GEN. GRANT'S RULE OF APPOINTMENTS. A correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette says that when President Grant was consulted about the Kellogg proposition to parcel out the offices among the States, he denounced the idea, and declared that so far as he was concerned he would take every officer of his administration from Marblehead, in Massachusetts, if necessary to secure faithful and efficient officers. He had no patience (he said) with the notion of dividing out offices to the States, as if there were so much plunder to be distributed. The public service alone should be consulted, and not localities.

TO FARMERS.

The Lodi Manufacturing Co. invite Farmers and others using Manures, to send for a pamphlet descriptive of their Fertilizers. They offer their

equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also make superior articles of

NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime paid me full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the place into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lyme, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's N. I. Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given as good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X. L.

PERFECTED SPECTACLES

and Eye Glasses.

The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

Mr. J. F. SHORES, Jr., Bookseller,

RED JACKET AXE!

THE RED JACKET COLBURN AXE

is a splendid tool, for these reasons:

First—The Red Jacket cuts deeper than the common axe.

Second—It being round on the cut, it does not stick in the wood.

Third—Every chopper with the common axe must discover that there is as much labor and strength expended in taking the axe out of the cut as in making the blow.

Fourth—This with the Red Jacket is all avoided, and from one-third to one-half the labor is saved in cutting the same quantity.

Fifth—By putting in the same labor that is necessary with a common axe, you can easily make at least thirty-three per cent. more wood in the same time.

The great demand for this axe has compelled us to establish Eastern agencies as follows:

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR!

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

A Clerical Wood Sawyer.

Dr. Beecher depended upon constant manual labor for keeping up his own health; and in Boston, where he could not enjoy the luxury of a garden to dig in, he was often puzzled to find means to keep himself in good working order. The consequence was that he sawed all the wood for his own large family, and often finding that too little, would beg the privilege of sawing at the wood pile of a neighbor. He was fastidious in the care of his wood-saw, having it always at hand in his study, half concealed among minutes of councils, incomplete magazine articles and sermons, and the setting of his saw was often duly accomplished while he settled nice points of theology with his boys, or took counsel with brother ministers.

Looking out of his study window one day, when his own wood pile was reduced to a discouraging state of order—every stick sawed and split—he saw, with envy, the pile of old W. in the street. Forthwith he seized his saw, and soon the old sawyer of the street beheld a man without cravat and in his shirt sleeves issuing from Dr. Beecher's house, who came briskly up and asked if he wanted a hand at his pile; and forthwith went to work with a right good will and soon proved to his brother sawyer that he was no mean hand at the craft.

Nodding his head significantly at the opposite house, W. said, "You live over there?" "Work for the old man?"—"Yes." "What sort of an old fellow is he?" "Oh, pretty much like the rest of us. Good man enough to work for."—"Tough old chap, ain't he?" "Guess so, to them that try to chaw him up."

So the conversation went on, till the wood went so fast with the new comer that W. exclaimed, "first rate saw that of your'n." This touched the doctor in a tender point. He had set that saw as carefully as the articles of his creed;—every tooth was critically adjusted, and so he gave a smile of triumph. "I say," said W., "where can I get a saw like that?" "I don't know, unless you buy mine." "Will you trade? What do you ask?" "I don't know. I'll think about it. Call at the house to-morrow and I'll tell you."

The next day the old man knocked, and met the doctor at the door, fresh from the hands of his wife, with his coat brushed and cravat tied, going out to pastoral duty.

W. gave a start of surprise. "Oh," said the doctor, "you're the man that wanted to buy my saw. Well, you shall have it for nothing—only let me have some of your wood to saw when you work on my street."

W. said he felt as if he wanted to crawl into an auger hole.—Congregational Quarterly.

HOSTILITY TO THE CHINESE.—Hatred of the Chinese still continues to a great degree in California, though it was to have been expected that the lapse of time and more familiarity with them would have softened the prejudice and ill will which the laboring classes bear to the Mongolian race. This hostility was recently exhibited in two outrageous acts, the burning of the Methodist church and a distillery at San Jose.—The pastor of the church was engaged in the benevolent and Christian labor of teaching Chinamen the English language and endeavoring to instruct them in the truths of the Bible. Yet he received a letter threatening the destruction of his church if he persisted, and declaring that all who employed the Chinese should be punished in like manner. The church was burned, and following it came the burning of Gen. Naglee's distillery, involving a loss of $100,000, for the crime of hiring three or four Mongolians. Such acts are the rankest barbarism and their perpetrators should be ferreted out and punished.—Exchange.

Even so:—but the acts are of the same kind with all those that come from national prejudice and sectarian bigotry.

"SOCIAL ENJOYMENTS."—There is a sensible man loose somewhere. We do not know his name in this instance, but this is what he says:

There is rather a feeling abroad that the true social penalties are what are currently styled social joys. To be invited to a great number of drawing rooms is a worse fate than to be excluded from them. To be patronized by a great host of men and women for your merits is to have a more evil thing befall you than if you had been cut by them for your sins. A wise man might consent never to be invited out to dinner, if the alternative were the position of a frequent diner-out. It may be said, with reason, that the so-called pleasures which society places at the feet of those whom it delightedly to honor are not particularly pleasurable in themselves, but are the outward and visible signs of a high esteem and creditable repute among men.

Uncle.—"I dare say when I take you home again, Charlie, your mamma will have a nice present for you. What would you like best, my boy—a little brother or a little sister?" Charlie (after some consideration).—"Well, if it makes no difference to ma, I'd rather have a little pony."

The Robins' Flight.

From off the hills, the golden glow is falling, day by day; (wandering spray;
No more of spicy fragrance breathes from every
But silvery mists come, creeping up to spread their mantle mild, [late the glory smiled;
O'er branches bare, and garnered fields, where
And all these dear November days,
How sweet the robins sing!
I pause to catch the liquid notes,
Which thro' the stillness ring,
And pray, as o'er my gladness
There steals a throb of pain,—
"God keep the dear old Robins,
Till they come back again!"

A few brief weeks, ere Nature dons the livery of Death, [the North wind's breath;
And blushing leaves grow pale, and shrink before
The gentian, blue, beside the brook, will droop its fringes low, [drifted snow;
And sleep, with many a blighted thing, beneath the
No longer, from the sunny fields,
The bubbling notes will rise,
Or breast aflame, 'mid shading leaves,
Show where a treasure lies;
Only the snow-bird, hovering,
Will twitter at the pane,—
"God care for all the Robins,
And bring them back again!"

Then, thro' the long, long winter days, when winds are piping shrill,
And softly fall the feathered flakes, o'er meadow, mound and hill,
We'll smile to think their song is heard in many fragrant bowers, [flowers.
Far in a sunny, southern land, amid its vines and Sing on! To all who love thee there!
Make bright their homes, as ours!
But come again to gladden us,
With Spring's first balmy hours;
Then every heart that listens,
Will join the happy strain,—
"God bless the dear old Robins,
Who have come back again!"

THE MEDICINE FOR
THE WHOOPING COUGH!
DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR
gives agreeable and almost instant relief in the spasms of Whooping Cough. This is a complaint that all children are expected to have; and when it comes, strange to say, they are left to fight it through as they best can, little or nothing being done to break its intensity or help the sufferers along. And when it is reflected that very many of the diseases of older and adult years have their origin in the tear and strain of Whooping Cough, this neglect would be utterly unaccountable but for the fact that children's diseases, like many of the weaknesses of women, are considered so much a matter of course that people have become morally unconcerned about them. Let them cough it through, as we did, seems generally to be the unfeeling word. Whooping Cough is a Nervous disease, and Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator treats it with COMPLETE SUCCESS. Mothers, TRY IT, and save your little ones the worst agency of this distressing affection. A sure and beneficent medicine.

Important Certificate.
Speedy Cure of Whooping Cough.
J. W. PECKETT, Esq., Brooklyn, N. Y.
I am not in the habit of taking advertised medicines, nor of certifying to their curative effects when they come under my observation; but I feel constrained to make an exception in favor of DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR, a medicine I have used in my family for some time past. My little daughter had been suffering from severe Whooping Cough for several weeks, and was so much broken of rest at night that—by excessive coughing and loss of sleep—her constitution and general health seemed to be giving away. Various remedies or cures were recommended to me by intimate neighbors, but nothing was tried until our attention was called by a physician not now in practice to Dodd's Nervine.
This we tried and commenced using at once—with an effect immediate and surprising. As the convulsions were hardest at night, we began by giving the Nervine on her going to bed. The first dose administered made in impression; the cough became less frequent, and very much less severe—she soon got her accustomed sleep—rapidly revived in health and strength, and is now as well as ever. What was left of the Whooping Cough was thereafter of no trouble. Of course I cannot but consider Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator an invaluable remedy for this distressing malady. I may add, that I have since recommended it to several family friends, in like circumstances, and have found it in every case to be equally successful. It needs only to be known to come into universal demand. J. W. PECKETT.

—The Farmington (Me.) Chronicle says the lumbermen in the Dead River section meet with serious difficulties in getting their teams out of the woods.—One driver, after attempting for several days to reach the settlement, came to a stand-still on the border of a pond, which the condition of the ice rendered impassable, and having nothing for feed, killed his horses, fifteen in number, on the spot, rather than allow the poor creatures to die of starvation.—The team was owned in New Portland. It is said that this manner of getting rid of the horses has been resorted to in several other instances. At another point a rude sled was constructed of split pines, by which the horses were conveyed across the pond and saved.

—What is the difference between the Bishops of the Irish Established Church now and after the passing of Mr. Gladstone's Bill? Now they are lawn shams, and then they will be shorn lambs.

Sol Duston, of Concord, had a desperate fight with a male otter on the morning of the 1st. He saw the animal on the ice and fired at him. The otter was hit, but was only momentarily stunned, and when Mr. D., seized him, seized Mr. D. who was very severely bitten on his right arm and leg, but finally succeeded in killing his antagonist with a pocket knife.

On the 30th ult., the flooring in the barn of James Davis, of Concord, gave way, owing to the action of frost and water. Mr. D. found his cow nearly hung and delivered her from her situation. He found his horse, which had been fastened with a very long halter in a stall twelve feet square, standing on a space eighteen inches broad, the only sound planks left in the stall. He was backed out on this narrow space, not hurt.

The town of Thornton has paid bounty for eleven bears killed there last year.

Manchester has adopted an Ordinance closing various drinking places and restaurants on Sunday.

SEVERE DISCIPLINARIAN DISCIPLINED.—O. D. Cheney, the Principal of the public school at Bradford, charged with numerically punishing a scholar twelve years old, the son of Andrew J. Stevens, has been fined $10 and costs. The trial before Justice Dodge—Hon. M. W. Tappan counsel for the prosecution, and Hon. Levi W. Barton for defence—occupied ten days, and the excitement among the people of the place was very great, the town hall, where the proceedings were had, being crowded every day. —A Newburyport lady lately found 1500 needles in two small pincushions that had seen five years' service.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.—A remarkable scene occured on Friday, at the office of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, in New York City. Under an order of Judge Barnard, William M. Tweed, jr., the receiver appointed by the judge, appeared in the office accompanied by a sheriff and deputies, and without other opposition than a warning to leave on pain of being prosecuted civilly and criminally, proceeded to break open the safe. The operation was finished about half-past four o'clock and what books they found were taken before Mr. A. A. Redfield, who appears to have been appointed referee by Judge Barnard. The evidence of Tuttle, the assistant treasurer, of the company, was partialy taken.

The Express says that simultaneously with the legal operations against the Union Pacific Company, an attempt has been made to directly injure the credit of the company by circulating rumors that their paper or acceptances had gone to protest, which is without the slightest foundation; and by equally false statements that their bonds were down to 62 1-2. It appears that a few bonds were pressed on the market for cash and sold down to 85, but the depression was quickly checked by unlimited offers by the company at 90, they having within a few days refused an offer for one million at a lower rate. These trasactions have no effect upon the operations of the line of the road which is being carried forward rapidly to completion.

It appears that the recent proceedings of James Fisk, jr., before Judge Barnard originated as follows:—In the fall of 1867 there was an active contest, between two parties among the stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, to control an approaching election of directors. At that time Mr. Fisk tendered a subscription for one million dollars of the stock, on which he offered to pay fifty-five cents on the dollar. The treasurer of the company refused to receive this subscription unless the stock should be paid up in full according to the requirements of the charter. Various other parties tendered subscriptions amounting to $15,000,000 on the same terms, all of which were refused for the same reason. Mr. Fisk afterwards bought six shares of this stock at the par value of $6000, which is the entire amount of his interest in the company.

Amongst Atlantic Cables, steam navigation and those progressions of science and art that mark the nineteenth century, not the least useful, are Dr. Ayer's medicines. They take rank among the benefactions of mankind, from the rapidity and certainty with which they cure. Try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL on a cough and it is gone. What skin diseases or impurities of the blood withstand AYER'S SARSAPARILLA? AYER'S PILLS are the perfection of a purgative—very family should have them, as almost every family does. Not a trifle to be thankful for are good medicines and the knowledge how to use them for protection from disease. These Dr. Ayer's preparations and publications furnish, and we do not hesitate to commend them.—St. Louis Leader.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—Ten years ago I purchased a Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, and have had it in constant use in my family since. We used it during the war to make clothing for our volunteers in the service, and for the hospitals, This work was very heavy, being coarse woolen, and cotton fabrics. It is still in good working order, nothing having been broken nor needles lost. You are welcome to use my name in your recommendations.

MRS. HUGH MCCULLOCH,
Wife of Secretary U. S. Treasury.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The True Medical Doctrine.

Nature, when struggling with disease, indicates unmistakably the kind of assistance she requires. In cases of nervous weakness and general debility the feeble pulse, the lack-lustre eye, the attenuated frame, the flaccid muscles, the melancholy visage, inform us as plainly as if each organ had a tongue, that a medicated stimulant is needed. It does not require the aid of a medical education to understand this dumb appeal for new vigor, from an exhausted system. Every reader of these lines can comprehend it just as well as the graduate of a physicians' college. Let not this demand of enfeebled nature be neglected. Respond promptly to it by commencing a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a preparation uniting, in their highest excellence, the properties of a STIMULANT, AN INVIGORANT, and an ALTERATIVE.—Before three days have elapsed from the taking of the first dose, a marked beneficial change will be manifest in the bodily and mental condition of the patient. The pulse will be stronger and more regular, the eye will begin to lose its dull expression, the muscular and nervous systems to recover their very palatable. These bitters are compounded from a complete revivification of the depressed animal and mental powers is certain. In cases of dyspepsia, costiveness, biliousness, and kindred complaints which accompany disorders of the stomach and liver, will rapidly subside.—The sudden changes of Spring often intensifies these complaints by checking the perspiratory action, by which so much morbid matter is evaporated through the pores of the body, and therefore the BITTERS are especially useful to the dyspeptic and bilious at this season. m31

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and are very palatable. These bitters are recommended to all persons requiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects, which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which this Bitters will give.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of applying to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst measures. Instead of the ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give rest to healthful and rational exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the functions of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so marvellous a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excess or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Flashes, Flushing of the Face, Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Utmost Nervous Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more destructive to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is habitually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever rouse it; the voice, a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.—HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have made or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.—Price $1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Allcock's Porous Plaster.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this celebrated plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this moment of writing a man applies for one, who by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This has found relief very quickly by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever."

LETTER FROM DR. FULLER OF PEEKSKILL.

Thomas Allcock & Co. Gentlemen:—Since my severe accident, I have tested as an application to the bruised parts your admirable Plaster.

It has had an excellent effect, soothing while drawing out the soreness and sustaining and strengthening the part upon which it is applied.

Peekskill, Oct. 5, 1868. E. D. FULLER.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' 'Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the decision was made to Mexico. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally, gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons refuse to try this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills work admirably together as remedies for the affections of the Chest, Lungs and Throat, so common at this season. A few doses of the Pills at once alleviate the general febrile symptoms, and the Ointment faithfully rubbed over the seat of the complaint produces an immediate and powerful local effect; neutralizing and subduing the internal irritation and soon enabling the sufferer to "breathe freer and deeper." This treatment will cure a Cough that resists all other remedies. Sold by all Druggists.

To Remove Moth Patches, Freckles, and Tan from the face, use PERRY'S MOTH AND FRECKLES LOTION. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared only by Dr. B. C. PERRY, 49 Bond Street, New York. Sold everywhere.—The trade supplied by wholesale Druggists. m4dew3m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They can all three be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the disease (consumption) is healed in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by as many expectorations, the cough, the phlegm or matter is free, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing else can be been invented that will move (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, heats of fever, and by so doing they stop the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Gravel or Dropsy, unless the liver and stomach are operated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to digest and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow from consumption to health, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was waxed away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the several medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. also gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

1802. 1847. 1868.

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured. Her Majesty suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of the family, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cramp, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. Price, 50 cents and one dollar. Depot 10 Park Place, N.Y. m20

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—We hear that M. T. Curtis, Esq., formerly a quarterman, is appointed Master Machinist vice Jacob G. Crockett, removed.

Edmund S. Morris, Store Clerk in the Steam Engineering Department, is removed by order of the Secreiary of the Navy. He was one [of Andrew Johnson's appointees and walks the plank in consequence.

The new Secretary of the Navy has ordered Commandants of yards to see that no person hostile to the present administration is employed in the Yard Departments under their control.

☞ The Exeter News Letter don't like it pretty much, because that town can't monopolize all the offices, State and National, as well as County. It talks a good deal about the ring here, but does not directly refer to swinging round the circle—some folks having got swung off from which, causes all its complaint. It don't require a very sharp detective to see this.

The News Letter also had to stop and think who Col. J. S. Godfrey, formerly of Portsmouth, was. Well, no wonder, seeing they have to go to the Concord Patriot to learn who the Superintendent of the County Farm is to be, when the Chronicle gave it days before.

☞ The petitioners for a highway and bridge across the Railroads and the North Millpond, from Cabot to Mystic Streets, have a hearing before the Board of Aldermen, this morning at half-past ten o'clock. Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett will appear for the petitioners, and it is understood that both the Concord and the Eastern Railroads will be present by their officers or counsel.—Solicitor Goodall of course will represent the City.

☞ Operations have been commenced upon the Police station, for repairs; and also the old State St. School House, to fit it for a Ward (Two) Room—under direction of the Joint Com. on City Lands and Buildings of the City Council. Repairs and alterations such as these of course cannot so well be done by contract. Both are much needed improvements.

☞ The Operatic Cantata of Esther is especially adapted to Fast Night.—All who have not heard and seen it, should do so; and many who have already witnessed it, are among most desirous to enjoy the fine music and splendid tableaux once more.

☞ An Artist in "Paste"—John Smith the Bill Poster. Vide the Boards about town.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Biddeford Journal says:

Hon. T. L. Tullock, formerly Secretary of the National Union Committee, whose efficiency in the last campaign was universally acknowledged, has been commissioned Appointment Clerk of the Treasury Department. The indications are, by this appointment, that Republicanism is to be acknowledged in the administration of the Treasury.

As the Scripture says, the war-horse "smelleth the battle afar off," so the Democracy of the Treasury have evinced considerable uneasiness for some time past, in relation to the "coming man." When Stewart was appointed, they breathed free and felt happy; he declined, and their joy was turned to sorrow. Boutwell was appointed, and they waited, as did the Jews of old, for a sign, and the sign has been given.

☞ The Merrimack Valley Poultry Association will hold their second annual exhibition at the City Hall, Manchester, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 7th, 8th and 9th. The Secretary informs us that the two earliest broods of chickens in the State are, one in Greenland Jan. 22d, and one in this city Jan 30th.

☞ Secretary Boutwell has appointed Mr. Henry S. Vanderbilt, who was principal clerk of the Congressional Executive Committee during the campaign to a fourth class (highest class) clerkship in the Treasury Department, and he has been assigned to duty in the Appointment Bureau as assistant to Hon. T. L. Tullock.

☞ On Saturday afternoon a little son of Mr. Frank Dearborn was knocked down, and run over by a light wagon, on Mason's Hill, and his face, arm and back bruised by the wheels passing over him; but fortunately he was not seriously injured.

☞ Although Portsmouth, and indeed almost if not quite all the towns in the County, voted very strongly against the County Farm, their tax-bills must be considerably increased this year to buy and build it.

☞ We hear that the late order reducing the pay of workmen at the Navy Yard does not include the pay of writers.

☞ L. Augustus Fletcher is sometimes thinner than a shingle,—that's when he is a shaving.

☞ No bids have been received for the City's Lot of Land on Middle and Madison Streets.

SPRING.—Josh Billings has said very many better things than the following, and he has said them better, but nevertheless the following apostrophe to Spring will do:

"Spring this year is mutch as usual, hail butuous virgin, 5,000 years old and upwards, hale and harty old gal, welcum tew York State and parts adjacent. Now the birds jaw, now geese warble, now the kats sigh, and natur is frisky; the virtuous bed bug and the nobby cockroach are singing Yankee Doodle, and comin thru the rhi. Now may be seen the muskeeter, that gray outlined critter or destiny, solitary and alone, examining his last year's bill, and now may be heard, with the naked ear, the hoarse shanghigh, bawling in the barn yard."

—The snow on the white Mountains is now deeper than it has been for years. Several of the small buildings connected with the Glen House are entirely out of sight. People go out of the house from the second story. The proprietors of the house are not discouraged and they say the house will be opened as usual, even if they are obliged to use runners to convey their visitors.

— It is said that a shipwrecked Yankee was lately rescued from one of the Marquesas Islands, whose first question on being discovered was, "How did the Mexican war finally come out?" He was a soldier who left General Scott's army before the campaign closed, and furnishes a very good parallel to the Man without a Country.

—It was resolved at a late temperance meeting in Wisconsin, that "temperance is a natural virtue, and indispensable to raise men to the level of other animals."

—Paper coffins are a late and delightful invention.

STONE AND MARBLE WORK.—The work done at the marble yards in this city compares favorably with that of any other locality. Mr. Silas Philbrick at the foot of State Street, has a large establishment, and has turned out work of excellent quality which can be seen at nearly every cemetery in the county. Mr. John S. Treat has for several years occupied the Green St. yard, and is doing considerable business. In his window this week will be seen two stone dogs, which, from the naturalness of their positions, and the peculiarity of the stone, attract attention. The material is Cane Stone, which is beautifully grained and works up handsomely. They are a portion of the furnishings of the cemetery lot belonging to Capt. Heman Eldredge at Chatham, Mass. The whole work has been done by Mr. Treat in this city at a cost of $2400, including the marble monument, fencing, posts, steps, &c., in a style similar to that of Mr. Samuel S. Frye in Harmony Grove Cemetery in this city.

THE ARROW RIFLE, that Mr. Stevens advertises, is a great labor-saving lift in the exercise of the bow and arrow. What of that is lost to the chest and arms is however gained by the neither limbs on the chase which must necessarily follow the pursuit of the arrow if it flies by the mark; for it is remarkably active on the wing and apparently quite forgetful of space. Much sport for amateur sportsmen is in it.

We learn that Hector Melneth, who very nearly committed suicide about six weeks since, at the South End in this city, has been under the charge of Dr. B. Dearborn, the City Physician. The case was a severe one, the ball from the revolver passing through the lung and lodging probably in the back. We are informed, (not by the Doctor but by those living at the South End,) that through the untiring and skillful efforts of the physician the patient is rapidly recovering. We are pleased to learn of the success of Dr. Dearborn in this and other difficult cases.

VALUABLE FARM IN PORTSMOUTH

AT AUCTION. I shall sell at Public Auction, on the premises, on

SATURDAY, April 17, at 2 o'clk, P. M.,

The well-known Peverly Hill Farm!

Formerly owned by the late Hon. James Sheafe, situate on the road leading from the Plains to Lafayette Road, and about two miles from Market Square.

This Farm contains about 140 acres, well divided into Mowing, Tillage, Orchard and Pasture LAND, fenced by Stone Wall, with DWELLING HOUSE, BARN, and suitable OUTBUILDINGS. The Pasture is well Watered, and the character of the soil and its proximity to market, make it an excellent place upon which to cultivate early vegetables.

Upon the Farm is a Valuable ICE PRIVILEGE, now under lease, and which can be increased if desired. From this the best Ice in our market is secured.

The farm is divided by the road into two parts, which will be sold separately.

The beautiful situation of this place, its valuable growth of Ship Timber, in addition to Hard and Pine Wood, its facility for raising products for which there is a quick market quite near, and the easy terms of sale, render this an opportunity for a valuable outlay within reach of almost any one who desires a safe as well as profitable investment. SENATOR SPRAGUE.

It can most certainly no longer be said that the smallest of the States occupies an insignificant position in national politics. The Senate has chosen one of its Rhode Island members to the highest position within its gift, and the other has contrived to make himself the most talked-about man in the country, and at least a nine days' wonder. Unlike the nobleman who awoke one morning and found himself famous, Mr. Sprague seems to have walked into the Senate chamber one day after six years of modest obscurity, firmly resolved to make himself notorious.—Unlike the animal in sacred history which immortalized itself by speaking once wisely and opportunely, and holding its peace thereafter, Mr. Sprague has continued to air his new-found gift in season and out of season, until he bids fair to make himself a by-word.

His first amazing and amusing speech ten days ago came upon the Senate, Rhode Island and the country like a clap of thunder from a clear sky. But with rare lack of judgment the senator has cheapened his thunder until it rings upon the ear as tamely as the reverberations of the sheet-iron of the priest Calchas, and we look for the news that the unquenchable little gentleman from Rhode Island has favored the Senate with a page of Macaulay, a chapter of autobiography, a pail of woe and a dash of defience, as a regular seasoning to our breakfasts.

The ferocity of the orator has increased as the novelty of his effusions has waned. No friend or neighbor has been safe from the slash of his broad sword. His career has resembled nothing so much as that of a Malay in that singular demonstration of national frenzy which is called running amuck.—The genial and unpretending senator from Nevada ventured to analyze the torrent of accusations in a good-humored vein of raillery, only to find himself impaled with a savage epithet as "the charlatan of the Senate." Mr. Sumner looked smilingly, perhaps, on the surprising display (for he certainly said nothing), and straightway the world was scornfully informed that Mr. Sprague had once been called on to contribute money and influence to aid the Massachusetts gentleman's election. The occupants of the galleries on one day laughed at Mr. Nye's jests, and their successors a week later were accused of ignorance, of extravagance in dress, and of various other offences.

The Providence Journal endeavored to give a kind explanation of the senator's folly, and promptly Mr. Sprague turned his guns of wrath upon his colleague. Mr. Wilson undertook gently to urge that his friend's view of the depravity and corruption of the community took some dark hues from his imagination; and at once we have the scathing retort that our senator does not move in society sufficiently elevated to enable him to judge with that accuracy which Mr. Sprague claims for himself. It is necessary, we are led to infer, to have an alliance by marriage with the head of the judiciary and to count cotton mills by scores, workmen by thousands, and money by millions, to understand the profligacy and manifold wickedness of which the American people of to-day are capable.

It is almost impossible to treat these extraordinary outbreaks of Mr. Sprague's seriously. The first seemed like the escapade of an hour, the fruit of a bottle of wine too much, or a dinner badly digested. But now they have been prolonged so far that attention cannot be withheld. The problem which they present is not one of easy solution, and to the foreign student of our affairs will seem utterly inexplicable. Here is a man of mature years, high position, and some training in public life, moving as he is pleased to boast in the best society which a republic like ours produces, who suddenly and upon no special occasion shouts forth from his pedestal a lamentation more mournful than that of Jeremiah. His complaints are curiously incongruous. The country is on the verge of ruin. There are too many lawyers in the Senate. The private morals of the people are corrupt. No husband dare turn his back upon his wife. The reign of terror which exists is due to a party whose every measure for the past six years, wise and otherwise, has received the senator's vote. The manufacturers of New England will soon have to stop their spindles because they are losing money. The firm of which the senator is a member, to be sure, is coining wealth; but it is only by crushing out its competitors. Ignorance of financial affairs show itself in the Senate. Worst of all, the President proposes to protect and eventually to pay the national debt. The world is hollow; my doll is stuffed with sawdust; and if you please I will go into a convent.

If it is impossible to account for all this except upon a hypothesis which politeness to the well-meaning senator from Rhode Island forbids us to suggest, the incident may perhaps be useful to point a moral which closes so many sermons on the vanity of human wishes. If one were to search the country through for a man who should fill the common ideal of all the requisites of happiness and content, there could hardly be found a more striking illustration than a gentleman who with youth has the political honors usually reached only in age; who possesses great wealth and yet is freed from temptation to indolence by the calls of a vast business which gives a livelihood to thousands; who has the key to every circle of society; who can look back upon an honorable record in the day of national trial. The novelist could not invent a situation seemingly so blessed.

Yet no one can look into the pages of the Globe for the last few days without having it put before him that the possessor of all these things in the most wretched of men. Disappointment and discontent show themselves in every paragraph he utters. His hand is against every man. Having exausted the tamer pleasures of the world, he courts the luxury of a conspicuous martyrdom like that of Simeon Stylites. Like Samson he would pull down the edifice of his party organization upon his own head. Happily for the nation, the senator from Rhode Island, though he has Samson's blindness and wields one of Samson's most effective weapons, has not Samson's strength. The fabric will stand in spite of him; and there is yet time for such a measure of wisdom to come with age, that he may laugh with his children over the fantastic tricks of his youth in the Senate.—Advertiser.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST INJURIOUS INSECTS.—The insect enemies of the fruit crop are multiplying so fast, notwithstanding all that has been written about their habits and the best modes of destroying them, that the greatest vigilance will be necessary in order to check their ravages. The cocoons of the apple-worm moth may now be found in the crevices of the bark of those trees on which the worms have been most destructive. Scraping and washing the bark, and digging into the cocoons, are good means of checking the increase of this troublesome insect. If borers have penetrated the wood at the base of the apple or peach tree, they should be dug out and bandages of some kind placed around the collars to prevent the parent moth from depositing its egg on the bark in summer. Lime or ashes placed around the trees outside the bandage will be an additional protection.

ADMINISTERING AN ESTATE.—A Columbus (Miss.) paper relates that a pompous old negro lately rode up to the home of a citizen of that place, and asked the favor of a word at the gate, as he couldn't well leave his steed.

"Well, what is it?" quoth the man of the house.

"Mornin' sah! I come to ax if you owed anything to Moses Dunn, 'ceased. I'm de moderator of de 'state now, and wishes to settle up all his 'fairs. I can find plenty folks dat he owes, but it's hard work to find any dat owe him?"

The gentleman didn't owe anything.

—One of the class of ladies whose mouth is always open when in company, and has remarks to make upon everybody and everything she sees, attended the exhibition of the Pilgrim the other evening, and annoyed all in her presence by adjectives of praise on every painting presented, until she startled her hearers by the exclamation, "O, see them devils,—how natural they do look!"

A volume of travel, experience and observation with Vice-President Colfax, among our new States and Territories, between the Missouri River and the Pacific Ocean. Describing the magnificent scenery of this wonderful country—its Gold and Silver mines, agricultural, commercial and industrial prospects. The Pacific Railroad—its route, scenery—how it is pushed and built. The Mormons—their social life, religion and politics. Interviews between Brigham Young, Mr. Colfax and Mr. Bowles. The Mormon women—how they like Polygamy, etc., etc. The Chinese and Indians—what they do, how they live, their habits, religion and vices. In brief, this work is the freshest, most graphic portrayment of the country and people described, yet written or published.

Splendidly Illustrated

RED JACKET AXE!

THE RED JACKET COLBURN AXE

is a splendid tool, for these reasons:

First—The Red Jacket cuts deeper than the common bit.

Second—It being round on the cut, it does not stick in the wood.

Third—Every chopper with the common axe must discover that there is as much labor and strength expended in taking the axe out of the cut as in making the blow.

Fourth—This with the Red Jacket is all avoided, and from one-third to one-half the labor is saved in cutting the same quantity.

Fifth—By putting in the same labor that is necessary with a common axe, you can easily make at least thirty-three per cent. more wood in the same time.

The great demand for this axe has compelled us to establish Eastern agencies as follows:

HEATON & DENCKLA, Philadelphia, Pa.;—HART MANUFACTURING CO., New York;—WELCH & GRIFFITHS, Boston, Mass.; W. H. COLE, Baltimore, Md.

The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assurance, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST and blank club orders. Address all orders and communications to the

ON FAILURES.—Twenty years ago the severest disaster that could befall a business man, excepting, of course, serious physical injury or family bereavement, was "failure." To have it whispered on the street or published in the papers that "So and So" has failed, was an affliction for which there was no effectual consolation. In these modern days, however, failure is merely an incident of business life which agreeably relieves its monotony. Formerly, failure revolutionized a man's mode of life, transferred him from an expensive house to an humble one, dismissed his servants, sold his horses, moderated his personal expenditures for dress and recreation, and made him seem what he was—a poor man.

Now if any change at all in his outward condition is effected by failure, it is generally a change for the better; the less money he has, ordinarily, the more extravagantly he lives. There is not one of our readers, probably, who does not make or hear the remark almost daily, — "where does such-a-one get his money—he failed only a few months ago?" These social mysteries are multiplying constantly, and the number of men who live in luxury, hold high positions in society, and fairly glitter with the favors of fortune, having no visible source of revenue, is daily growing larger. By and by it will be established as a business maxim that the number of a man's failures is cumulative evidence of his sagacity and ability, and it will be said—not to have failed, argues yourself a failure.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

—One of the strongest possible arguments against the necessity of state aid in support of religion, is found in the statistics of the Scottish Free Church. Every one of its 865 congregations receives a pastor's stipend of $750 (gold) from a central fund; and those who depend wholly upon their fund for support, also have a free parsonage. Those churches which can do it add what they please to their pastor's salary, averaging half as much more. This, it is claimed, is the highest average of ministerial support ever reached in an unendowed church, and has increased by $250 during the last 20 years, while the number of congregations have increased from 729 to 865.

— The New York Central Railroad is greatly annoyed by thieves who prey on the freight cars of the line. They break open the cars while in motion on the road, and carry off all the contents that are of value. Night trains are always selected for their depredations. The robbers secrete themselves between the cars before the starting of the train, and then climb over, open the doors with false keys, and once inside carry on their operations at leisure. Boxes and bales are pried open, the lighter contents pocketed, and bulky articles of value thrown out to be gathered up afterwards. Three cars were thus plundered in one night between Syracuse and Oneida.

—The following is related by a Providence Democrat, who appreciates a good joke, even at the expense of his party: "In one of the rural towns of the State, where a revival of religion has occurred, lives a family consisting of a father and three sons, all of whom had always voted the Democratic ticket. At the recent election, however, the father with only one son appeared at polls with the well known ticket.—Inquiry was made as to the votes of the other sons, when the old man replied with a sigh, "They don't vote with us any more; they've experienced religion."

—A lady resident at Boston Highlands had two hens and a rooster. On Thursday the rooster "passed away." Friday noon the two widowed hens left home and after an absence of two hours returned with a strange rooster, and after marching around the garden till toward sunset all three took up their quarters in the hen house. The peculiarity of the affair is that the hens had never strayed from the premises before since their purchase. "That beats human nature."

—R. L. Tabor, the organist of Williams College, and for the past year editor of the College Quarterly, has perfected an invention, which, attached to a piano, is designed to print music as fast as it is played. Its style of construction confines it to the piano, but he contemplates modifying the mechanism, so that it may be applied with equal facility to the organ, and perhaps to the melodeon. The cost of the completed instrument is $150.

—The Chicago Post warns Mr. Johnson that it will not allow him living to see what that paper thinks of him dead: "Whatever else we do, we certainly shall not permit Andy to see his obituary in this paper until he has actually joined Spettigue's phalanx, and has it telegraphed him through the regular channels."

—The lady who furnished means to send a hundred homeless children from New York to the West was Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who thus celebrated the twenty-first birthday of her son.

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

Who is thy neighbor? He whom thou
Hast power to aid or bless;
Whose aching head, or burning brow
Thy soothing hand may press.

Thy neighbor is the fainting poor,
Whose eye with want is dim;
Oh, enter then his humble door
With aid and peace for him.

Thy neighbor? He who drinks the cup
When sorrow drowns the brim;
With words ever cheering hope,
Go share thou and comfort him.

Thy neighbor? Pass no mourner by;
Perhaps thou canst redeem
A breaking heart from misery;
Go share thy lot with him.

THE MEDICINE FOR
THE WHOOPING COUGH!
DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR gives agreeable and almost instant relief in the spasms of Whooping Cough. This is a complaint that all children are expected to have; and when it comes, strange to say, they are left to fight it through as they best can, little or nothing being done to break its intensity or help the sufferers along. And when it is reflected that very many of the diseases of older and adult years have their origin in the tear and strain of Whooping Cough, this neglect would be utterly unaccountable but for the fact that children's diseases, like many of the weaknesses of women, are considered so much a matter of course that people have become stolidly unconcerned about them. Let them cough it through, as we did, seems generally to be the unfeeling word. Whooping Cough is a Nervous disease, and Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator treats it with COMPLETE SUCCESS. Mothers, TRY IT, and save your little ones the worst agony of this distressing affection. A sure and beneficent medicine.
Important Certificate.
Speedy Cure of Whooping Cough.
J. W. PECKETT, Esq., Brooklyn, N. Y.
I am not in the habit of taking advertised medicines, nor of certifying to their curative effects when they come under my observation; but I feel constrained to make an exception in favor of DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR, a medicine I have used in my family for some time past. My little daughter had been suffering from severe Whooping Cough for several weeks, and was so much broken of rest at night that—by excessive coughing and loss of sleep—her constitution and general health seemed to be giving away. Various remedies or palliatives were recommended by intimate neighbors, but nothing was tried until our attention was called by a physician not now in practice to Dodd's Nervine.
This we procured and commenced using at once—with an effect immediate and surprising. As the convulsions were hardest at night, we began by giving the Nervine on her going to bed. The first dose admirably made its impression; the cough became less frequent, and very much less severe—she soon got better accustomed sleep—rapidly revived in health and vigor—and in a few days was as well as ever. What was left of the Whooping Cough was thereafter of no trouble. Of course I cannot but consider Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator an invaluable remedy for this distressing malady. I may add, that I have since recommended it to several family friends, in like circumstances, and have found it in every case to be equally successful. It needs only to be known to come into universal demand. J. W. PECKETT.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "B. B. B.—1850—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

Holloway's Pills. — TORPIDITY OF THE LIVER.—There must be a proper and regular supply of bile to temper the blood and duly evacuate the bowels, or the body cannot be healthy. Of all evacuants and antibilious medicines in existence, HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are the most effective and unfailing. Yet no gentle is its action that it does not in the slightest degree enfeeble the system.—On the contrary, by relieving it of obstructions and impurities, the Pills tend to restore its elasticity and vigor. Woman and her Needs.

Subject by the law of nature to many physical afflictions from which man is exempt, woman is peculiarly entitled to the best efforts of medical science in her behalf. For a majority of the ailments to which her sex is exclusively liable, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are warmly recommended on the authority of wives, mothers, and nurses, who have tested their genial tonic and regulating properties, and "know whereof they speak;" and also with the sanction of able physicians, who have administered the preparation to their female patients, in obstinate cases of functional derangement, with the happiest results.

Almost all female complaints of a special character are complicated with mental gloom and despondency, and the gentle and lasting exhilarating effects of this wholesome medicated stimulant adapts admirably for cases of this complex nature. As a remedy for the hysteria and mental hallucinations which sometimes mark both the earlier and the later crisis in the life of woman, it has no equal in the repertory of the healing art, and as a means of relieving the nausea and other unpleasant feelings which precede maternity, it is equally efficacious. Nursing mothers also find it an admirable invigorant. It is highly satisfactory that a preparation which embraces in its remedial range so many of the complaints common to both sexes, should prove so eminently beneficial to the weaker one. a7

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and are very palatable. Those bitters are recommended to all persons requiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects; which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which the Iron Bitters will give.

Prepared by Wm. Ellis, Chemist. For sale by WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Agents, 170 Washington Street, Boston; and by Druggists and Grocers generally. m12eod6md

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show the baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give rest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice come, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no bottle like it. It is the anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Allcock's Porous Plaster.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this celebrated plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this place of writing a man is working for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. The man found relief very soon by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever."

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night for weeks, endured the agony. All the remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally, we found relief. Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we know our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite returns, the food is digested and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient recovers as the cause is cut off. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel, a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care, that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

To this Complaint is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which the tonic is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into healthy blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they want to stop the cough, to dry up the pills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation, ready to ripen and breaking down as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton by the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to die fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1ysa4 1802. 1847. 1868.

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his medical men having given up the case, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramp, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. NORTH MILLPOND BRIDGE.—At the special meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Tuesday morning, to hear the petition for a highway and bridge across the Railroads and the Pond,—W. H. Y. Hackett appeared as as counsel for Mr. Slater and the other petitioners; and William H. Hackett for the Eastern and Concord Railroads, opposing. President Browne and Superintendent Prescott of the Eastern, and President Minot of the Concord Road, were also present.

Mr. Hackett, senior, for the petitioners, urged the building of the new road and bridge, as a public improvement, and an accommodation to the increasing residents on the North shore of the Pond, and a means of encouraging the enlargement and development of tax-paying property in that section.

Messrs. John H. Slater and B. Chevyer being sworn, gave evidence in general favoring these ideas, and as to the shortening the distances thereby.

Mr. Hackett, junior, stated briefly and with succinctness, that the opening of a highway across the numerous tracks of the Railroads at the point suggested, would be a very great and expensive disadvantage to their business, and that they would claim very heavy damages therefor—and that any amount almost would be inadequate compensation. Not to mention the imminent danger which must always exist at such a crossing, in spite of all possible safeguards and precautions; and the cost of the road, which was rather for consideration of the City Officials.

Mr. Minot, for the Concord Road, stated that such a highway over the five tracks, (and more soon to be laid down) would not only be a very great inconvenience and detriment to the Railroads, but a very expensive investment for the City, and necessarily an exceedingly dangerous place for the people crossing there.

In answer to a question, he stated that his road would not object to, but would favor and co-operate with a bridge raised sufficiently high over the tracks. But Mr. Prescott did not favor even this, so much. Both alluded to the constant breakage of long freight trains, which would be necessitated by this new crossing, as a very serious disadvantage; and on the Concord, as another full stop would no doubt be observed here for all trains, those inward-bound would find it very difficult to get way enough on again to throw trains into their depot.

After visiting and examining the premises, and quite a full hearing of the case,—without taking any vote, the subject was postponed to the next regular meeting of the Board.

THE NAVY YARD WORKMEN had a meeting on Tuesday and unanimously passed the following resolutions; Mr. Elijah Clough presided, with Mr. Edward J. Moulton as Secretary.

Resolved, That we believe Congress in passing the eight hour law intended to benefit the laboring classes of the Nation,—therefore we will use our influence to sustain the law that the benefits intended may be realized.

Resolved, That we believe that Congress recognizes the fact that all wealth is the result of labor.

Resolved, That we rely upon Congress for such just protection as the interests of labor are entitled to.

Resolved, That these Resolutions be published in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle and New Hampshire Gazette and sent to each Senator and Representative in Congress from Maine and New Hampshire.

☞ At the Special Meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Tuesday, Ald. Slater, from the Com. on Police, stated that the City Marshal desired and recommended an enlargement of the Police accommodations; and he accordingly moved that the counting-room from Messrs. After discussion, the matter was referred to the Joint Committee on City Lands and Buildings, who have charge of the repairs of the Police Station,—with power to act.

And at a meeting of said Committee on Tuesday evening, (Ald. Pendexter, the Chairman of this Committee, being a prompt-moving business man,) it was unanimously decided inexpedient to reduce the Market accommodations or enlarge the Police quarters.

The new appointee has for several years had charge of the farm of Messrs. W. P. & A. L. VALUABLE FARM IN PORTSMOUTH

AT AUCTION. I shall sell at Public Auction, on the premises, on

SATURDAY, April 17, at 2 o'clk, P. M.,

The well-known Peverly Hill Farm!

Formerly owned by the late Hon. James Sheafe, situate on the road leading from the Plains to Lafayette Road, and about two miles from Market Square.

This Farm contains about 140 acres, well divided into Mowing, Tillage, Orchard and Pasture LAND, fenced by Stone Wall, with DWELLING HOUSE, BARN, and suitable OUTBUILDINGS. The Pasture is well Watered, and the character of the soil and its proximity to market, make it an excellent place upon which to cultivate early vegetables.

Upon the Farm is a Valuable ICE PRIVILEGE, now under lease, and which can be increased if desired. From this the best Ice in our market is secured.

The farm is divided by the road into two parts, which will be sold separately.

The beautiful situation of this place, its valuable growth of Ship Timber, in addition to Hard and Pine Wood, its facility for raising products for which there is a quick market quite near, and the easy terms of sale, render this an opportunity for a valuable outlay within reach of almost any one who desires a safe as well as profitable investment. THE PIRATE'S CAVE;

OR,

THE MURDERED PET.

A Tale of Love, Crime and Vengeance.

By Sylvanus Southworth, Jr.

CHAPTER I.

A DEED OF BLOOD.

'Twas a fitting night for deeds of crime,—dark and gloomy, and oozes of mud in the streets,—when a sinister-looking villain, six and a half feet high and with four feet breadth of beam, black-browed, scowling, and with a huge carbuncled nose, went skulking down the darkest, meanest back street in New York, evidently bent on some nefarious errand that would not bear the light. Creeping along in the deepest shadows, he at length reached the entrance to a large cave, known only to himself, which he cautiously entered, and at once illuminated by striking a match and lighting a candle. It was now seen that he was a regular villain—one of the genuine article. He had a green shade over his left eye, and a bull-dog was close at his heels, snuffing at a bag which the miscreant had borne thither on his back, but had now laid on the floor of the cavern. Within this hated bag could be seen the struggling form of some living creature—oh, horror! was it, could it be an innocent child, doomed to a cruel death at the hands of this relentless monster? We shall see!

Having lighted the candle and his pipe, the villain sat down on an empty whiskey keg and smoked for some time in silence. Then he drew a butcher-knife from his boot and fiendishly felt the edge, while an infernal smile lighted up his cruel countenance. Then he put the knife away and took out a bed-cord from his pocket, kicked the bull-dog in the ribs, and pulled the bag towards the light. Untying the bag, he took from thence a noble and tremendous tom-cat, whose hands and feet were closely tied, and over whose head was drawn a stocking, which accounted for his not exercising his vocal powers. The ruffian made a running-bowline in the end of the bed-cord, and sternly put the noose over pussy's neck. Then he hauled it taut with all his might, bracing against pussy with his feet. Pussy kicked and tried to holler, but 'twas no go. He had breathed his last, and pretty soon he kicked his last, and the deed was done. Then the monster put his corpse in the bag again, tied it up, and, hanging it on a spike in one side of the cavern, gazed at it with a diabolical expression on his outrageously hideous features. At length he spoke.

"Revenge! ha, ha!" he cried; "revenge, revenge! I guess you wont cat-a-waul on the shed roof under my bed-room winder any more, confound ye! Ha, ha, ha!"

And blowing out the candle he retired, leaving pussy to his fate. How the beauteous maids whom he met on his way home, and who jested with and asked him to treat, would have shrank from him had they known all! But so it is. Vice wears a mask, and virtue suffers. Sad thought!

The ruffian reached his boarding-house and went in. He was met by a sylph of thirty-five, (my heroine) who asked, "Have you seen my cat, sir?" in tones as melodious as the cooing of a turtle-dove. Her beauty was indescribable and unimaginable, and her virtues faultless; and one would have supposed the ruffian's breast would have been rent with anguish and remorse at the sight of her distress. But no; he only grinned and answered, "I s'pose Lord Patrickus has stole him to sell for sassage-meat." Thus did this fiend endeavor to destroy an innocent man's reputation—and yet no avenging thunder hit him! Is there—oh, is there such a thing as justice? There is indeed, and justice was after this ruffian with a sharp stick, as the sequel will show.

CHAPTER II.

LORD PATRICKUS.

Lord Patrickus de la Potheen was a Neapolitan nobleman, who followed the fortunes of his sovereign, Bomba of glorious memory, until both of them were kicked out by Garibaldi, when Lord Patrickus emigrated to New York; where, notwithstanding the prejudice against his countrymen among the officials of the city, his many and noble qualities of heart and mind had at last been recognized, and he had been placed on the police force by Mayor Wood. He was Messalinandius's (that was the heroine's name—she was called "Mess" for short,) accepted lover, and was a real nice man. He parted his hair in the middle, never got drunk on anything more plebeian than "Stomach bitters," and detested niggers. He would have written newspaper articles against them, had he been able to read and write, which he wasn't; however, he was always ready to help hang them, and was a perfect gentleman in every sense of the word.

CHAPTER III.

THE RESCUE.

The ruffian was in love with the lovely Mess, but she wouldn't look at him—her heart was wholly given to Lord Patrickus. But the villain had sworn awful that she should never wed Lord Patrickus, and only waited for an opportunity to carry it into effect, and this opportunity he soon found.

It was a fearful night. There was a terrific thunder-storm, and hail, rain and snow flew about in all directions, a northeast wind blew a hurricane, earthquakes, tidal waves and appalling conflagrations stalked abroad in the darkness, and altogether it was a very tough time. Even the New York police were awed, and not one of them was in sight, although a man was being murdered just across the street,—when the ruffian met the lovely Mess, and escorted her, half drowned, to the gloomy and detested cavern where he had already destroyed her favorite tom-cat. She smoothed down her wet feathers and wrung out her bonnet and stockings, and said, "Bless you, bless you. When I met you I was in a regular fix." He laughed sardonically. "Messalinandina," said he, sternly, "the hour of my triumph has come. Here—here, and now, shalt thou swear to abjure the puppy de la Potheen, and to accept me as thy husband, else will I annihilate thee all to pieces. Do you promise?"

The maiden rose to her full height, and, gazing at the wretch with a fearlessness which only a consciousness of virtue and the possession of powerful muscles can give, answered, with withering scorn, "No-sir-ee!"

Concluded to-morrow.

We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assortion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

TIME.

In flash of stars and blaze of suns
Revolve the mighty years,
Through God's eternity rolls on
The music of the spheres.

Wave after wave, an endless sea
Breakes on the shores of time,
When night to night and day to day
Lift up their voice sublime.

O golden hours and radiant days!
Oh solemn months and years!
Oh holy life, thus measured out
By motions of the spheres!

For what magnificence, my soul,
In that design must be,
Which makes the starry universe
A horologue for thee!

Girt on thy strength! awake to see
The immortal life begun;
And reverently use thy years
Thus told by stars and sun!

ROADS.—Look to the condition of the highways, and see that all labor needed upon them is done in the month of April. Most of the highway surveyors are farmers. They do not disturb the soil of their fields while in a wet and heavy state, because they know it will have a strong tendency to make it compact, and greatly increase the labor of cultivating it through the summer.—For this reason, therefore, April is the time to repair the highways. A dollar judiciously expended upon a road now, will be worth as much as two dollars will if expended upon it in June, or at any time when the soil is in a dry and mealy condition. Besides this, the opportunity in early April is more favorable for the farmer than in May or June. His business is not so pressing, his teams are stronger and can be better spared from the farm.

When the work is done in April, the earth is not only moist on the surface, but the moisture extends through it all for several feet downward, so that it has a strong tendency in itself to pack, and when driven over by animals and teams, soon becomes so firm as to make it hard and even through all the coming summer. If left to the last of May or into June, gravel or sand hauled upon the road is displaced by every passing team, and thus becomes a perpetual nuisance and an unnecessary source of cost.—N. E. Farmer.

☞ A writer in the St. Louis Republican has introduced the following style of biography:—

"Robert Dexter—King of the New York Ledger and editor of the Turf. He has a circulation of 2:15, and can trot his mile inside of half a million of subscribers, on a ten cylinder track. All the best writers in the country trot for his paper. He learned the art of printing when he was a colt, and by dint of perseverance, linked with a native business tact, and a thorough knowledge of the value of advertising, under the saddle and to harness, he has in his maturity become a millionaire. He is a perfect gentleman, seventeen and one-half hands high, of a rich, glossy color and faultless symmetry. He may be seen almost any day when the weather is fine, trotting around the Ledger office, or writing editorials in the Central Park."

—At Sunday school, the lesson was in the third chapter of John, in which occurs this verse: "And as Moses lifted up the Serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up." Without thinking of the many answers a child might give to the question, the teacher asked, "How was the Serpent lifted up?" One little bright-eyed boy spoke up very promptly, "By the tail, sir." He was taken under special instructions.

—The statement that "the only member of the human race who has attained to universal fame was a Chinese," is somewhat startling, but it is true. The philosophers and heroes of the West are not generally known to the people of Eastern Asia, but the name of Confucius is familiar as a household word of both hemispheres.

—London Fun reports that the Peace Society is considering the feasibility of reducing the height of the Alps below the line of perpetual snow. Their reason for wishing to do this is, that at present these mountains endanger the peace of Europe, as they give rise to piques, and produce coolness between France and Switzerland and Italy.

—Western editors get on very "hefty" musical criticisms occasionally, as witness the following on Parepa-Rosa: "We cannot imagine, with her great fleshiness and awkward figure, how Parepa Rosa could be successful as an actress in opera; but in a concert she is a wash-tub full of melody."

—An old farmer in Ohio, having read that the State Penitentiary cleared seven thousand dollars during the last year by the labor of the convicts, sat some time in deep thought, and then exclaimed: "I think we'd better turn our Legislater into a penitentiary by jingo."

—A woman over one hundred years old was recently converted at a revival meeting in Iowa.

—A man (evidently henpecked) says that if in our school-days the "rule of three" is proverbially trying how much harder in after life do we feel the rule of one?"

—"My dear," asked John, on observing new striped hose on our only heir, "why have you made barber's poles of Ernie's legs?" "Because he is a little shaver."

—An editor out west, who has served four days as juryman, says: "I am so full of law that it is with great difficulty I refrain from cheating somebody."

—A Shanghai rooster killed a small child in Kentucky the other day.

—A man in Pittsburgh has a beard eight feet long.

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES,
Office No. 92 Broadway, New York,

All surplus premiums of profits returned to the Policy-holders, instead of being partially or wholly appropriated to the use of the Stockholders, as is the usage with all "Mixed" and "Proprietary" Companies.
Dividends made annually, from the start, and not postponed until the third, fourth or fifth year, as in most other companies.
Profits apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division; and not by the mode adopted by many companies, which is grossly UNJUST to a large proportion of the Policy-holders.

(None of this is in the Note-of-hand of Policy-holders, as in many other Companies.)
Its Annual Income, - - $5,000,000.

The Cash Income is constantly increasing with tremendous rapidity, and, as a necessary consequence, swelling the enormous cash accumulation which forms the security to Policy-holders.

No Promissory-Notes to be deducted from the face of the Policy when it matures, as in all Note-Companies.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had almost lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY, St. Paul, Minn.

The News.

King Ferdinand of Portugal declines the Spanish crown.

Protestant books are introduced into Spain by permission of the Government.

Brazil and Paraguay are discussing provisions of peace.

Keokuk, Iowa, is Republican.

Lake Erie is reported to be clear of ice.

Spangler and Arnold, the two pardoned conspirators in the Lincoln assassination, arrived at Baltimore on Tuesday.

The recent frosts in Alabama and Georgia have seriously affected the crops. Planters complain of the scarcity of labor, and incessant rains have greatly retarded farming operations.

The House naval committee have agreed to bring in a bill for the relief of the navy yard men who are complaining about Secretary Borie's order reducing their pay. The committee propose that Congress shall declare that its purpose in passing an eight-hour law was not to reduce the pay of government workmen, but only to reduce the hours of labor. They also agreed to report a joint resolution legalizing until next spring the order of Secretary Welles regarding assimilated rank, which Secretary Borie has recently revoked, and about which there is so much feeling among naval officers.

Dispatches from Rear Admiral Hoff, dated Havana, March 31st, have been received by the Navy Department. In pursuance of instructions he was about taking steps to investigate the case of the American brig Mary Lowell, seized in British waters, when he understood from the English Consul General that the matter was in the hands of the British authorities. The English Consul General had received, in reply to his demand for the return of the vessel, a note stating that the case was now in the Spanish admiralty courts, and as soon as a decision was known he would be informed.

Hon. Seth Padelford, Republican, was elected Governor of Rhode Island on Wednesday, by about 3000 majority.

Sir Edward Cunard, American manager of the Cunard line of steamers, died suddenly in New York on Tuesday.

Cincinnati and St. Louis elected Republican city officers on Tuesday.

A horse which recently ran away in North Reading, Mass., was found five days afterwards in a piece of woods, standing erect but dead, having been fastened there by the fore wheels of the wagon wedged between some trees.

A fact that hints explanation of probably many mysterious fires, was discovered recently in repairing a room in a Greenfield, Mass., block. In tearing off the plastering it was found that the heat from a gas burner, 28 inches below the plastering, had burned a hole through the lathing, and that the fire had then gone out for want of air.

Congress.

In the Senate on Tuesday Mr. Cragin of N. H., from a special committee, made a report in regard to the mode of appointment and rates of compensation of the employees of the Senate, recommending retrenchment, chiefly by the non-employment of extra officers and assistants, and suggesting that the Senators should aid in the work by refraining from urging the Sergeant-at-Arms to employ their friends when he has no need for their services. The report shows that the official expenses of senators per capita are about three times as much as the expenses of the members of the House.

The House passed the Census bill. It provides that the new census be taken June 1st, 1860.

☞ The President of the Coal Dealers' Association in Boston, gives notice, that in consequence of a combination existing among thirty thousand miners, embracing the whole Coal region, to regulate the price of labor, and a similar combination of vessel owners and masters in reference to the freighting of Coal,—the Coal Dealers of Boston and vicinity, feel that to pursue the course of the past for future delivery would be disastrous to the trade, and a principle not recognized in any other branch of business; therefore, it is hereby agreed, that on and after 1st May next, all sales of Coal shall be for cash and immediate delivery.

☞ The First Presbyterian Church in Newburyport, it is said has never,—in more than a hundred years existence,—failed to keep the annual Fast, by holding meetings morning and afternoon.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

AMESBURY., MASS., April 5.

In post office parlance, Amesbury means the large and thriving village formed by portions of the towns of Amesbury and Salisbury, and, in this vicinity, known as "the Mills;" from the fact that here are located the extensive woolen mills of the Salisbury Mills Company. There are four other post offices in the two towns, one each at West and South Amesbury, and at Salisbury point and East Salisbury.

Amesbury has a wide reputation for the quality and quantity of woolen goods annually produced, and, within a few years, for the large number of light carriages and sleighs built. The Salisbury Mills, Co., have a capital of $1,000,000, eight factories running 75 sets of cards, and employs 1300 operatives. This business, out of working hours, gives the village an appearance of activity that favorably impresses visitors. The power for the mills is obtained from the Powow river, on both sides of which they are located. The Powow has its main sources in the ponds in Kingston, and by raising the drains at and near its head waters, a reserve of water is secured which enables the factories to run by water nearly the entire year. Those of your readers who are familiar with the Rockingham docket of the S. J. Court, will remember the apparently interminable "flowage case," which was inaugurated in 1849, and which grew out of this damming process.—This company produces more woolen goods than any other exclusive woolen manufactory in the New England States.

Mr. D. F. Steere, the talented agent, entered at the "hawse holes," and his complete practical knowledge of every part of the business has contributed largely to the company's success.

The carriage business, which prior to 1857 was a mere nothing, now furnishes lucrative employment to 400 or 500 persons. There are 18 or 19 establishments, and several more will soon go into operation; upwards of 4000 carriages and sleighs will probably be built during the current year. These carriages find a ready market in all parts of the—world, I had nearly said. They go to nearly all parts of the United States, and a large lot is now being built to go to South America. The carriages built here are of various qualities, "from grave to gay, from lively to severe." A large position of them are of good quality, and do good service.

In addition to these important branches of industry, there are several hat factories, a large carriage wheel and wood-work establishment, a tannery or two, and the usual concomitants of a flourishing country village.

A spirited Universalist Conference was held here last week. The Universalists have no church here, but hold meetings fortnightly in Washington Hall. There is a strong probability they will soon commence the erection of a church edifice.

The Station buildings of the Salisbury Branch Railroad have long been an eyesore, and everybody is highly delighted at the prospect of the speedy erection of new ones. Only the difficulty of securing a suitable site has delayed this very desirable measure so long. A large bank is being removed and a hollow filled up for the site of the new buildings, which will be nearly on the proposed route of the Exeter Railway. It is thought operations will be commenced the present season. H.

CONNECTICUT ELECTION.—Complete returns give Jewell 45,498, English 44,687,—Jewell's majority 811.

Mr. Strong, republican, is elected over Dixon, democrat, in the first congressional district by 764 majority. Mr. Kellogg, republican, beats Babcock, democrat, in the second district by 323 majority. Mr. Starkweather, republican, is elected in the third district by 2254 majority. Mr. Barnum, democrat, is elected in the fourth district over Mr. Beardsley, republican, by about 700 majority. The returns show a gain of two Congressmen by the republicans. In New Haven Mr. Gallagher, the regular democratic candidate for mayor, is defeated by Mr. Fitch, the citizens' candidate, by 85 majority.

The Legislature stands as follows: Senate—republicans 14, democrats 7; House—republicans 132, democrats 106.

New Hampshire Items.

In Manchester at a late meeting about the City Mission, it was estimated that the 170 liquor shops and stores averaged each $10 sales per day, for liquors, making $1700 per day, or $620,000 per year—the most fruitful source of poverty, crime, and misery in the city.

John Wilson of Franconia, caught three live deer, on the 29th ult., with the aid of muzzled dogs. The depth of the snow rendered the chase extremely easy, the animals soon becoming fatigued, rendering them helpless.

New Publications.

The American Odd Fellow for April has an attractive table of contents.—Published by John W. Orr, New York. $200 per year.

NAVAL.—It is said that the North and South Pacific squadrons are to be consolidated under one rear admiral.

—By a new law of Arkansas, the county in which a murder is committed is liable to be tried and fined one thousand dollars for committing the crime.

—Another white camel has been born in this country, the second, at Dayton, Ohio.

—Florida is shipping large quantities of green peas North.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" article known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

Woman and her Needs.

Subject by the law of nature to many physical afflictions from which man is exempt, woman is peculiarly entitled to the best efforts of medical science in her behalf. For a majority of the ailments to which her sex is exclusively liable, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are warmly recommended on the authority of wives, mothers, and nurses, who have tested their genial tonic and regulating properties, and "know whereof they speak;" and also with the sanction of able physicians, who have administered the preparation to their female patients, in obstinate cases of functional derangement, with the happiest results.

Almost all female complaints of a special character are complicated with mental gloom and despondency, and the gentle and lasting exhilarating effects of this wholesome medicated stimulant adapts admirably for cases of this complex nature. As a remedy for the hysteria and mental hallucinations which sometimes mark both the earlier and the later crisis in the life of woman, it has no equal, in the repertory of the healing art, and as a means of relieving the nausea and other unpleasant feelings which precede maternity, it is equally efficacious. Nursing mothers also find it an admirable invigorant. It is highly satisfactory that a preparation which embraces in its remedial range so many of the complaints common to both sexes, should prove so eminently beneficial to the weaker one. a7

Manhood.

IF the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the disease is ushered in by with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. A loss of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart is filled in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite and Dyspepsia Sometimes Hot Flashes, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyes, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more destructive to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Memory, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred in two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequence. HELMBOLD'S BUCHU CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Allcock's Porous Plaster.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this Allcock's Porous Plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this moment of writing a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had his back large broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever."

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of rheumatism prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease. Night after night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a friend brought us a bottle of the "Pain Killer," bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, loosens throws it off in the form of expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the obstructions and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, heetic fever, and to stop diarrhea; they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cankers, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since then hundreds of many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. His given advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

1862. 1847. 1868.

In the 1862 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it into the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. Price, 50 cents and one dollar. Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. m20

☞ Estimates for a Bridge across the North Pond are, $1300 for a Foot Bridge 12 feet wide, and $2800 for a Carriage Bridge 25 feet wide. The building of the highway would of course be an additional expense.

Mr. Prescott, for the Eastern Road, stated at the hearing on the Highway question, that that corporation has neither sufficient room for locomotives in their Engine-house here, nor track room enough for freight. They have purchased a lot near the Creek, and contemplate erecting more spacious buildings—being at present obliged to house some of their engines upon the premises of the Concord Railroad, Mr. Prescott said that two or three men would be necessary to tend the gates and flags at this new point—at an expense of $1000 to $1500 per year. And the great danger, from the backing of freight trains, could hardly be obviated.

Mr. Minot, for the Concord Road, stated that the Ice-house on their premises, opposite Dover Street, is to be removed, and another track laid to accommodate their increasing freighting business. The enlargement of Pray's Wharf, for the same purpose, is also to be commenced immediately.

So far as we hear, the general opinion of our live citizens seems to be, that a new road and bridge which would cross the railroads high and clear above the tracks, would be a great public improvement—but not so a new crossing on a level with the net-work of rails at Cabot Street.

☞ The Concert at the Temple to-night will in all probability be the last appearance of Esther, the Beautiful Queen in this city. And while very many who have already attended one or two representations of this splendid Cantata, are among those most eager to enjoy it once more it would seem that this is too grand an entertainment in itself, and altogether too marked and important an event in our home musical experience, for any appreciative townsman to fail to witness it at all. Probably no such difficult and complete impersonation was ever attempted here before, by home talent, as the parts of Esther and several others; and the whole exhibition has only been made by great labor and expense by the Philharmonic Society generally. Most Concerts now-a-days put the price of admission at 50 cents, but as these entertainments are not for money-making, the price is kept low,—and those who wish select seats, can go early.

Communication.

OUR SCHOOLS.— Messrs. Editors:—Some days ago you published a very instructive table of the attendance at our Schools, for 4 years past, with the remark, that no part of the discrepancy or falling off could be attributed to the opening of the Catholic School, because that was opened in June 1868, and every one of the Irish children then removed was counted in our town Schools. This is strictly true, as it regards the whole number for the last year, viz: 2137. But the removal of the 300 Irish children at that time, has diminished the average attendance, which you perceive was only 1274. There is no probability that most of those removed will be returned, though a few may be; and thus our Schools have been reduced in the number of scholars by removal, from the city, and by the opening of the Catholic School. THE RIVER OPEN.—We are glad to learn that the ice, which has imposed an embargo on our up-river friends during the Winter months, has gone out of the river, and navigation again is resumed with places above us. SELLING THE OLD FERRY WAY FOR ONE DOLLAR! Is that the price? Yes, that is all the Money Price; but then, there is, in the Deed, a valuable Condition, which is at least as good as the Ferry Way, and we think a vast deal better, viz: that the Concord Railroad shall provide and maintain a free public landing, with floating stage and steps, and a free passage across their wharf. The Railroad and the Public are both benefitted by the change.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—Special meeting for Election of Officers, FRIDAY evening, April 9, at 7.30.

THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION are to hold their first Election of Officers which has been had for four years, we think,—on Friday evening.—The present Board have held over three times, if we recollect aright, and have done their best under the circumstances,—but with the recent revival and enlarged membership of the Society, the old M. L. A. ought certainly to regain its old importance and regard in the community. We hope none of those who took hold of the plough just now, will turn back.

SENATOR SPRAGUE.—What can the matter be with Senator Sprague of Rhode Island, that makes him pitch into Congress, and into the Republican party, and into almost everybody and every thing, except himself!

If he were not a very honorable man, and if he were in the habit of drinking strong drinks, (says Uncle Toby,) it might be supposed he had taken a cup too much. And if he were not a very rich man, and generally considered sane and shrewd, we should suppose him to be some poor crack brained fanatic, on a strike, who imagined all the world was conspiring to oppress him.

But these suppositions are not to be entertained.—Yet he sends the following strange note to the Providence Journal, of which Senator Anthony (Pres. pro tem, of the U. S. Senate) is the well known and distinguished editor.

Editor Journal, Providence, R. I.:—Sir—I am in receipt of a slip from your paper of the 25th, referring to me. The most outrageous insinuation that you set forth will be answerd by me in my place in the Senate. As you reflect the sentiments, and are tied in servitude to the overshadowing power that attempts to control both the politics and the public sentiments of Rhode Island, I shall give its influence the setting forth it is entitled to. As I strike directly at the power of which you are the lickspittle, you and those who control you, will find I am indeed, terribly in earnest. Take, therefore, as you now have, the position in public that I have long known was your private sentiment. Your present is a far more honorable, if honor belongs to your nature, than your past dastardly and cowardly one has been. Show this to Ives & Co.

I am, &c., W. SPRAGUE

This sounds like a man "clean daft," (as the Scots say,) and suggests a strait jacket, cold water, and other cooling appliances.

BUSINESS.—The Brookside Mills at Westford consume annually one hundred thousand pounds of wool in the manufacture of worsted yarn.

A large meeting of merchants and business men generally was held in St. Louis on Monday evening last, to form a joint stock company with a capital of $100,000, with the privilege of increasing it to one million, for the purpose of buying the surplus wheat which comes to that market, and ship it to New York or European ports by way of New Orleans. It is also the design of this company to induce shipments of grain to St. Louis, so that purchasers can obtain any amount they desire and at all times. Speeches were made showing that the route to New York and Boston, by way of New Orleans was the best and cheapest avenue through which the grain of the northwest and the products of the Mississippi valley can reach the sea.

Three miles around Woonsocket R. I. embracing the towns of Cumberland, Smithfield, Blackstone and Bellingham, contains 20,000 inhabitants, 17 cotton mills which employ 3500 hands, running 207,000 spindles and 4030 looms, which annually use 10,000,000 pounds of cotton and make 40,000,000 yards of cloth; eight woolen mills which have 2050 hands, and run 114 sets of cards and 480 looms, using 5,300,000 pounds of wool to make 2,900,000 yards of cassimere a year: besides a great variety of other industries. Foundations are already laid for cotton mills to run 150,000 more spindles, and there is still unoccupied water power for 75,000.

The farm is divided by the road into two parts, which will be sold separately.

The beautiful situation of this place, its valuable growth of Ship Timber, in addition to Hard and Fine Wood, its facility for raising products for which there is a quick market quite near, and the easy terms of sale, render this an opportunity for a valuable outlay within reach of almost any one who desires a safe as well as profitable investment. THE PIRATE'S CAVE;

OR

THE MURDERED PET.

A Tale of Love, Crime and Vengeance.

By Sylvanus Southworth, Jr.

Concluded.

CONTINUED.

"Then die!" yelled the desperado, flourishing his murderous butcher-knife over his head. But now, when it seemed as though nothing could save his innocent and shrinking victim, a former crime was overruled to his utter confusion and demolition. As he swung the knife around his head, its keen edge struck the bag he had hung on the spike six weeks before, cutting a large hole and letting the cat out of the bag. As the appalling evidence of his brutal villainy rolled out on the floor, the astounded miscreant dropped the murderous knife from his nerveless grasp, and seized his nose with both hands, faintly gasping, "Whe-e-ew—cracky! My eye, —what a ho-go!" ending with a fearful groan of anguish, rage and despair.

His case was hopeless now,—the fair Mess had seen the fatal proof of his crime, and the villain, hardened and reckless though he was, trembled as he contemplated the disastrous result it must have upon his future fortunes in life. Now his past offences, cunningly as he had thought them hidden, were exposed, and came down upon him all in a lump. Bitterly he remembered the love of Mess for de Potheen, and that her affection for him would be redoubled, now that the dark stain on his character, fixed there by his machinations, was removed. He wished he was well out of the scrape,—but he wasn't. He had lost his knife, and Mess was between him and the only exit from the cavern.

For an instant—and an instant only —the fair maiden stood speechless with astonishment and grief; and then, strong with innocence and indignation, she went for the assassin, twisted her left hand in his flowing locks, and hit out with the right in a style that would have done honor to any Member of Congress ever sent from New York city. At that critical moment Lord Patrickus de la Potheen (who had been looking out for a nice place to go to sleep in, out of the storm and the Inspector's way,—and had seen the light shining from the cavern's mouth,) rushed in. Terror-stricken at the fearful scene going on before him, he roared "Och! mercy!" which the cowed ruffian understood to be "I'll murder ye." Utterly demoralized by the unpleasant turn affairs had taken, he made one desperate effort and tore himself from the grasp of the lovely Mess, leaving in her left hand a quantity of hair sufficient for a chignon, and plunged into the outer darkness, bareheaded and half-scalped.

Mess staggered back about twenty feet and fell, in her fall sitting down with some force on a large earthen jar, holding about three pecks, and smashing it all to peices. This jar, which had never been discovered by the ruffian, was packed full of Spanish doubloons. Our lovers, finding the initials C. R. (Capt. Kidd, of course,) on the broken pieces confiscated the contents at once.

CHAPTER IV.

CONCLUSION.

Messalinsandrina and her betrothed went home the next day, carrying their wealth with them, and a few days later, —My Lord having resigned his official position,—the beautiful and virtuous maiden became the blushing bride of Lord Patrickus de la Potheen. They went to Albany for a bridal tour, and entered into business at once on their return,—he as a waiter in a lager-beer saloon, and she as assistant-keeper of a coffee-stand in Fulton market. They are now among New York's most honored citizens.

The baffled and defeated ruffian sank lower and lower, after being so rudely convinced that his love for the charming Mess was hopeless. He was twice sent to Sing Sing and once to Congress from New York City; later, he was heard of as one of the contractors for furnishing a late exalted personage with free whiskey, said official having earned his gratitude by pardoning him out of the prison where he was confined for having unduly inflated the currency, —and he finished his career on a lamppost in Indiana.

Having now finished this plain, unvarnished narrative of events in real life, the author closes with the sincere hope that the reader may thereby be induced to go and do likewise.

—A minister, "not a thousand miles from" Lewiston Me., pulled out his handkerchief in the pulpit lately and scattered in all directions paper dolls and dresses which his little daughter had deposited in his pocket as a safe. There was quite a sensation in that church.

—An exchange remarks that "a number of Congregational churches in New England have lately been enlarged by adding wings, cruciform, making a very cosy and home-looking auditorium, and a pleasing relief from the stiffness of the parallelogram."

—A New York cat wipes his paws before entering his mistress' bed-room, and if he cannot sufficiently clean them by this process, dries them by the stove before he will go where they might soil anything.

—The cure for the Grecian bend has been discovered by a farmer in Monroe county, New York, who had a daughter afflicted by this terrible malady. He dipped her in cold water, and laid her in the sun till she straightened into place.

APRIL WORK.—There is a time for all things; so in April there is a best time to do certain things which are peculiarly ours, as farmers, to do. One is to complete a plan—if not already done—for all the operations of our spring and summer work, so that there shall be no doubting or halting as to what lands are to be ploughed, what crops to be put in, what buildings or fences erected or repaired, and what help shall be depended upon to perform the work.

Some may say that "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." But labor is not an evil; it is a blessing, and that blessing may be greatly multiplied to each one of us by finding it in a well-regulated business,—in a complete system in all our labors. Then each duty may be performed in its own appropriate time, and its work done and out of the way of other work that will naturally succeed it.—N. E. Farmer.

—"How do you like me now?" asked a belle of her spouse, as she sailed into the room with a sweeping train of muslin following her. "Well," said he, "to tell the truth, it is impossible for me to like you any longer."

—A United Presbyterian minister in the Le Claire Presbytery has resigned his charge because of "the failure of his oft-repeated efforts to remedy the dancing propensities of some of his people."

—Never speak disrespectfully of peanuts. They are the main agricultural dependence of North Carolina.

—The Oregon volcanoes are smoking and the people fear that earthquakes will soon shake them.

EXCURSION CERTIFICATES!

TO THE SOUTH.

At a Convention of Southern Railways, held at Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 4, 1869, it was resolved to issue Certificates at two (2) cents per mile over the Roads agreeing to the same—to parties desiring to visit the South for the purpose of investigation and investment in Lands or other interests in that section. A large number of the Southern Hotels have also agreed to reduce their rates to one-third their usual price to parties holding these Certificates. The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we affirm at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, costs 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, clubs and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $20 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

A SAD ROMANCE.—In a recent number of the Wide World, appears an article by Mr. James H. Head, entitled "My Fire and I,"—which consists of musings, and recollections of the departed. We make from it the following extract, which will be truthfully applied by many residents of Portsmouth, to the late Mrs. Daniels and family.

I will leave the old secretary, and turn my thoughts to the old andirons.—In them there is a history. They have a place in the great life-record of one of the good old families of the olden time. The old lady's name, and date of gift, I have had engraved in large letters on the front, for fear that during my absence from home they might be deemed worthless, and get consigned to the cellar of some junk store. Replenishing my fire with a tough pine knot, and resting my feet on the balls of the time-honored fire dogs, I reposed myself into a quiet frame of musing, and allowed the memories that clustered around the ancient relics to come and keep me company. It was far away in the dim and distant time of babyhood, that I first remember the pleasant smile of old Dona, for such we called her. Life's sweet morning had yielded its years, and she had then reached noon's broad, fervid, earnest time of life. But those years had not passed without leaving this deep track of sorrow on her heart, which time would never remove. But her cup was not yet full. There were sterner trials and more anguish in store for her, and when the heart to ashes had been turned, and no spring left in the bosom for the spirit lips, then was her cup too full. She is aged and infirm now, and alone by the river-side she waits for the flood of heavenly waters that shall bear her to those yearning hearts that have crossed through the pale mist of the morning to the unseen shore of time.

When the suns of life's noon shed their most cheering rays on her pathway, and heaven seemed to smile o'er her little household, and loves and schemes, and visions of a fair and happy life seemed in store for her, the angel of sorrow came; and sitting at her feet, laid down the first cross for her to take up and bear. Her loved husband was swept from his vessel's deck down below the deep blue sea. No last word said, no farewells, no parting. The world seemed a blank. The fingers of her hands grew thinner; her face shows lines of sorrow; but the heart is fond and steady. It bears an immortal hope of a meeting in heaven.

Years roll by, and the children of her adoption grow to manhood, and are her help and staff in life's declining years. But the sea, the cruel sea, not satisfied with one sacrifice, asks for more.

It was on a far-off coast, where spicy breezes perfume the air and summer time reigns eternal. One sad, sad day the huge waves crushed down husband and wife, locked in each other's arms. There, down under the waters, where the glistening shells and red coral gleam, they are sleeping. "Waiting for the dip of the golden oars, and the gleam of the snowy sail that shall one day bear them to the better shore of the spirit land," where parting never comes.

One more drop and her cup was full. A grandchild budded into beauty, and cheered the grief-stricken mourner along life's rugged path. Poor orphan child! little did she know that life was to be to her as unstable and short as the flowers that blossomed in her pathway. But God's will is omnipotent. At the altar "she stood like one just wandered from Heaven," and to him she loved and trusted as her protector she gave her hand; and then left her native home to cast her fortunes with her husband on the broad ocean, which to her had brought so much woe. Gallantly the noble ship sped along her watery way, with swelling sails and streamers flirting in the ruffling breeze. All hearts are joyous, and full of hope and trust for a prosperous voyage and a safe return.

Days, months and years pass by, but no tidings come of the ship and her ill-fated crew. Stranded on some rock-bound coast, or engulphed beneath the ocean's treacherous waves, without a chance to raise a prayer to God for succor; or, 'mid icy chains in a northern sea, with death's dew hanging on each brow, they perchance may be bound; or, perhaps they may be floating in their charnel house, a spectre bark, dumb wanderers on some shoreless sea, driven up and down by its over flowing tide, wafted here and there by the breezes that, sighing through the shrouds, make solemn requiems for the silent dead.

Poor Dona! quietly, all alone, she sits in her old house by the river.* The last rainbow of hope dissolved and mingled with the past. The sound of rippling waters, which I often hear from my window, is music to me, but not to her; for every sound from the rushing tide are muffled voices from the ocean's depths; and they bring to her mind visions of long ago. Sad and lonely in her pensive dream she waits for the future in which is wrapped up her bliss and peace—when she will join the dear ones of her heart in the regions of bliss.

CLARET.—No variety of wine is more dangerous to use than what is called claret. It is usually a vile mixture. Thousands of gallons are made by allowing water to soak through shavings, and adding thereto a certain proportion of logwood and tartaric acid, and a little alcohol. Good judges can hardly discriminate between this factitious mixture and the genuine article.—Boston Jour. of Chemistry.

THE EQUITABLE
LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES,
Office No. 92 Broadway, New York,
The most successful Life Insurance Company in the World.
All surplus premiums of profits returned to the Policy-holders, instead of being partially or wholly appropriated to the use of the Stockholders, as is the usage with all "Mixed" and "Proprietary" Companies.
Dividends made annually, from the start, and not postponed until the third, fourth or fifth year, as in most other companies.
Profits apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division; and not by the mode adopted by many companies, which is grossly unjust to a large proportion of the Policy-holders.
Assets in Cash, - - - - $8,000,000.
(None of this is in the Note-of-hand of Policy-holders, as in many other Companies.)
Its Annual Income, - - $5,000,000.
(No portion of this is composed of Promissory-Notes, as in all Note-Companies.)
The Cash Income is constantly increasing with tremendous rapidity, and, as a necessary consequence, swelling the enormous cash accumulation which forms the security to Policy-holders.
All Premiums and All Losses Paid in Cash.
No Promissory-Notes to be deducted from the face of the Policy when it matures, as in all Note-Companies.
Next Dividend, February 1, 1869.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope; I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive the joy my loss has experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

Congress.

Both Houses passed the Indian appropriation bill as reported from the Conference Committee. It places $2,000,000 at the disposal of the President with an additional proviso authorizing the President to appoint a commission of ten persons to execute joint control with the Secretary of the Interior over disbursements for the Indians.

Senator Sprague made another unhappy speech on Thursday, and Senator Anthony replied, ridiculing the style and manner of his colleague's recent speeches, and said that notwithstanding the dreadful condition of our national affairs, with Mr. Sprague as a leader in finance, Mr. Colorado Jewett in diplomacy, and Mr. George Francis Train in general statesmanship, there was still hope for the country.—(Laughter).

In the House Mr. Hoge was declared entitled to the seat from the 3d district of South Carolina, and was sworn in.

The Senate on Friday voted, 30 to 20, to amend the House Reconstruction bill, so that the unreconstructed States must ratify the 15th Constitutional Amendment before being admitted to representation.

An extra session of the Senate, called by the President, will meet on Monday.

Chronicle Correspondence.

EXETER, April 9.

We are having in this town the present week an old-fashioned Teachers' Institute, with over 100 Members, and the following corps of Teachers: Grammar, Hon. Amos Hadley, State School Superintendent; Elocution, Prof. Barlow; Mathematics, Prof. Knight; Geography, Prof. Johannett of New York; Discipline, Prof. Orcutt; Penmanship, Prof. S. L. French; Drawing, Prof. Woodman; Music, Prof. E. G. French; Object Teaching, Miss Ellen P. Burke of Vermont.—a very good Board of Teachers, and a full attendance; and good results may be expected.

We noticed five names registered from Portsmouth — two gentlemen, three ladies, — one of the latter having taught the same School 12 years, (who would ask for a better recommendation?) Other members have taught 25 and 15 years, but not the same school. Surely they are veterans in a good cause. C.

The Manufacturer and Builder for April, has a good engraving of the Thames Embankment, London, with a description,—plans and estimates for Cottages, and a great variety of other matters. Webster & Co., publishers, Park Row New York. American News Company, agents.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

FORTY YEARS AGO.—Many excellent people, especially old people, are fond of looking back to what they call better days, i. e., the days when they were young; and, as they paint them rose color, some of their juniors may begin to imagine that the world is rolling backwards, and that everything will presently drop into ruins, unless the imaginary golden days can be brought back again, and the old patriots and saints re-appear on the earth; as the Jews used to look for Elias to come again, to get the world ready for the Messiah.

But these notions (says Uncle Toby,) and these fears, too, are without any solid foundation. The former days, so much bepraised by these "stern chasers," were not so much better than the present as they imagine, and the men of that day were fallible mortals like ourselves. It is even quite possible that if they were on the stage now, in our circumstances, they might not behave very much better than the moderns.

We are moved to say these things, by an editorial in the Manchester News, which begins by deploring and condemning the degeneracy and depravity of modern politicians, and says, among other things:—

At the present day, professional politicians do not stop to consider whether they have any qualifications for office or not—they have only the one idea, that of pay.

Then the article takes a look backward, forty years,—and proceeds to compare and contrast that time with the present, as follows:—

Forty years ago, any man who aspired to be made even a justice of the peace, would have been required by the appointing power to produce some evidence not only of capacity, but of honesty; and to get an office, even such as a selectman or common town representative, one would have been compelled to show some kind of vouchers as to character both as a man and a citizen. Men were in those days weighed in the balance of common sense, and if found lacking were at once rejected—though as a general rule, then the office sought the man and not the man the office. * * * * Men are now given office because they have done dirty work to give office to others. The question is no longer is he honest, is he faithful—but, will he work for the party and pay for the privilege he has of plundering the public treasury?

This reference is most unfortunate for the writer's purpose; as the term forty years will carry us back into the great Jacksonian era, which opened the flood-gates of corruption, confusion, dishonor and dishonesty. These evils had all existed before, on a comparatively small scale; but precisely at this juncture (1829) they rushed in like a flood, and so covered the country that they have never yet been thoroughly driven out.

Gen. Jackson took his seat as President, March 4, 1829, (just forty years ago;)—and for a year or two previous to that time, the combination of politicians which elected him had been using all means, (fair and foul,) to put down the Adams and Clay administration, "even if it was (as they said) as pure as the Angels of God!"

They succeeded; and as they went into office under the Hurrah for Jackson, they pronounced as their motto, "To the Victors belong the Spoils!"—and spoils they were, indeed.

Did the men then put into office give evidence of capacity and honesty, and show vouchers of character? Gen. Jackson appointed to the then best office at this port, a personal friend of his, Mr. John P. Decatur, to be Collector of Customs, who did collect and spend all he could in his brief term, and his bondsmen had to foot the bills!—Did the offices seek the men who occupied the stations under that Collector, here? No; they were the very men who had worked, and paid, and hurrahed for the party.

What happened to the Post Office Department at that time? Judge McLean went out of the Post Office, because he would not displace good and well tried Postmasters, and put men in their places of whom he knew nothing, except that they were the Hurrah Boys. Mr. Barry went in, and did the bidding of the party; putting in hundreds of men for mere partizan service;—the result was great confusion as to the mail service for a year, and in two years deficiency and bankruptcy of the Department.

Before the close of the first session of Gen. Jackson's First Congress, (chosen when he was,) he and Calhoun (chosen at the same time,) got into a grand quarrel,—and Gen. J. afterwards was sorry he did not hang Calhoun.

And then, the Cabinet (that famous Cabinet) all resigned in April, 1831—tho' of course they were (40 years ago) all honest and capable! Why must they resign? Because they, and their wives, would not associate with Mrs. Eaton, who was a favorite of Gen. Jackson!

This is no fancy sketch;—for these things are plain, historical facts, that cannot be rubbed out,—though they may be ignored or forgotten; and they show almost any thing, rather than the extreme purity of the leading men of a powerful party forty years ago.

They don't say the former days were better than these.

GOOSEY.—A flock of wild geese passed over the residence of Dr. Swett on Wednesday, cackling right smart, knowing that they were out of the reach of his rifle and would not be called on for a First day supper.—Exeter News Letter.

They were trying to equal the cackle of the rural office-seekers up that way, and swingers round the circle. Verily the goose hangs high—too high for some folks to reach.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X, Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

Woman and her Needs.

Subject by the law of nature to many physical afflictions from which man is exempt, woman is peculiarly entitled to the best efforts of medical science in her behalf. For a majority of the ailments to which her sex is exclusively liable, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are warmly recommended on the authority of wives, mothers, and nurses, who have tested their genial tonic and regulating properties, and "know whereof they speak;" and also with the sanction of able physicians, who have administered the preparation to their female patients, in obstinate cases of functional derangement, with the happiest results.

Almost all female complaints of a special character are complicated with mental gloom and despondency, and the gentle and lasting exhilarating effects of this wholesome medicated stimulant adapts it alike to the wants of this complex nature. As a remedy for the hysteria and mental hallucinations which sometimes mark both the earlier and the later crisis in the life of woman, it has no equal in the repertory of the healing art, and as a means of relieving the nausea and other unpleasant feelings which precede maternity, it is equally efficacious. Nursing mothers also find it an admirable invigorant. It is highly satisfactory that a preparation which embraces in its remedial range so many of the complaints common to both sexes, should prove so eminently beneficial to the weaker one. a7

The Lodi Manufacturing Co. invite Farmers and others using Manures, to send for a pamphlet descriptive of their Fertilizers. They offer their

equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also make superior articles of

NITRO PURE PERU DOUBLE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime paid us full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used your Poudrette on corn (which requires more manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this village."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lynne, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given as good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

Manhood.

IF the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye, and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some concealed influence is checking the development of manhood. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is well if the worst moments. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city the powers of the body are left to act upon it and on the mind, and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the final symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite had given way, and it fed on the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and hastens the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Dimness or Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and for nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one object to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. Proofs of the truth of both are, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Rarely should a sound of the voice occur. It is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. Dr. J. F. [From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a relaxed tendon suddenly entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

IT was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had been in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that perhaps they may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the cough loosens the matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To those three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration; the tough phlegm or the matter at first a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, remove all obstructions; relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing action from one operates against the other, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, scrofula, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is for Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption. His physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1ya4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment to England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which was in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. Dr. Dessauer, Oculist.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT of Portsmouth no doubt compares favorably with that of most other similiar cities, but the entire substitutions of steam engines for hand machines, would be a great improvement on many accounts, and a saving in expense. And some of the best members of the Department are of opinion that horses are preferable to men to draw the steamers to fires.

We think the suggestion in the Mayor's Address, that a large water main, with stops at various points, be brought into the city by the Aqueduct Company, especially for use at fires, would be a very valuable and effective arrangement.

A plan or proposition for a reorganization of the Fire Department, is now before the City Council; and some improvement will doubtless be made. At the election of Officers April 1st, the following were chosen:

Steamer Dearborn No. 1—Foreman, Edward E. McIntire; 1st Asst. Foreman, Benjamin Williams; 2d Asst. Foreman, Frank Shannon; Clerk, Wm. Palmer; Steward, Walter Cate.

Steamer Sagamore No. 2.—Foreman, Benj. Plummer; 1st Asst. Foreman, Wm. T. Merrill; 2d Asst. Foreman, Wm. B. Randall; 3d Asst. Foreman, Albert L. Goodwin; Clerk, Nathl. Cate; Steward, Chas. Cummings.

Gov. Langdon No. 3—Foreman, Samuel Lear; 1st Asst. Foreman, Lewis Holmes; 2d Asst. Foreman, Samuel White; Clerk, Saml. R. Gardner; Steward, Jas. Williams.

Granite State No. 5—Foreman, Andrew J. Langdon; 1st Asst. Foreman, Chas. H. Broughton; 2d Asst. Foreman, Marcellus Bailey; Clerk, Jas. Broughton; Steward, Jos. Moore.

Hook and Ladder, Garibaldi No. 1—Foreman, Sam'l Fletcher; 2nd Foreman, John H. Locke; Clerk, J. Henry Morrill.

FAST DAY was pleasant, and neither hot or cold. Business was generally suspended, and the city as still as Sunday. Public services were held in several churches and chapels, but not in all.

At the North Church (Congregational,) the Sermon was by Rev. Mr. Hayward of South Berwick, on National and Personal Sins, as the procuring cause of national calamity, suffering, and punishment. He instanced great crying sins of the past, punished and purged out by the terribly destructive civil war, in which one lay dead in almost every house: and pointed out, as present national sins, Sabbath-breaking, profanity, drunkenness, and avarice.

There was a fair attendance at this house, composed in part of people from two or three houses that were closed.

At the Baptist Church (Middle St.,) there was also a good attendance; the sermon was by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Alden from Prov. XIX, 21: There are many devices in a man's heart, nevertheless the counsel of the Lord, that shall stand.

COLLISION. — Locomotives Titan of the Concord Railroad and Magnolia of the Eastern, undertook to pass each other on the same track near the Rockingham Mills, on Friday, and the Titan laid out the Magnolia like a lion with iron sinews. The Magnolia was seriously, though not fatally injured, and will recover after a recruiting season at the repair shop. Nobody hurt.

☞ The 2nd No. of the Gem, the little paper edited and printed by Master Frank W. Robinson of this city, for amusement, is just received. The work certainly reflects much credit one so young and inexperienced.

☞ If our readers think the Local items of the Chronicle flow easier than common, of late, they may lay it to the superior quality of Carter's Ink, and Shores' School Pens, for sale at the Congress Block Bookstore.

THE DEXTER PANORAMA of American Battle Fields opens at the Temple this evening, and but one opportunity is afforded to witness the paintings, which are said to be truthful delineations of actual battle scenes.

☞ The Excursion of the Philharmonic Society to Newburyport on Wednesday next, affords a rare opportunity for others also, not members, to visit that city. See advertisement.

ACCIDENT.—Horace Adwers, a youth of 15, reverently observed Fast Day by shooting himself in the left hand at Wallis' Sands. It made a bad wound.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—The U. S. S. Leyden arrived Thursday evening with the crew for the Galena. The Galena went into commission on Friday.

☞ The officers of the U. S. S. Galena arrived on Friday.

ESTHER, once more, was well received at the Temple, on Fast Night—the audience being larger than on any previous occasion, and of the most select and appreciative character. The performances passed off well—the great lack being, as before, the want of an orchestra or organ, both for aid in giving promptness and power to the choruses, and also to entertain between the scenes. The soloists, several of them, were evidently somewhat wearied in voice, by their recent rehearsals and Fast Day singing; but the entertainment seemed to give very great and general satisfaction, although a Boston musical gentleman present thought the comparative lack of noisy applause might indicate want of appreciation;—but we were not of that opinion. The close attention given to the performances would seem to be the best possible evidence of esteem for them; and the most cultivated and refined auditors would probably not naturally be the most demonstrative.

Queen Esther was received with much favor, as she always is, and was the recipient of two beautiful boquets. The increase of soprano in chorus was a decided improvement; and the admirable elocution of Miss Fitts, who although not a member of the Society, kindly volunteered her valuable services as Reader, as previously, was a marked and favorite feature of the entertainment.

With the three representations of this Cantata, and a trip to Newburyport for another, next week, the Philharmonic Society we think may well be content to close their fourth season. Chief among the many to whom they are indebted for favors on this occasion, is Dr. Wm. R. Preston, an interested and always efficient honorary member of the Society, who mainly perfected and carried out to successful completion, the plan of this complimentary benefit Concert.

DEATH OF MRS. CUTTS.—Mrs. Mary H. Cutts, widow of Edward Cutts, Esq., died at her residence in Boston, Thursday morning. The day previous she was making her usual business calls, while taking the active charge of her estate, which she has managed with great ability. Aware that her days were drawing to a close, she has, within a year, made many liberal gifts to her relatives, but will leave a considerable fortune in the charge of her executors, Lyman Mason, Esq., of Boston, and W. H. Y. Hackett, Esq., of this city.—Her reminiscences of the distinguished people who in times past had been her guests were very interesting. She preserved with care the cloth laid upon the occasion when Gen. Lafayette dined at her table.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ It gives us pleasure to announce that Benj. D. Laighton, Esq., of this city, has been appointed to a third class clerkship in the Treasury Department at Washington, with Hon. T. L. Tullock.

☞ The old and popular Morris' Minstrels are to give one of their fine Concerts here April 16th. The advance Agent is now in this city making arrangements.

THE NEW STEAMER APPLEDORE, will be launched from Prior and Plummer's yard, at Noble's Island this (Saturday) forenoon at 10 o'clock.

☞ Rev. Mr. Marsden is expected to preach at the Universalist Church in this city, on Sunday morning and afternoon, at the usual hours.

POLICE COURT, Odell, J., April 8.—For stealing five hens on Fast Day, six youngsters were fined, with costs, $58.55.

☞ Adjourned Meeting of Mercantile Library Association, for Election of Officers, Wednesday evening, April 14.

☞ The funeral of Mr. Charles Cutts will be attended at Kittery Point on Sunday afternoon.

☞ Meeting of Philharmonic Society, at Mr. Tilton's Music Room, Monday, April 12.

As the Northern train was about leaving the depot in Concord on Wednesday afternoon, one of the passengers who had been imbibing rather liberally, became somewhat demonstrative, and upon being remonstrated with by Judge Nesmith, of Franklin, became enraged and threatened to shoot the Judge with a gun which he had in his hands.

☞ Rev. John E. Todd has resigned his pastorate of the Central Congregational Church, Boston, much to the general regret of his people. The Congregationalist supposes that he resigns because the parish debt is $137,000. If so, (says Uncle Toby,) we suggest that the Parish had better resign also—its effects into the hands of the creditors, and so make an honest failure.—And also, that Parishes generally, had better keep out of debt: and that poor societies would do well not to ape the rich;—but do what they are able, honestly and fairly.

COULDN'T SUBSCRIBE.—A pair of those interesting, entertaining ladies, who seem to carry on so large a business in the way of procuring subscriptions for new works, and who are so delightfully importunate, so sweetly un-get-rid-able, called a short time since at the office of a young lawyer for the purpose of getting him to subscribe.

"Indeed, ladies," said he, "the partnership of which I am a humble member has lately been so imprudent as to issue a new work of their own, which, in consequence of the enormous expense attending its illustrations, embellishments, &c., has completely crippled us."

"Then, perhaps," replied the angelic canvasser, "we could procure you some subscribers. What do you call your work?"

"Well, we have not fully determined as yet; but I guess I'll let my wife have her own way, and call it after me—Charles Henry."

☞ The Common Council of Chicago has passed resolutions looking to a grand opening of the Pacific Railroad. A committee, consisting of the mayor and members of the council, has been appointed, which is authorized to invite on such terms as the managers of the contract for the Union Pacific and Northwestern railroads shall appoint, the governors and staffs of the States of California, Oregon and Nevada; the territories of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Dacotah, Utah, Wyoming and Colorado; the members of the legislatures of the several States and territories above named; the judges of the courts, the mayors and common councils of the cities of San Francisco and such other cities as they may select in California; Portland, Oregon; Virginia City, Nevada; Denver, Colorado; the mayors and councils and leading citizens of such other cities in the States and territories above named as said committee of the council and the citizens deem best and most appropriate; also, the President, Vice-President of the United States, and the cabinet, and the members of both houses of Congress, judges of the Supreme Court, and the generals and leading offices of the army of the United States, the governors of the different States, and such other distinguished gentlemen as it is deemed best. The hospitalities of the city will be extended to all.

A LITTLE WHITEWASH.—Yes, a little whitewash will do a great amount of good; but a full supply, enough to cover the inside of barns, stables, cellars, etc., with two good coatings, is much better. The lime which enters into this composition is a purifying agent, and the wash serves as a disinfectant. The benefits conferred in this regard compensate for all the labor and expense involved in whitewashing; but the clean, tidy appearance which it gives to farm premises is most pleasing and salutary. In no way can a farmer make so imposing and even elegant a show, for trifling expenditure, as by a free use of whitewash. Even old buildings glow and glisten under the whitewash brush, and assume a new and fresh appearance. Buildings, in the eye of the owner, as well as those of his neighbors, have a higher money value after the process is completed.—The spring of the year is a good time to attend to this kind of work.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

Mr. J. F. SHORES, Jr., Bookseller, Has always on hand a full assortment, suitable for every difficulty.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell THE FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction, or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

From the Journal.

CITY PARK.—The subject of a city park, common or mall, whichever it may be called, is one that has been talked of for several years, and has lately been brought before the City Council. That in every city such a common place of resort for recreation is generally deemed desirable, is indisputable, and could we secure at any reasonable expense such a desideratum in a central locality, there can be no doubt that our people (resident and absent sons) would consent to taxation and respond by liberal voluntary contributions to procure it. The field at the South-end generously offered to the city by John L. Elwyn Esq., properly laid out and beautified with trees, would be very attractive, but the locality is an objection to inhabitants of the other extremity of the city. To render it easily accessible to nine-tenths of our citizens would necessitate a bridge across or a graded walk around the South mill-pond. Such a walk, bordered with shade trees, would be a very pleasant one, provided the city could control the tide in the pond; but when, as is frequently the case during the summer season, the flats are bare, the odors arising therefrom are such that none would desire a near approach. The $6,000 proposed by the Common Council to be raised for the purpose of securing the benefit of a park ($3,000 to be appropriated by the city and $3,000 raised by individual contribution) every one realizes would scarcely suffice to commence the work required to render the park creditable to the city; and unless we make it so we had better let it alone. An appropriation for improvement of lands not owned by the city is contrary to general usage, and our clear-minded citizens would naturally suggest that the pond and adjoining fields should be purchased before we attempt to beautify them. If after the purchase anything is left of the $6000, it would be very proper to expend it in improvements. Our citizens now find pleasant walks in all directions, and present indications of business do not alarm us with visions of a city so densely populated as to exclude us from ocean breezes or rural views; and while we are ready to encourage all measures of real progress, we think our Aldermen have acted wisely in rejecting the proposition to appropriate money for the purpose.

ENTERPRISE AND CAPITAL.

Messrs. Editors:—The present prostration of business in our city calls loudly upon those of our citizens who have the means, to come forward and make an effort to establish new enterprises of local operation, to employ our worthy mechanics and enable them to remain at home with their families, and at the same time induce others to come among us.

With little or nothing doing at the Navy Yard, and nothing at our ship-yards, our young and old are obliged to seek employment elsewhere, and many who would rejoice to obtain work are seeking in vain for something to do. This should not be so; there is sufficient capital in this city, which, if applied in the right direction, would give employment to every individual wishing to labor.

The gentlemen connected with the Board of Trade organized themselves for this express purpose; but they cannot act without assistance and encouragement from those who have enlarged means?

Why should we not have a variety of industrial mechanical pursuits carried on here—such as shoemaking, iron foundries, hats, fans, wooden ware, &c.? Simply, because capital is wanting. Now, what I propose is this: Let a portion of our citizens be called to take this matter into consideration, and select a committee of twenty or more from among them, to act with the Board of Trade, consult together, and then appeal to all who are in any way able to furnish a general capital, to become interested in such enterprises as above. I believe it would take but a short time to obtain $100,000—and then induce our own and other enterprising mechanics to enter into manufactures, which, to succeed, need only capital and encouragement. PECUNIA.

NEW WARD ROOM.—Workmen under the direction of Isaiah Wilson, Esq., are tearing out the interior of the old brick schoolhouse in State street, preparatory to a thorough remodelling thereof. A large, commodious, well lighted and ventilated room is to be constructed in each story—the lower to be a ward room for Ward Two, and the upper well adapted for a school room or any similar purpose for which it may be required.

DANCING.—Mr. Lamprey's periodical advertisement appears in another column. It will be noticed that he has taken Congress Hall instead of Irving Hall, where he will fully occupy the field in which he has no competitor here.

USE OF SALT MEADOW MUD.—We have repeatedly inquired of persons living on the sea coast, or those having salt water creeks penetrating into their farms, whether the salt meadow mud is useful as a fertilizer? The usual reply has been—"I do not like it." We do not know of any well conducted experiments made with it, and wish some of our correspondents would give us information on the subject.—N. E. Farmer.

CARE OF THE EYES.—Looking into a fire is very injurious to the eyes, particularly a coal fire. The stimulus of light and heat united, soon destroys the eyes. Looking at molten iron will soon destroy the sight. Reading in the twilight is injurious to the eyes, as then they are obliged to make great exertions. Reading or sewing with a side light injures the eyes, as both eyes should be exposed to equal degrees of light. The reason is, the sympathy between the eyes is so great, that if the pupil of one is dilated, by being kept partially in the shade, the one that is most exposed can not contract itself sufficiently for protection, and will ultimately be injured. Those who wish to preserve their sight, should preserve their general health by correct habits, and give their eyes just work enough, with a due degree of light.

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES,

Dividends made annually, from the start, and not postponed until the third, fourth or fifth year, as in most other companies.
Profits apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division; and not by the mode adopted by many companies, which is grossly unjust to a large proportion of the Policy-holders.

Its Annual Income, - - $5,000,000.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1869.

The News.

The Boston steamer Gen. Grant was burned at her wharf in New York, on Thursday night. She had on board 12,000 bushels of grain, 700 bags seed, and 100 barrels oil.

Gen. Sickles has not yet accepted the Mexican mission tendered him by Gen. Grant.

Great political excitement exists in Madrid, and fears of an outbreak are entertained.

Vienna, Canada, had a 20-second earthquake shock, Friday morning.

Congress.

The House passed the new Reconstruction Bill on Friday, as amended by the Senate,—by a vote of 107 to 27.

The action of Congress on this measure gives the best possible proof of the harmony between that body and the President. The two houses were wrangling all winter about the reconstruction question, and utterly unable to agree upon anything. The President sent in his brief and practical message, suggesting a way for cutting the Gordian knot, and in two days Congress disposes of the whole matter by putting it in his hands, and giving him power to order an election in each of the unreconstructed States at his pleasure. This settles the subject, and, except such matters as may possibly arise in regard to Georgia, the country is not likely to hear much more of the reconstruction question. The President will probably order an election in Virginia in about six weeks, with a provision for a separate vote on three clauses of the new constitution.

The Senate was in session all night Friday, and adjourned at 3.45 Saturday morning. J. M. Ashley was confirmed as Governor of Montana by one majority.

The House passed Gen. Banks' resolution of sympathy with the Cuban revolutionists, and rushed through scores of bills.

Both Houses adjourned at 12 o'clock, noon, Saturday—the House of Representatives to Dec. 7th, and the Senate to Monday, when the special session is called by the President to take action on executive business.

THE JUDICIAL BILL has finally got through Congress. It provides for the appointment of one additional judge on the supreme bench, and nine new circuit judges, each of whom shall possess the same power and jurisdiction within his circuit as the justice of the Supreme Court allotted to that circuit. The courts in each circuit are to be held by a justice of the Supreme Court thereto allotted, or by the circuit judge or by the district judge, each sitting alone or either two sitting together. The circuit judges have a salary of $5,000 each.—The judge on the supreme bench is required to attend at least one term of the Circuit Court in each district of his circuit during every two years. Any United States judge of ten years' service and aged seventy years may resign and thereafter receive full pay as a pension. The act goes into effect on the first of next December.

THE PRESS.—Geo. P. Rowell & Co's American Newspaper Directory, an octavo volume of 358 pages, is just published, Price $5. It gives one an impression of the reading character of Americans, which can hardly be gathered from any other source, and it furnishes information about the periodical press of the country which cannot elsewhere be found. Messrs. Rowell & Co., certainly deserve the thanks of the community for this admirable work of theirs, which must have cost them an inamensity of labor.

☞ Both parties of the Indiana legislature held a caucus on Thursday of last week. The democrats claim that their course at the last session has been endorsed by the people, and the re-elected members refuse to qualify unless the republicans bind themselves not to bring forward the negro suffrage question during the special session. The republicans refuse to make any pledges, but intimate that the necessary legislation will take precedence in the order of business.

Considering the distance from the centre of our population—and the melting snow and muddy roads—a good number of clergymen were present.

LOSS OF MONEY LETTERS.—The New York Observer complains, that in the month of February, 24 letters which were mailed to its address, containing sums of money, $127 in all, did not arrive, and have not come yet. And the Boston Recorder states, that in the same month, 66 letters mailed to that paper, and containing $239, failed to be delivered. Both papers call on Pres. Grant and the post-master general, to send a special agent to catch the thieves. We publish the facts, to induce people to send Money Orders, or Checks or Drafts, instead of bills, by mail.

—There has been no book published in New England for a long time that has created more excitement in the Orthodox Churches than 'Gates Ajar,' by Miss Phelps, daughter of Prof. Phelps of the Andover Seminary. It has already reached its twelfth edition, and is to-day in as much demand as ever. We hope that every body will read it; not because it is a profound work or a perfect work, but because it is true to its title—it opens the doors enough to give a glimpse that may be useful. Usually we seek to notice a book before the public have read it; this we delay till public opinion has been formed.—Ex.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines" We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation nor promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

Woman and her Needs.

Subject by the law of nature to many physical afflictions from which man is exempt, woman is peculiarly entitled to the best efforts of medical science in her behalf. For a majority of the ailments to which her sex is exclusively liable, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are warmly recommended on the authority of wives, mothers, and nurses, who have tested their genial tonic and regulating properties, and "know whereof they speak;" and also with the sanction of able physicians, who have administered the preparation to their female patients, in obstinate cases of functional derangement, with the happiest results.

Almost all female complaints of a special character are complicated with mental gloom and despondency, and the gentle and lasting exhilarating effects of this wholesome medicated stimulant adapts admirably for cases of this complex nature. As a remedy for the hysteria and mental hallucinations which sometimes mark both the earlier and the later crisis in the life of woman, it has no equal in the repository of the healing art, and as a means of relieving the nausea and other unpleasant feelings which precede maternity, it is equally efficacious. Nursing mothers also find it an admirable invigorant. It is highly satisfactory that a preparation which embraces in its remedial range so many of the complaints common to both sexes, should prove so eminently beneficial to the weaker one. a7

equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also make superior articles of NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime paid us full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used it on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Dani. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram P. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on one half side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lyme, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been sold side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given me good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. a12 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes pure blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, raises it off by the easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has not strength to throw out the matter.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, neutralizes the acids in the stomach, and cures Dyspepsia, if the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and to do all else they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tobercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and flat decay-ing, in such cases what is the matter? Just as it says only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient begins to digest and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of pulmonary Consumption. All physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by his medicines, and since his recovery he cured many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 36 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. Advice and advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yj|a4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism; and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for any case it failed to cure. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. THE PARK.—Our neighbor of the Journal (see the article we copy on our 1st page) talks entirely without the book, when he discusses the Common,—which is neither common nor unclean. His remarks, though no doubt unintentionally so,—are exactly like those of the persons who wish to show how not to do it—not to do any thing, for a Park, or what not. That is, while protesting, (we won't say pretending, in this case,) while professing to be in favor of any project, they always object to the especial plan or manner in which it is proposed to effect it, and thereby often prevent the only feasible mode of accomplishing the object, by putting forward others not available.

Now this matter and manner of starting a Common, is no sudden and unstudied move, but had been considered and discussed by the Trustees in charge, for months and years; and these objections offered by the Journal article were among the first which were considered and disposed of by the Board. We have no desire or intention to urge immediate action in the matter at this time, but we want that the case should stand fair on the record, when the time for a move does come. For this reason we reply to a few points in the article referred to.

The location we never heard objected to before—it is beautiful and finely adapted, and the salt water of course a chief attraction, whether with a bridge or marginal road, either of which would be a part of the Common, and not merely a means of reaching it. There is no position comparable with this in the township.

Then it must be a new discovery that the flats of the South Pond, (which are mostly covered, with grass growing,) smell badly; and the editor of the Journal must have been talking with some of the flats who pretend to be in favor of the project. Besides there is no necessity for the water often to be let out of the Pond, if fitted for a Mall, but it could be high tide all the while, except occasionally to change the water.

Mr. Elwyn never offered to give the land into the hands of the City Government direct, but preferred to place it in the hands of Trustees for public use forever. Neither, we presume, is the Pond or the land adjoining for sale, as suggested, or to be controlled probably in any other way except as proposed in the Park plan, if indeed it can be in that.

As to the smallness of the sum asked for,—(and does anybody suppose that to increase it would be an advantage?)—it would hardly seem advisable if practicable, to attempt to raise or expend all the money desired, in one year! The better way would seem to be, to proceed by degrees, in money and work.—The legality of the thing is beyond question; as is its advisability, to our mind, both as a public improvement and a public (not private) investment.

And in conclusion, we shall say, that while we are well aware that our city generally is in most features delightfully rural, still, we cannot understand how any live citizen who favors the second article copied on our first page this morning, can oppose the present idea suggested for a public Common here and now. We are sure it would "pay" well for the City. F.

WRITING.—How can youth be expected to write well, unless they be taught what is right? The School Committee of this city, we are pleased to learn, have substituted the Spencerian System of Penmanship, Charts and Copy Books, in place of the Duntonian, lately in use. But that the pupils may realize the full benefits of this thorough and only complete System, it is necessary that the Teachers should understand it, and to impart much knowledge of penmanship, is too much to expect of almost any general instructor in a public School. It would seem desirable to employ a competent Professor of the art of Chirography, to visit all the Schools in town, such, for instance, as Mr. J. S. Montgomery of this city, whose Writing Academy is over Messrs. Ferguson & Frye's Store on Congress Street.

Mr. O. H. Bowler will be in this city on Wednesday and consult with the teachers of our public schools at Mr. Durgin's School Room at the Academy, at 2 o'clock, P. M., relative to the Spencerian system of writing.

☞ Meeting of Philharmonic Society, at Mr. Tilton's Music Room, Monday Evening April 12.

☞ The steam yacht Appledore was launched from the yard of Messrs. Pryor & Plummer Saturday forenoon, after which she unavoidably settled into the mud, it being a low course of tides. The vessel easily floated Saturday night, without injury, and was taken in tow Sunday evening, by the tug boat Ann for Boston, where her machinery is to be put in.

THE PORTSMOUTH CUSTOM HOUSE.—Hon. John H. Bailey has been appointed Collector of the Port of Portsmouth—an excellent selection. Mr. Bailey, as a man and politician, is above reproach. He is strong with the party, as was evinced in his recent election to the State Senate over Hon. Frank Jones, and has the confidence of the people. No better selection could have been made.

William R. Martin, Esq., is appointed Surveyor of the same port. Mr. Martin has been in the House at Concord, for two years, is well known as a competent and efficient man, and will make a satisfactory and popular Surveyor. This also is a good appointment.—Coos Republican.

☞ Portsmouth people visiting Boston will find good accommodations and meals that would tempt an anchorite, at the well-known Parks House, entrance nearly opposite the Old South Church, off Washington Street. Messrs. T. B. & J. H. Rand, formerly of Portsmouth, still continue in charge, and their successful catering to patrons has secured for them more than an average of custom. The Parks House is quite a rendezvous for Portsmouth people.

☞ The new and beautiful fishing schooner, W. H. Y. Hackett, of one hundred tons burthen, built by Cyrus Burnham of Salisbury, Mass., for Messrs. Harding & Doane of this city, arrived at Marvin's wharf on Saturday, having made the trip from Newburyport to this place in less than two hours. The vessel is to be fitted immediately for the Western Bank, codfishing; and is to be commanded by Capt. Nathan A. Robbins of Harwich, Mass.

☞ Messrs. Dudley & Greenough of Boston, have finished the work of canvassing this city for a new Portsmouth Directory, and the book will be issued in a few weeks, in the usual good style of this house. The Street Directory is a valuable feature, and one which is supplied to this city almost alone—owing to the good and thorough example formerly set by the late C. W. Brewster, Esq, in his Directory issues.

☞ Auctioneer Wendell is advertised to sell the Rye Town Farm this morning at 10 o'clock. It is a good Hay Farm, of about 90 acres, and ought to bring $4000 or more.

☞ The steamship America, which arrived at New York on Thursday, reports that when off Cape Henry two large whales were discovered, one of which rose under the bow, shaking the steamship and breaking seven feet of the stem, shivering it so badly that it had to be cut off and repaired. The whale came to the surface on the port bow and sunk out of sight.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN MAINE.—At a Church Missionary Meeting in Boston, last week,—

The Bishop of Maine thought that the General Board of Missions had rather slighted Maine, which only received $900 a year for support of its missionaries. He himself was pledged for $2100 more than the Board had promised to give and more than it had given last year. Missionary effort, to be effective in the West, must be begun in the East, because the people emigrated to the West from the East. Although Maine had a population of 670,000, there were only nineteen parochial organizations, and only seven self-supporting parishes. There were towns of more than 4000 inhabitants where the service of the church had never been heard. The people who emigrated from Maine to the West were Universalists to a man,—that is, nominally; they really were indifferentists, believing in nothing at all. He referred to some other figures to show the want of missionary labor in Maine.

☞ South Carolina papers say that the action of the Legislature in abolishing distinction of color in the State University and electing two colored men trustees has killed the institution, as the young men of South Carolina will not sit in classes with the negroes.—Ex.

Well: it can be spared: it has been a hot bed of sedition and rebellion.

VALUABLE FARM IN PORTSMOUTH
AT AUCTION, I shall sell at Public Auction, on the premises, on SATURDAY, April 17, at 2 o'clk, P. M.,
The well-known Peverly Hill Farm!
Formerly owned by the late Hon. James Sheafe, situate on the road leading from the Plains to Lafayette Road, and about two miles from Market Square.
This Farm contains about 140 acres, well divided into Mowing, Tillage, Orchard and Pasture LAND, fenced by Stone Wall; with DWELLING HOUSE, BARN, and suitable OUTBUILDINGS. The Pasture is well Watered, and the character of the soil and its proximity to market, make it an excellent place upon which to cultivate early vegetables.
Upon the Farm is a Valuable ICE PRIVILEGE, now under lease, and which can be increased if desired. From this the best ice in our market is secured.
The farm is divided by the road into two parts, which will be sold separately.
The beautiful situation of this place, its valuable growth of Ship Timber, in addition to Hard and Pine Wood, its facility for raising products for which there is a quick market quite near, and the easy terms of sale, render this an opportunity for a valuable outlay within reach of almost any one who desires a safe as well as profitable investment. Morning Chronicle.

☞ Apropos to the alleged discovery of a human footprint in the coal measures of Pennsylvania, in the following poem from a California paper on the skull which certain numbskulls in Chicago were made to believe was found imbedded in rocks of the Pliocene formation in California. It seems that the State geological surveyor obtained it from a Dr. Jones, who said he got it from a Mr. Scribner, who said it was given to him by a miner named Watson, who said he found it in a shaft one hundred and fifty feet deep in Calaveras county. After certain stupendous theories had been based on these statements the whole thing was found to be an imposition. The poem gives the questioning of the savans, and the supposed reply of the skull:

Speak, O man, less recent! Fragmentary fossil!
Primal pioneer of Pliocene formation,
Hid in lowest drifts below the earliest stratum
Of volcanic tufa!

Older than the beasts, the oldest Palæotherium;
Older than the trees, the oldest Cryptogamia;
Older than the hills, those infantile eruptions
Of earth's epidermis!

Eo-Mio-Plio-whatever the "cene" was
That those vacant sockets filled with awe and wonder—
Whether shores Devonian or Silurian beaches,
Tell us thy strange story!

Or has the professor slightly antedated [et,
By some thousand years thy advent on this planet,
Giving thee an air that's somewhat better fitted
For cold blooded creatures?

Were thou a true spectator of that mighty forest
When above thy head the stately Sigillaria
Reared its columned trunks in that remote and [tissues
Carboniferous epoch?

Tell us of that scene—the dim and watery woodland,
Sunless, silent, hushed with never bird or insect,
Veiled with spreading fronds, and screened with tall club mosses,
Lycopodiacea—

When beside thee walked the solemn Plesiosaurus,
And around thee crept the festive Ichthyosaurus,
While from time to time above thee flew and circled Cheerful Pterodactyls.

Tell us of thy food—those half marine reflections,
Crinoids on the shell, and Brachiopods as salad,
Cuttle fish to which pleasure of Victor Hugo
Seems a perfect nuisance.

Speak, thou awful vestige of the Earth's creation,
Solitary fragment of remains organic!
Tell the wondrous secrets of thy past existence—
Speak, thou oldest primate!

Even as I gazed, a thrill of the maxilla,
And a lateral movement of the condyloid process,
With post-pliocene sounds of healthy mastication,
Ground the teeth together.

And, from that imperfect dental exhibition,
Stained with expressed juices of the weed Nicotiana,
Came those hollow accents blent with softer murmurs
Of expectoration:

"Which my name is Bowers, and my crust was buried
Falling down a shaft in Calaveras county;
But I'd take it kindly if you'd send the pieces
Home to old Missouri!"

SETTING OUT FRUIT TREES.—We heard a neighbor, last spring, call to his son, "John, have you finished digging the holes for the pear trees?"—"Yes, sir," was the reply. A curiosity was felt to examine the "holes"; so, walking into the garden, the rows of little excavations, resembling the openings made to receive the seed in a corn patch, met the eye.

The soil was hard and compact, in a condition wholly unsuited to the wants of an orchard of fruit trees. "You will lose your trees, neighbor," we said, "if you plant them in this way; it is not only a waste of money, but of time and labor." "Why, are not the holes large enough, or deep enough? How would you dig them?" "We never make but one hole," we replied, "for any number of trees, and that embraces an area equal to the whole of the ground devoted to the orchard."

This digging a superficial pit in an unworked soil, in which to bury the hungry roots of young trees, is a proceeding absurd and wasteful. Fruit-trees should never be planted until the soil is in fit condition to receive them. It must be pulverized, and the subsoil turned up and exposed to air and sunshine. Good, well-rotted stable manure must be applied liberally, or ashes and bone-dust, which is better. Look well to the planting of fruit-trees.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

SAWDUST FOR BEDDING.—If you have an unoccupied team and can occasionally spend half a day without interfering with regular farm work, we think it will pay for drawing it eight or nine miles. It is worth something in the first place, because the cattle and horses lie easier upon it than upon bare plank; and whatever tends to the comfort of the cattle, makes them more productive in one way or another. It is worth much as an absorbent, and secondly by its mechanical action as a divider in compact or heavy soils.—N. E. Farmer.

—Most of the Spanish Absolutists now living at Paris have boxes at one or more of the theatres; and when Queen Isabella wants to go to one of them she writes to the box-holder as follows: "If the Queen command you to let me have your box for to-night. I shall be pleased to reserve two seats in it for you and your wife."

—The New York Tribune significantly remarks that the President of the United States may owe something to the leading politicians who supported his election; but he owes far more to the people, who would have him for their President, and wouldn't hear of any one else as a substitute.

—Secretary Borie is a Roman Catholic and so are nearly all the heads of his bureaus at Washington. Mr. Creswell, it is said, don't go to church. Attorney General Hoar is a Unitarian, Washburne a Universalist, A. T. Stewart, Presbyterian, and Ex-Secretary Cox a Swedenborgian.

—"How long shall our suffering last as atonement for our ill-starred experiment of secession?" says the Portsmouth, Va., Transcript. That is a matter for you to decide. As soon as fair Virginia presents her check we will give her the kiss of peace.

Chronicle Correspondence.

YORK, April 9.

A wave of religious excitement came dashing on to "Ogunquit," (in Wells) some eight or ten weeks ago, and has rolled onward through Cape Neddick to York, and is now at South Berwick, having taken a circuitous route, and from some cause did not meet the Piscataqua by bordering into Kittery.—It is said much good has been accomplished—many have been converted and baptised.—Four persons were baptised on Fast Day by Elder Goodwin, of the First Christian Church at York; and there was a baptism at Cape Neddick by Elder Mace, of the Calvinistic Baptist Church. VIDEX

TOWN OFFICERS OF YORK, ME.—At the late election the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year—all Republicans except second Selectman.

Moderator, Joseph Bragdon, Jr. Town Clerk, Samuel P. Young; Selectmen and Assessors, David Moulton Charles Junkins, Octavius Weare; Treasurer, Washington Junkins; Town Agent, Asahel Goodwin: Overseers of Poor, Joseph Bragdon, Jr, William H. Sweet, Charles D. Preble; Superintending School Committee, John A. Swett, 3 yrs., Almon H. Merrow, 2 yrs., Samuel W. Junkins, 1 yrs; Auditor, Chas. O. Clark.

IMPROVEMENT IN VARIETIES OF CORN.—A writer in the Prairie Farmer calls attention to improvement in varieties of corn. He says that if as much attention was paid to this subject as is paid to improvement in potatoes and grapes, a hundred millions of bushels might be added to the crop on the area now cultivated within three years. The great want is earlier varieties that will obtain their growth before the mid-summer droughts or early frosts. He is now making experiments in this direction, and calls on farmers throughout the country to give their attention to this subject.

The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the combined advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assortion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

ANECDOTES OF JONATHAN EDWARDS. The great theologian was extremely absent minded, carrying about with him everywhere the atmosphere of the study—treading on clouds and breathing rarified air—in the world, but not of it. A country parishioner at a loss for topics of conversation, once asked him how many cows he possessed. "Really, I do not know," he replied; "but Mrs. Edwards could tell you. She attends to all such matters." Now, Mrs. Edward was fully as pious as her husband—almost a religious devotee. She was oftener in her closet than in her dairy; yet she knew how many cows paid tribute to the house of Edwards, which fact would seem to prove that a man may be eminently spiritual and emenently practical at the same time.

The lofty abstraction of Mr. Edwards caused frequent domestic disarrangement, and sometimes played strange pranks with his costume, especially with his wig; while his profound ignorance of ordinary worldly-affairs gave rise to many ludicrous incidents. One of the old family stories runs thus:

Mr. Edwards having preached for a poor country parson, found to his dismay on Monday morning, that there was no man or boy about the premises to bring up his horse for him. On his confessing that he knew little about such things, his hostess, "on hospitable cares intent," went to the pasture, caught and bridled the staid clerical steed, and led it up to the gate. Then, as she was about to put on the saddle, the great minister came out, and gallantly protested against her performing any further groom-service, saying he thought he could manage the rest for himself. So she went about her household affairs.

The good man was a long time wrestling with the mysteries of that saddle; but, just as the lady was going again to his assistance, he came in to get his saddle-bags and take his leave. "Ah! Mr. Edwards, how have you succeeded?" she asked. "Very well, madam, I thank you," he replied; "but it was unusual employment for me, and I was a little awkward. I had some difficulty in properly adjusting the straps and buckles; and there is still a superfluous piece of leather, the office of which I cannot divine. But it hangs over the neck of the animal, and will not incommode me at all."

The lady, somewhat curious, stepped to the gate, to find that Mr. Edwards had put on the saddle reversed—the pommel pointing tailwards; having, perhaps, a vague idea that, as he was going back to Northampton, that was the way to do it. The "superfluous piece of leather" was the crupper.—Grace Greenwood.

CHURCH SCENES:—There have been on several occasions, unusual scenes during the hour of public worship on the Sabbath, in the churches of Concord; but the most remarkable was in 1777. Col. Gordon Hutchins, delegate from the town in the General Assembly at Exeter, hearing that Gen. Burgoyne was on the march from Canada to Albany, rode to Concord on horseback, and reached the meeting-house during the afternoon service. Dismounting at the meeting-house door, he walked up the aisle while Rev. Mr. Walker was preaching.

Mr. W. paused in his sermon, and said: Col. Hutchins, are you the bearer of any message? Yes! replied the Col. Gen. Burgoyne, with his army, is on his march to Albany. Gen. Stark has offered to take charge of the New Hampshire men: and if we all turn out, we can cut off Burgoyne's march! Whereupon Rev. Mr. Walker said: My hearers, those of you who are willing to go had better leave at once. At which word all the men rose and went out. Many immediately enlisted. The whole night was spent in preparation, and a Company was ready to march the next day.

RATHER OBLIVIOUS.—At a revival excitement in Connecticut, a respectable old lady was struck with conviction and became a convert, and was proposed for membership of the church. There was a meeting held for the examination of the candidates, of whom there were several in attendance.

"Well, my dear sister Rogers," said the venerable examiner, addressing our venerable friend, "please relate your experience."

The old lady, on being thus addressed, lifted up her voice:

"Well," said she, "I don't know what to say, as I told my husband, Mr. Rogers, before I came here; but I believe I have experienced a change, as I told Mr. Rogers, my husband, after I came home from meeting, when I became convinced that I was the most sinful creature in the world, as I told my husband, Mr. Rogers, and says he, 'I think so too.' Then I told Mr. Rogers, my husband, I was going to lead a different life, was going to trim my lamp, and have it buring agin the bridegroom come. Then Mr. Rogers, my husband, said he didn't see what I wanted of another, but he didn't make no objection. Then I told Mr. Rogers, my husband, that I would join the church, and prepare myself for the place where the worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched; and my husband, Mr. Rogers, told me I'd better."

—A Frog it is said has been captured in Maury county, Tenn., which weighs 98 pounds. In a sitting posture its height was exactly three feet four inches. Its eyes were two and one-half inches in diameter. The color of the breast or belly was a dark yellow, while its back was a dark green, and apparently mossy.

—Binckley, the fellow who made two assaults on persons in Washington, in one day, is a queer fellow. After the assaults, he went to the Criminal Court, complained of himself for breach of the peace, got himself indicted, plead guilty, and was fined $100 and costs. This is clearly a case of conscience.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY, St. Paul, Minn.

The News.

The amended Internal Revenue law extends the time for taking whiskey out of bond to the end of the coming June, and adds a tax of one cent per month on each gallon left in bond after the 20th of this month.

The President, on Saturday, signed all the measures presented to him before adjournment of Congress, some fifteen in number, the most important of which were the new reconstruction bill, the amendatory tax-bill and the Pacific Railway resolution.

Of the measures pending in Congress when the adjournment was reached, and consequently lost, the most important were the bill regulating the working of the eight-hour labor law, the bill relieving from political disabilities a large number of southerners, the bill to restore the negro members to the Georgia legislature, and the bill for the redistribution of the national currency. Over fifty nominations, including all those for revenue offices in New York city, were not acted on by the Senate before the adjournment, and must now be renewed, or others made in their stead.

A steamer was sunk in the Arkansas River on Friday night, and about seventeen lives were lost, it is thought.

The Montana Indians are again on the war path.

The population of New York city is estimated at 1,118,767.

But 50 miles of the Pacific Railroad remain uncompleted, and trains will run through by the first of May.

The Freedmen's Bureau comes to an end in June.

Washington had a snow storm on Sunday.

A band of Spanish Carlists, 600 strong, attacked the town of Zo-de Argel, in the Pyrenees, but were repulsed with heavy loss and fled to the mountains.

BUSINESS.—Messrs. J. A. and N. Harwood of Littleton, Mass., have purchased of Wright & Potter, their mill privilege in North Leominster, with about thirty-five acres of land, and the saw mill, grist mill and three dwelling houses thereon. The Messrs. Harwood will build a new dam during the coming summer, and will occupy the mills for the manufacture of leather board, the machinery for which will cost $15,000.

The Curtis hat factory at Newburyport organized a few days since, employs one hundred hands, and turns out seventy-five dozen hats per day. The capital is $40,000.

THE LAY DELEGATION MOVEMENT IN THE M. E. CHURCH.—During the month of June next a question will be submitted to the votes of the entire membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, male and female, above the age of 21 years, the decision of which cannot fail to have a marked influence for good or evil upon the future of that large and rapidly growing denomination. This question is, whether the Laity shall be represented in the legislative assembly of the church, or whether the law-making power shall remain, as it has heretofore, solely in the hands of the Ministry.

THE CUBAN RESOLUTION which passed the National House of Representatives on Saturday reads as follows;

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, that the people of the United States sympathize with the people of Cuba in their patriotic efforts to secure their independence and establish a republican form of government guaranteeing the personal liberty and the equal political rights of all the people; and the House of Representatives will give its constitutional support to the President of the United States whenever in his opinion a republican government shall have been in fact established and he may deem it expedient to recognize the independence and sovereignty of such republican government.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

NEW YORK, April 7.

Bright, warm, cheerful skies greet us this morning. As I wandered along Water Street I was attracted by the sign, "Water St. Mission," next house to John Allen's former haunt. This mission was recently organized, and the prospect now is that soon a permanent building for its purposes will be erected, where now this old house stands. The room where I am now writing is used as a chapel for noon and evening meetings, Sabbath School and preaching. It was a low dance hall, and has an ill savor that reminds one of its former use. Large cards, mottoes, and hymns are pasted over the dirty papering, and new settees cover the floor that six months ago shook with the dance. About 90 girls have been received since October, of which number the bulk have obtained honest employment, and some have shown evidence of conversion. Not only the already disrepatable, but the tempted have found refuge here. A young woman from Hartford, the other day, on arriving in New York, not finding her aunt, was waylaid by a harpy who tried to get her into Water Street dens, knowing from her rustic appearance that she was unacquainted with city life. Suspecting after awhile that mischief was intended she appealed to a policeman, who at once sent her here where she found Christian friends and a temporary boarding place.

Steinway Hall was filled last night with an enthusiastic crowd of temperance men, on the occasion of the departure of Edward Carswell, the Canadian orator. Strong resolutions were passed, deprecating any change of the excise law, and especially any in the interest of the anti-Sabbath party. An Ojibway chief, Rev. Mr. Chase, a full-blooded Indian, also spoke, and vocal and instrumental music was furnished.

The Fisk assault on the railroad safes makes a nice job for lawyers. Backed by State authority, and with the help of the workmen of Herring, the great safe maker, the books were obtained, but now the United States authorities overrule the proceedings.

The Roman Catholics bought yesterday for $101,600, a piece of property on Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, the most valuable perhaps, ever sold by auction in that city.

The Tribune says "there will be no advance in rents this season; landlords are glad to have their old tenants stay at the old prices. An unusual number of houses are likely to stand empty unless some concession is made." It is time that tenants had relief.

The Appletons have begun this month their new weekly Journal, an elegant work, with steel plates, wood cuts, and other fine illustrations. Popular topics and sketches of an entertaining character form the reading matter. The only wonder is that for a dime so much can be given. DUO ALA.

—A British traveller, walking one day in a suburb of Boston, saw a woman out on a door-step whipping a screaming child. "Good woman," said he, "why do you whip that boy so severely?" "Because he is so ugly."—The Englishman walked on, but put down in his journal, "American mothers are so cruel as to whip their children because they are not handsome."

—At a recent court ball one of the fair queens of society, the wife of a foreign diplomatist, was the object of Bismarck's attentions, and many observed that her beauty had made a great impression on the famous statesman. The Count, with that audacity of conquest which is his especial characteristic, extended his hand to pluck, without leave, a flower from the splendid bouquet which the lady carried. She rapped his knuckles with her fan, saying, "Pardon, Monsieur le Count: but that flower is not a German State. You must ask for it."

Woman and her Needs.

Subject by the law of nature to many physical afflictions from which man is exempt, woman is peculiarly entitled to the best efforts of medical science in her behalf. For a majority of the ailments to which her sex is exclusively liable, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are warmly recommended on the authority of wives, mothers, and nurses, who have tested their genial tonic and regulating properties, and "know whereof they speak;" and also with the sanction of able physicians, who have administered the preparation to their female patients, in obstinate cases of functional derangement, with the happiest results.

Almost all female complaints of a special character are complicated with mental gloom and despondency, and the gentle and lasting exhilarating effects of this wholesome medicated stimulant adapts it eminently for cases of this complex nature. As a remedy for the hysteria and mental hallucinations which sometimes mark both the earlier and the later crisis in the life of woman, it has no equal in the repertory of the healing art, and as a means of relieving the nausea and other unpleasant feelings which precede maternity, it is equally efficacious. Nursing mothers also find it an admirable invigorant. It is highly satisfactory that a preparation which embraces in its remedial range so many of the complaints common to both sexes, should prove so eminently beneficial to the weaker one. ar

equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also make superior articles of

NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lodi produced at the rate of 1 ton more hay per acre than manure had been used for years." They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lyme, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given as good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states *that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla, its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. [From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Then we have never been without it, knowing that in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S REALLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. al 2 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, raises them; it cut up any sore, promotes expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except Iodine (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use, even with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cankers, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to digest food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills to rouse all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the last stage of Pulmonic Consumption, when his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the following medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday, to give advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

It is safe and innocent to supply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. THE PARK.—One of the most active and enterprising old gentlemen in this city, was heard lamenting yesterday, that the Aldermen voted adversely to aiding the scheme for a Common. He has many with him.

And our correspondent "B." in a long communication, urges that such a Park would be a prime step toward making Portsmouth a Newport—and that it would pay in satisfaction, health, and in money. We never had a doubt of it.

☞ Rev. Silas Aiken, D. D., aged 70, died at Rutland, Vt., April 7.—He was a native of Bedford, N. H., a graduate of Dartmouth College in 1825, and of Andover Institution in 1829, when he was ordained at Amherst, was called to Park street Church, Boston, 1837, and in '48 dismissed and settled in Rutland, where he was a Pastor 17 years. He is remembered by some of the elders in this city, as a good singer and teacher of psalmody, and a very genial and pleasant companion.

☞ Haverly's Minstrels, of great fame in this line, announce one of their popular and attractive Concerts for tonight. Their list of performers embraces the great Charley Pettengill and Charley Reynolds; a vocal quartet considered one of the best in the country; and specialities and generalities as good as the best of the kind. This troupe were announced to come some time since, but though defective arrangements of a substitute advance agent, failed to make connections.

G. A. R.—The Rochester, N. H. Courier says, "Rochester ought to have a G. A. R. Post in town, as there are a number of Veterans in Blue among them." Why not have it? the necessary papers for the establishment of it were sent from the Head Quarters in this city more than a year ago. Editor, please stir up the tall and good looking "Noah."

☞ We are informed that Messrs. G. W. & J. S. Peirce, of the Sagamore House, Frost's Point, are not to be the proprietors or managers of the Billiard Saloon, &c., on Vaughan Street—but will remain exclusively at their new and now quite extensive Summer House, the Sagamore.

☞ In the Second Regiment of Volunteer State Militia, Nathaniel Shackford, formerly of Portsmouth, of Lake Village, has been chosen Colonel; M. T. Betton of Portsmouth, Lieut. Colonel, and Charles W. Pickering of Lake Village, Major.

☞ Alfred M. Hoyt, Esq., was on Monday discharged from the Clerkship he has occupied at the Navy Yard for several months.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, April 10.

The Teachers' Institute here last week was well attended, nearly or quite 120 members having been present. The Instructors were all eminently qualified for the parts assigned them, and made their effort to impart knowledge on the science of Teaching, at once pleasing and interesting. [We have before given the names of the Board of Instruction. —Eds.]

The Professors were allowed an hour each, by turns, to give instruction in their various specialties, with appropriate remarks on subjects connected with "teaching the young idea," during the daytime, and in the evening excellent lectures were delivered, which were attentively listened to by quite large audiences.

On Tuesday evening, Prof. Woodman gave an able lecture on the cultivation of the fine arts, in which he demonstrated the necessity of teaching drawing—which he considered the principal basis of the fine arts,—in all our schools. The cultivation of artistic ideas he considers as highly assential to our moral and religious advancement, and the full enjoyment of the beautiful world in which we live.

He would have our rising generation taught to produce the thousand and one pleasing designs for which we depend so largely on other countries. Drawing develops ideas, and would be of the greatest importance to our public speakers, who are too prone to express themselves in words, rather than ideas. It teaches people to be neat and tasteful, and to observe and appreciate countless beautiful and delightful things that would be unnoticed by an uncultivated eye.

A telling lecture on School Government, by Prof. Orcutt, occupied Wednesday evening.

Prof. Johannot, on Thursday evening, delivered a very instructive lecture on "the School in its relations to daily life," in which he held the closest attention of a large audience from beginning to close.

After the lectures, interesting select readings were given by Prof. Barlow, who, as a master of elocution, and delineator of character, won the esteem of all who were fortunate enough to hear him.

Friday evening the Institute closed with a lecture by Hon. Amos Hadley, his subject being Horace Mann,—his life, and inestimable services in behalf of Education. Mr. H. gave an interesting account of Mr. Mann's labors as Secretary of the Mass., Board of Education, and his herculean efforts in correcting abuses and improving the common school system. Mr. Mann was the "creature of education, and the apostle of common schools." He it was who, in 1839, at Lexington, Mass., inaugurated the first normal school on this side the Atlantic. The hall was well filled by a highly appreciative audience, and Mr. Hadley was listened to with marked attention throughout.

The Institute has been a complete success, and the thanks of all interested in the great cause of education are due to our energetic State Superintendent, Hon. Amos Hadley, for the thorough manner in which the arrangements were perfected and carried out.

Fast day was observed after the usual manner. A union meeting was held in the First Congregational church, and an eloquent sermon was delivered by Rev. J. O. Barrows, on the subject, "Party and Politics."

The Velocipede rinks are closed, and, since our streets have afforded good travelling, bicycles are in quite common use, several of our citizens making their daily visits to the post office on their velocipedes. The Exeter Machine Works turn out large numbers for the Boston market.

The April Trial Term of the Sup. Jud. Court will commence here on Tuesday, 13th inst. Considerable interest attaches to the fact that at this term an investigation will be made into the conduct of one of the members of the Rockingham Bar, against whom charges were preferred, last October, of dishonest and dishonorable actions in the practice of his profession. It is rumored that an amount of testimony has been secured that can scarcely fail to result in his expulsion from the Bar. H.

☞ The Excursion of the Philharmonic Society to Newburyport on Wednesday next, affords a rare opportunity for others also, not members, to visit that city. See advertisement.

☞ Adjourned Meeting of Mercantile Library Association, for Election of Officers, Wednesday Evening, April 14.

☞ Dr. Dessauer, the Occulist, announces to arrive in town to day, for a three days, stay only at the Franklin House.

A Shiftless Man.—In the spring of 1841 I was searching for a studio in which to set up my easel. Mr. "house-hunting" ended at the New York University, where I found what I wanted in one of the turrets of that stately edifice. When I had fixed my choice the janitor, who accompanied me in my examination of the rooms, threw open a door on the opposite side of the hall and invited me to enter. I found myself in what was evidently an artist's studio, but every object in it bore indubitable evidence of unthrift and neglect. The statuettes, busts, and models of various kinds were covered with dust and cobwebs; dusty canvases were faced to the wall, and stumps of brushes and scraps of paper littered the floor. The only signs of industry consisied of a few masterly crayon drawings and little luscious studies of color pinned to the wall.

"You will have an artist for a neighbor," said the janitor, "though he is not here much of late; he seems to be getting rather shiftless; he is wasting his time over some silly invention, a machine by which he expects to send messages from one place to another. He is a very good painter, and might do well if he would only stick to his business; but, Lord!" he added, with a sneer of supreme contempt, "the idea of telling by a little streak of lightning what a body is saying at the other end of it!—His friends think he is crazy on the subject, and are trying to dissuade him from it, but he persists in it until he is almost ruined."

Judge of my astonishment when he informed me that the "shiftless" individual, whose foolish waste of time so excited his commiseration, was none other than the President of the National Academy of Design—the most exalted position, in my youthful artistic fancy, it was possible for mortal to attain—S. F. B. Morse, since much better known as the inventor of the electric telegraph. But a little while after this his fame was flashing through the world, and the unbelievers who voted him insane were forced to confess that there was at least "method in his madness."—Editor's Drawer, Harper's Magazine.

The Fifteenth Amendment.—Incorrect and incomplete lists have been published of the States which have acted upon the proposed Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution. The following statement has been carefully prepared, and is believed to be correct: Kansas ratified the Amendment Feb. 27; Louisiana and Nevada, March 1; Missouri, March 2; West Virginia, March 3; North Carolina, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, March 5; Maine and South Carolina, March 11; Massachusetts, March 12; Arkansas, March 15; and Pennsylvania, March 25.

The Assembly of New-York ratified the amendment March 17; it is yet to be acted upon by the Senate. The legislatures of Missouri, Kansas and Nevada, in their haste to act upon the amendment previous to adjournment, ratified a telegraphic report of it, and, as there were errors in that copy, their action is declared to be incomplete. This being the case, the legislatures of those States must again act upon the amendment at their next session.

The legislatures of Georgia and Delaware, on the 18th of March rejected resolutions ratifying the amendment. The Legislature of Rhode Island postponed its consideration until May. Several Democratic members of the Indiana Legislature resigned their seats in that body to prevent, through lack of a quorum, the ratification of the amendment.—New York Times.

—The venerable Sledge, after a life of extravagant attempts at joking, has applied for admission to the society for decayed punsters. When not more than eleven years of age, he was one day missing, whereat great anxiety was felt by his parents and friends. They searched for him high and low, but could see nothing of him. At last they bethought themselves of a well that was partly dug on the side of a hill that was behind the house, and going there, they saw young Sledge at the bottom, digging vigorously into the gravel. "What are you doing down there, you young scamp?" said his maternal, looking over the edge of the gulf. "I am doing well," he replied, with a grin, digging into the dirt. He was soon pulled to the surface, and was tenderly received on his mother's knee, face down.

—The preacher to the free religionists of Chicago on Sunday last was a Mr. Balch, formerly of Wisconsin. Among the ideas put forward by him was one that the real Holy Ghost is oxygen, and he added that "it is the indwelling spirit of the vital air we breathe. It enters into the composition of the food we eat, the ground on which we walk. In oxygen we live and move and have our being. In Genesis, Chapter I., we read the spirit or breath of God moved upon the face of the deep. The Rauch Elohim, the breath of God, the Spirit of God, was the wind or oxygen in motion." The preacher also declared that "the destroying carbonic acid gas is the real unholy ghost."

The Most Pointed Remarks in regard to Women Suffrage that we have heard, came from the lips of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, at the Legislative hearing, Tuesday. She said she was glad to hear Mr. Phillips say that women were no better than men. No good was done to the cause of women by their being painted in such angelic colors by unwise but enthusiastic champions. Women would make politics better, not because they were better than men, but because they were half. In music they were half the key-board. In politics the country now had the bass. [Laughter.] Women could give the treble, and so a perfect harmony would result. Charleston Adv.

Potash as a Fertilizer. — Potash forms one of the most essential constituents of a fertile soil, and one of the most important of all the fertilizing agents within reach of the agriculturist. In many plants it constitutes more than one-half of their ash, and in most at least one-third. In neutralizing acids in the soil, and in the liberation of ammonia, it acts in the same manner as lime, but when it is desired to simply effect these last mentioned objects, the latter should be used, as being cheaper; and potash, generally available in the form of ashes, should be applied as a manure, using the word in its strictest sense, to indicate a substance that contributes directly to building up the structure of the plants. But considerable care should be exercised in the use of ashes, and they should never, as is the practice with some in manuring corn in the hill, be mixed with guano or the refuse of the hen-roost, inasmuch as the first rain that dissolves them will cause the potash to displace the ammonia, in the same manner that lime displaces it from barnyard manure and similar manures as we have just mentioned.

—An extensive fruit grower who within a few years has set out thirty thousand trees, says that as to peaches, pears and plums, he would prefer them at one year old, and the apples at two years. Much depends on future cultivation.

—In pruning very young pear trees, the object should be to encourage the growth of wood in proper directions, rather than the production of fruit at the expense of retarding the development of the trees.

The Chronicle.

THE PROFESSOR AND THE ACTOR.—Dr. Popkin, one of the most accomplished Greek scholars in America, was one of the most eccentric men of the day. He was one of the most artless men in the world, very fond of a good joke, pun or bon-mot—but always sure to spoil one in repeating it. Finn, the actor, was remarkable for his witty sayings; and on one occasion made a pun which delighted the doctor. The well known Tom Comer (Honest Tom, as his friends called him) had been announced to play in the peice of "Orpheus and Eurydice." The theatre was crowded, but the actor had not arrived from Providence.

The stage from that place to Boston was in; for, at that time, there was no rail or telegraph communication between the two places. Finn, the manager, was in great despair, as the house had begun to manifest its impatience; when to his great delight and relief, the actor rode up to the theatre door. No sooner had he alighted than Finn accosted him, "So, Mr. Comer, you have come to play Orpheus and—you rid, I see."

Dr. Popkin was delighted with this, and, as it was somewhat in his line, he undertook to repeat the joke a few days afterward to some of the faculty of the University. After stating all the previous circumstances, he said: "Mr. Finn addressed the actor thus: 'So, Mr. Comer, you have come to play Orpheus—and you have come on horseback, I see!'"

It is needless to say that the faculty did not perceive anything witty or funny in Mr. Finn's speech, and so Prof. Popkin's joke came off lamely.

HOW TO TREAT THE HAIR.—Dr. Cazenave, of the hospital of St. Louis, Paris, gives some clear instructions on the management of the hair. He says:—'Pass a fine-tooth comb, at regular intervals every twenty-four hours, thro' the hair, in order to keep it from matting or entangling; separate the hairs carefully and repeatedly, so as to allow the air to pass through them for several minutes; use a brush that will serve the double purpose of cleansing the scalp and gently stimulating the hair bulbs.

Before going to bed, it will be desirable to part the hair evenly, so as to avoid false folds, or what is commonly called turning against the grain, which might even cause the hairs to break.—Such are the usual and ordinary requirements for the management of the hair. There is, on the other hand, a class of persons who carry to excess the dressing and adornment of the hair, especially those who are gifted with hair of the finest quality.

Thus, for example, some females are in the habit, during the ordinary operations of the toilet, of dragging and twisting the hair, so as to almost draw the skin with it; the effect of which is, in the first instance, to break the hairs and fatigue the scalp, and finally to alter the bulb itself. The fine tooth comb is also freely used, especially where the hair is divided,—a part that the most particular attention seems to be bestowed upon. These separations and the back of the neck, whence the hair is drawn, by females, towards the crown of the head, are the parts which first show signs of decay or falling off of the hair.

It seems, therefore, that the most healthy mode of dressing the hair of females, especially young ones, is to let the hair be as loose as possible, or arranged in large bands, so as to allow the air to pass through them. We may here mention that it is a great mistake to plait the hair of children under twelve years of age. The process of plaiting more or less strains the hairs in their roots, by pulling them tight; tends to deprive them of the requisite amount of nutriment, and checks their growth.

The hair of girls should only be nipped, and allowed to curl freely.—When they are about ten or twelve, the hair should be twisted in a coil, not too tight, nor tied at the end with thin thread, but with a piece of ribbon.

GENERAL LONGSTREET.—Ex-Confederates tell us that they feel badly because they are not appointed to office; because they are not eligible to places of trust and profit. They allege that they are unjustly debarred from these places. Yet these same men are violently opposing the appointment of General Longstreet, and abusing him for consenting to accept a lucrative place under the Government. The cause of this inconsistency is that General Longstreet has been thoroughly reconstructed, and is in harmony with the Federal Government. If he was still contumacious, and still held out his opposition to the policy of the Government, he would be a good fellow, and in the opinion of his old friends, worthy of a first-rate place.—Galveston, Texas, Bulletin.

—An Arab woman was asked: "What do you think of a young man of twenty years?" "He is," she said, "a bouquet of jasmine." "And a man of thirty?" "He is a ripe and well-flavored fruit." "And a man of forty?" "He is a father of boys and girls." "And one of fifty?" "He may pass into the category of preachers." "And one of sixty?" "He is good for nought but to cough and groan."

CONGRESSIONAL SPICE.—Previous to the adjournment of the House on Saturday Mr. Logan of Ill. asked Mr. Schenck whether he alluded to him in speaking of those "who insinuate lies, and thus add cowardice to falsehood."

Mr. Schenck—No, sir.

Mr. Butler—I ask the gentleman whether the Pharisee did not say, "I thank God that I am not like other men?"

Mr. Schenck—I think it very probable. Anything that hypocrisy may have uttered, I dare say, will be familiar to the gentleman, in whatever form it may come. As far as any imputations are attempted to be cast upon me personally, or on the committee of ways and means, or on the conference committee, they are only the conception of base minds which charge others with what they are conscious of being capable themselves, and therefore they find warrant for what they say in their own capacity for evil.

Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my trouble. This was some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can examine my case who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY,

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1869.

The News.

The Gardiner Reporter takes pains to deny the report, of the arrest of an aged woman in Boston and her conveyance to Gardiner on the charge of having murdered her husband,—and so the romance, about her poisoning four husbands, is utterly ruined, by having the bottom knocked out.

Mr. John A. Coleman has recovered $3300 damages from the New York and New Haven Railroad, for being forcibly ejected from the cars while attempting to pass over the road from New York to New Haven on a coupon ticket which gave him the right to pass from New Haven to New York.

The Indiana House of Representatives was organized on Monday, and at once passed a resolution postponing action on the fifteenth amendment until May 10th. When this fact was made known the democratic senators took their seats, were qualified, and the regular business in both branches was proceeded with.

The Gold Hill mine fires in Nevada have been smothered.

Andrew Johnson has given up his European tour, and will stump the South for recreation.

The Deaks are triumphant in the Hungary elections. Is it worse or better for the Deaks or the Huns?

12,000 allies are to search Paraguay for Lopez.

Covington, Ky., has banished dogs from its streets.

Fisk, Jr., hasn't bought the New York Times.

Mr. E. N. Emerson, who has been chief engineer on the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad, has recently accepted the same position on the Knox and Lincoln Railroad, and will enter upon his duties at once.

Two slavers containing one hundred and fifty slaves have been captured by the British ship Penguin near Madagascar.

It is reported by a Minnesota paper that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company has secured sufficient funds to construct one or two hundred miles of road, and that it will immediately begin operations at the Western or Pacific terminus.

☞ The President sent the following nominations to the Senate on Tuesday; J. Lothrop Motley of Mass., to be Minister to England; Leopold Markbreit of Ohio, to be Minister Resident to Bolivia; James R. Kirk of Ohio, to be Minister Resident to the Argentine Republic; Stephen A. Hurlburt, Minister Resident to Bogota; Silas A. Hudson (colored) of Iowa, Minister Resident to Guatemala; Ebenezer D. Bassett (colored) of Pennsylvania, Minister Resident and Consul-General to Hayti; Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania, to be Minister to Russia: John Jay of New York, to be Minister to Austria.

THE SENATE on Tuesday ratified three treaties with Belgium, namely, one defining the rights of naturalized citizens, one for the protection of trade-marks, and one enlarging the powers of consuls, and one with Wurtemburg. The rest of the day was spent on the Darien ship-canal treaty. This will not be ratified as it now stands, but may be conditionally agreed to with amendments. The trouble with it, as the senators say, is that it involves the expenditure of over $100,000,000, though this statement seems incredible.

☞ On Tuesday the following were among the nominations sent to the Senate: Thomas H. Nelson of Indiana, to be Minister to Mexico; Horace Rubler of Wisconsin, to be Minister to Switzerland; Freeman H. Moore of Maine, to be Consul-General at London.

FACTORIES IN GEORGIA.—The Augusta (Ga.) Sentinel says there are twelve cotton mills in that region which draw their supplies from that cotton market, which aggregate over 70,000 spindles and over 1600 looms, demanding a minimum average for daily supply of more than ninety bales of raw cotton. All of these mills are prosperous and prospering, making good dividends for the owners.

The snow remains in the northern Counties, as yet; and hay is very scarce in some towns.—In one of them, a farmer has been feeding his sheep on Hops, in part, and they have improved.

Joseph Shelly has been appointed Postmaster at Westmoreland, in place of Bradley Leach, resigned; James H. Kelley, Postmaster at Canaan, in place of M. H. Milton, removed.

A few evenings since in Greenfield, a man and his son, named Haskell, aged respectively about 70 and 18, were called upon by about thirty men and boys and treated to a ride upon a rail, a distance of about one and one-half miles, to the village, for the alleged crime of abuse of the wife and mother.

Connecticut— better! So says the Nashua Telegraph. Her recovery may be attributed to the visit of Dr. Harriman of this State, by whom she was well dosed.

Rev. M. A. Dougherty commenced his labors with the Baptist church in Great Falls on the 11th inst.

Rev. R. M. Sargent has asked a dismissal from the pastorate of the Congregational church at Boscawen.

The Monitor says that H. A. Pice, Esq., of Henniker, has a pair of colts, two years old in May next, which weigh 1050 pounds each, and are beautifully matched for color and shape. There is only a week's difference in their ages.

Mr. Frederic A. Cutter, of Pelham, has lost two wives and two children, in the space of two and a half years, each wife leaving at her death an infant child, which survived but a short time.

The Telegraph complains that people are driven from Nashua, by exorbitant rents.

The first locomotive boiler ever built in Concord, has just been completed at the boiler shop of the Northern Railroad. It weighs 14,000 pounds, and can bear a pressure of 240 pounds to the square inch.

On Saturday, a hundred and forty Swedish emigrants passed through Concord to the north; on the evening train. Most of them were bound for the realms of Brigham. They were a neat, likely looking class of people. Poor dupes.

Wm. W. George, Esq., of Canaan, has a cow which calved on the 11th of February, and the first cream for butter was taken on the 16th. Up to April 1st they had made 59 3-4 lbs of butter, being a period of six weeks and one day, and with a family of five grown persons. On two occasions 113-4 lbs were churned in a week.

James Gardner was drowned at Thornton's Ferry on the 8th inst. While under the effect of liquor, he attempted to cross the river in a small boat, which he was unable to manage, fell out and was drowned. His body was recovered. Some criminals have just gone into the State's Prison at Concord, viz.:—Thos. Heath of Warner, for rape, 10 years; Henry A. Kelly, of Canterbury, 2 years; Wm. Kirley, of Concord, entering store with intent to steal, 1 year; Josiah Wiggin, Sanbornton, stealing, 3 years.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN THE FOURTH ARTILLERY.—Lieutenant Everett, of the 4th U. S. Artillery, stationed at Fort Washington, gives us the following account of the death of his classmate and messmate, Lieut. Casey, of the same regiment, which happened a few days ago while the battalion was on drill under his charge. The report says:

"He was drilling the battalion at firing without cartridges, and by some chance there was one gun in the whole battalion loaded, and when he gave the command "fire," this gun was aimed directly at his head. He was standing within ten feet of the company. The bullet entered his left eye and came out at the side of his head. He lived about four hours, but was never conscious for a moment.

His wife, to whom he had been married but three months, heard the report of the gun, came out and saw her husband dying on the ground. It was a scene I never want to see repeated."

It was a singular affair, a man giving the order for his own death, and suggests a possibility of a design on the part of some soldier, though Lt. Casey was an accomplished officer, and a general favorite. Lieut. Everett, who had charge of the remains, accompanying them to New York, where he belonged, is from Manchester.—Mirror.

The Purest and Safest.

The efficacy of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have."

But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a PREPARATORY ANTIDOTE to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is the HOUSEHOLD TONIC of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The Scientific World recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales. a13

TO FARMERS.

The Lodi Manufacturing Co. invite Farmers and others using Manures, to send for a pamphlet descriptive of their Fertilizers. They offer their DOUBLE REFINED POUDRETTE, equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also make superior articles of NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We quote from the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of lime paid us full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used it on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lyme, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given as good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remains of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLESPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he thinks that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic, with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unbearable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

OF THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S BOUQUET TRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. al2 2m

Allcock's Porous Plaster.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this celebrated plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this moment of writing a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever."

LETTER FROM DR. FULLER OF BERKSHILL.

Thomas Allcock & Co. Gentlemen:—Since my severe accident I have used as an application to the bruised parts your admirable Plaster.

It has had an excellent effect, soothing while drawing out the soreness and sustaining and strengthening the part upon which it is applied.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of this fearful disease. Night after night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the Pain Killer. He had heard of it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. al2 2m

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and are very palatable. Those bitters are recommended to all persons desiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects; which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which the Iron Bitters will give.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, and the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to dry the chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the causes, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally consult Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 32 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

1802. 1847. 1868.

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after other means had failed, the attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle in London. I have offered £100 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. Price, 25 cents and one dollar. Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. m20

THE BEAUTIFUL.—Messrs. Editors:—The City Authorities have given, conditionally, three thousand dollars towards the funds for the talked-of Park; * and they have also given permission for the erection, at its very Entrance, near the Universalist church, of a Water cistern, to be mounted some ten feet above the surface, over the Reservoir, which eyesore to every one passing through Pleasant St., destructive of the most beautiful view we have in the city, is now being erected.—If this is done with the view of disgusting all interested in the proposed Park, it will doubtless be effectual. CONSISTENCY.

ODD FELLOWS' SEMI-CENTENARY CELEBRATION. — Arrangements are being made to celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of the foundation of Odd Fellowship in this country, on Monday, April 26, in Manchester. Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, have voted to attend the celebration. The programme arranged provides for a reception of visiting Encampments and Lodges at Manchester, a free collation and a procession to the Church, where the services will consist of a voluntary by the choir, an oration, and benediction by the Grand Chaplain. In the evening there will be a festival at Smyth's Hall. The entertainment will consist of Tableaux, social recreation, music and dancing.

Arrangements have been made with the Concord Railroad to carry at reduced fare. Aa extra train will be run to Portsmouth after the festival. The brethren of the order will appear in their Regalia. We learn that the Portsmouth Cornet Band will furnish the music for the Portsmouth Encampment.

DEATH OF ADELAIDE EVANS.—She was the daughter of Mrs. Pyke, for whose murder Pyke has been committed to the jail in Fitchburg, to await the investigation of his case by the Grand Jury, the second Monday in May.—Miss Evans was committed at the same time as an important witness in the case; but at the suggestion of a prosecuting officer, she was bailed out, and taken by a state constable to Boston, and placed in a charitable institution, adapted to such cases. She gave birth to a child, which did not live; and she herself died. It is understood that she reiterated her former statements in regard to a long-continued criminal intimacy between Pyke and herself. How her death will affect the trial of Pyke, remains to be seen, if the Grand Jury shall find evidence enough to hold him for trial.—Worcester Palladium.

We noticed the statement made some time ago, that some of these guilty parties belonged in this city, and thought its truth was doubtful. But we have been told recently, that Mrs. P. (then the widow Evans,) lived in this place, several years ago; and when Mr. P. was but 19 years old, she, being much older, plied him with liquor, got him drunk, and persuaded him into marriage with her. Their subsequent career, now notorious, is a natural sequence of such a commencement.

☞ J. F. Shores, jr., at the Congress Block Book Store has received an invoice of Wendell's Improved School Slate, with Elastic Cushions—which is a decided improvement over any we have seen previously. Mr. Shores has Taber's Slate Pencils for sale—an excellent article.

EXPOSURE OF CRIME.—One night in January, 1868, Samuel Ketchum, then treasurer of Coshocton county, Ohio, was found in his office, tied hand and foot, gagged, and considerably bruised, the safe unlocked and about $20,000 of the county funds gone. Ketchum stated that he had been set upon by robbers, who beat and bound him, robbed the safe, and then made their escape. The county authorities expended $2000 in endeavoring to discover the thieves, but finding no clue, gave the matter up. About a year ago a suit for borrowed money was brought against Ketchum, the ex-treasurer, by James Brown, one of the leading citizens of that county, a man reputed to be worth over a hundred thousand dollars, and this led to the exposure of the whole matter connected with the robbery. Ketchum at once made a clean breast of it. The plot to rob the safe was concocted between himself and Brown. After they had secured the money Brown, in order to disarm suspicion, bound and gagged Ketchum, and left him in the condition in which he was found on the night of the robbery. Brown was arrested, and at the trial, which he managed to get deferred till last week, he was convicted and sentenced to ten years in the Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $40,000.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ The Boston Advertiser's Washington special says:

The project of Canadian annexation, in the settlement of the Alabama claims, with the joint consent of England and the Colonies, begins to attract attention in government and diplomatic circles, and is by some regarded as likely to become a prominent feature of General Grant's administration. The views expressed on this subject by part of the American press, the favorable response of the English newspapers and the demand for annexation among the colonies, especially Nova Scotia, have encouraged belief in the feasibility of the scheme, if managed with diplomatic tact and a careful regard to English honor.

Objections to the possibility of the accomplishment, and doubts as to the policy and safety of such an enlargement of the republic are strongly urged by individuals but it is confidently asserted by others that public opinion is setting in favor of our acceptance of Canada, should it be tendered by Great Britain, as the surest mode of harmonizing the interests and ending the jealousies between the two countries, and affording the basis of a permanent and cordial peace.

THE BURGLARS who successfully robbed the Beneficial Savings Fund in Philadelphia, on Sunday, of over a million dollars in money and bonds, effected an entrance from a stairway leading to a billiard room in the same building.

Of all the heavy robberies from which the public have lately suffered, none has been attended with anything like the disastrous consequences which will result from this. The property was in charge of the Beneficial Safety Fund Society of Philadelphia, a catholic institution, managing it for the benefit of about three thousand depositors, all of the more humble classes, from sewing girls to male and female servants and day laborers.

If the disaster teaches to Savings Institutions the lesson that a large part of their funds will be more safe in real estate mortgages than in bonds, it will not be without its salutary use.—Salem Gazette.

THE PRESIDENT'S HEALTH AND HABITS.—The Chicago Advance has a good correspondent in Washington, as reliable as any. He wrote, on the 2d inst., as follows:

The President's health has been affected by the cares of his position and a few days ago there was considerable anxiety about him. He is working very hard, giving up from twelve to fifteen hours to public business, but he is regular in his habit, sleeps well, has a sound digestion and is temperate in all things, unless it be in the consumption of cigars, and he has a constitution of iron. With ordinary care he will go through the summer without breaking down, and if he does that the danger from the office-seekers will be passed.

SINGULAR INCIDENT.—One of the amusing incidents connected with the recent poultry show was a certain decision of the jury. There were other unexpected results, though most of them were very just. This one was an exception, and is worthy of notice. A citizen had a fine flock of birds of a certain variety, but his lot was marred by a few of inferior character, which he did not like to kill, but was willing to give away. Accordingly he presented to a neighbor a few fowls, among them being one or two "crook-backed" or "one-sided" specimens. The new owner took a trio to the show and with them won a prize over those birds from which they were culled. It was a practical joke, which the original owner enjoyed as much as the successful competitor.—Manchester Mirror.

PRINCELY MUNIFICENCE.—It is announced in the New York Herald that Mr. A. T. Stewart, (the New York merchant whom President Grant selected for his Secretary of the Treasury,) will erect at an expense of $6,000,000, two magnificent hotels, one for young men, and one for young women, and furnish them throughout, that young persons of those classes, employed in that city, may have better places to live in than they now have. The expense of living in them is to be moderate.

—Auditor William Ritchie of the Boston and Albany Railroad has just returned from a brief sojourn at the South, chiefly in North Carolina. He thinks things in the old North State look promising, socially and agriculturally. Several days were spent at the house of a friend near the village of Warrenton, in Warren county. The planter, whose domain measures 3000 acres, had 37 hands at work preparing 500 acres for corn and 200 for cotton. He liked the new system of labor well, and thought it paid the owners of lands better to have them tilled by freemen than slaves.

—It was lately announced on posters to the people of South London, that at a revival meeting to be held in a hall, a certain converted burglar would "break open the doors of hell with a gospel jimmy."

—A notice of a birth in a London paper has appended to it these words: "Mr. Forbes (the father of the child) requests the prayers of his friends and acquaintances in this sore affliction."

—Application has made been to the superintendent of the lunatic asylum in Lexington, Kentucky, for quarters for the Hon. Pierre Soule.

—One hundred thousand volumes of works by Hugh Miller have been published in Edinburgh.

CEMENT FOR LEATHER.—Of many substances lately brought very conspicuously to notice for fastening pieces of leather together, and in mending harness, joining machinery belting, and making shoes, one of the best is made by mixing ten parts of sulphide of carbon with one of oil of turpentine, and then adding enough gutta percha to make a tough, thickly-flowing liquid. One essential prerequisite to a thorough union of the parts consists in freedom of the surfaces to be joined from grease. This may be accomplished by laying a cloth upon them, and applying a hot iron for a time. The cement is then applied to both pieces, the surfaces brought in contact, and pressure applied until the joint is dry.

—A girl of Lombardy, running after her donkey, which was in haste to get up to her foal, passed a gentleman on the road, who, seeing her look very buxom, and having a mind to be very witty, called out—"Whence do you come, sweetheart?" "From Villejuiff, sir," said she. "From Villejuif!" answered the gentleman; "do you know ing of Nicholas Gillot, who lives there?" "Very well," replied the girl. "Be so kind, then," replied he, "as to carry her a kiss from me," and throwing his arms around her neck, was about to salute her. "Hold, sir!" cried the girl, disengaging herself from his rude embrace; "since you are in such a hurry, it will be better to kiss my donkey, as she will be there sometime before me!"

—An advanced young woman, of seven or eight summers, had been brought up to "go to meetin'," and consequently was ignorant of the doctrinal significance of the terms High Church, Low Church, Broad Church, Ritualism, &c., &c. She had been taken by a friend to an Episcopal Church on a Communion Sunday, and, on her return home, was asked by her father how she liked the service. She replied, "I don't like to go to a place where the minister has to change his shirt three times during the meeting!"

The Chronicle.

THE MARRIAGE OF PRIESTS IN ITALY. The Naples correspondent of the London Times describes a trial of the utmost interest, which took place before the Neapolitan Court of Appeals, the question being the legality of the marriage of priests.

Luigi Treglia, a young man in priest's orders in Salerno, was engaged to marry Marianna Montefusco, but the father interfered on the ground of his being in sacred orders, and the Judges of the Tribunal of Salerno forbade the officers of the civil status of Vietri and Cava to take any step in such marriage, and directed that the promise of marriage given should be erased from the registers.

Against this decision the Sposi appealed to the Naples Courts. The case excited immense interest, and not only was the Court densely crowded, but all the passages leading to it, by intelligent and respectable young men, on whom the future of Italy must depend. Counsel argued that celibacy was in perfect contradiction to the nature of man, to the divine word revealed in the Scriptures, and to the example of Christ, who selected for His disciples and apostles married men, except John and Paul, according to the testimony of St. Ambrose and St. Hilary. [Shouts of applause and vivas.] The idea of celibacy had been conceived to serve the unbridled ambition of the Stephens, the Gregorys, and the Innocents.

The advocate for the opposite party contended that the practice of several centuries was opposed to any change.

The Attorney-General followed in a speech full of eloquence, and distinguished by the most liberal spirit. The acclamations were so frequent and fervid that it was difficult to follow the thread of the speech. At the end hats were lifted, vivas were shouted, and a universal clapping of hands ensued, such as I have only seen in the enthusiastic audience of a theatre. Long and loud it continued; the demonstration was beyond the power of the priests to stop, and numbers came up to congratulate and thank the Attorney-General. What will be the judgment of the Court it is impossible to say. I expect that the marriage of priests will receive the highest sanction of the law.

IS IT RIGHT TO BE RICH?—The now venerable but still energetic Lewis Tappan of Brooklyn, N. Y., has published, for almost gratuitous circulation, a pamphlet in answer to this question—giving his views, after sixty years of experience of the world, as to what is Christian duty in the way of acquiring and spending money. Many of his suggestions are pungent and practical. The only difficulty is getting his system into action against the weakness human nature has for real and personal estate, big fortunes and big incomes therefrom. He addresses chiefly a class within the church, admonishing them with a fraternal frankness; and it would do them no harm individually to heed his emphatic exhortation to use and not abuse profitable traffic. There are enough and too many persons in the world who unconsciously and illogically make the distinction once avowed by a new convert. He was speaking of the change he had met with to a friend who had been one of his patiently waiting creditors. The friend ventured to hint that now perhaps he would see the propriety of paying up. "Oh! was the instant reply, "I don't know about that. Religion is religion, and business is business." As to the world's people—well, Wall street is certainly missionary grounds, and whoever can check the eagerness of the lust of gain in this country will deserve a monument to his memory as a benefactor of the republic.

—With the May meetings of the Presbyterian General Assemblies near at hand, it is still doubtful whether they will agree to re-union. With some of the Old School leaders vehemently demanding that the New School retract its distinctive views, as a condition of reunion, and the New School leaders demanding pledges of unqualified recognition of their right to hold and to teach the very opinions which the others claim to be untenable, it seems to be an open question whether union is desirable quite yet.

SENATOR SPRAGUE, of Rhode Island, keeps making a strange exposure of mental idiosyncracies, in speech and print. When it was but a single exceptional case, the natural apology seemed to be an accidental lapse from strict sobriety. But persistence and continuance of such folly can only be accounted for on the supposition of some more serious hallucination.—Salem Gazette.

—In the course of his last speech Senator Sprague said his ideas had been "put in shape" by somebody more familiar than he with the use of words and construction of sentences. After this discovery, that besides the man who delivers these harangues there is another who writes them, the Boston Advertiser professes its willingness to believe that there may be a third who reads them.

—The Provincial Bishop of Fredericton lately told some of his people that "he would rather see a congregation worshiping in a hut, or in the open air, than in a building erected by means raised at pic-nics, tea-meetings, bazars and races. The steps that have been taken in late years towards raising money for church purposes are such as to excite no wonder if open unblushing gambling be adopted a few years hence."

REVIVALS.—The New York Herald, in its last religious summary, sets the number of conversions by recent revivals in this country at nearly 9000. Of these 4179 are among the Methodists, 1660 among the Baptists, 900 among the Congregationalists, 525 among the United Brethren and 500 among the Presbyterians.

—Kansas has appropriated $1400 to buy tobacco for the prisoners in the State penitentiary, and $300 to pay the salary of the chaplain.

(None of this is in the Note-of-hand of Policy-holders, as in many other Companies.)
Its Annual Income, - - $5,000,000.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made my years of life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The News.

The Senate rejected the Alabama Treaty, on Tuesday by a vote of 57 to 1, the negative vote being cast by Mr. McCreery of Kentucky, who took this course from pure contrariness so that no one could say that the rejection was unanimous. Senator Sumner made a candid, clear and judicious speech of two hours against the ratification of the treaty.

The town of Hancock, Michigan, was almost wholly destroyed by fire on Sunday last, and the loss will amount to nearly half a million dollars.

Senator Ross of Kansas one of the anti-impeaching renegade Republicans, was impudent to President Grant a day or two since and was ordered out of the President's office.

The recent elections for the Portuguese Cortes favor the government.

200 people with a brass band serenaded Senator Sprague at Washington, Tuesday evening, and gave him three faint cheers.

The House census committee have had two meetings since the adjournment of Congress, and will appoint a sub-committee of five to examine into matters and report early next winter, so that action may be had as soon as possible.

Admiral Hoff reports to the Navy Department from the mouth of the Mississippi River that he has not been able to learn anything about the rumored filibustering expedition to Cuba, and would at once return to Havana.

Mr. Sumner estimates our losses by rebel privateers from British ports at $110,000,000.

The time between the termini of the Union and Central Pacific Railroad is reduced to twenty-four hours.

The Havana journals praise the course pursued in reference to Cuba by the American government. Advices from Puerto Principe represent provisions very scarce and say that meat and fowls are selling at fabulous prices. It is reported that a Spanish war steamer has captured a schooner laden with arms for the insurgents, on the south side of the island. The crew of the Mary Lowell have been released. They state that the vessel was seized by a Spanish man-of-war within a mile of the shore.

Town elections in New Jersey show Republican gains.

The Indians in Humboldt County, California, are again on the war path. They recently made a raid on the settlers near Camp Grant. A party of friendly Indians and soldiers repulsed the hostile band. One soldier was killed. Late advices from the North say that the Indians in the neighborhood of Fort Smith are fighting among themselves.

The new pit of the Albion coal mines, at Picton, N. S., has taken fire by an explosion of gas, and at last accounts the conflagration was still raging. The cost of the works was over $150,000.

Jalapa has quaked a little.

A Boston merchant, just returned from Cuba, thinks the rebellion is a fizzle.

New Hampshire Items.

Charles E. Merrill of Meredith Village went into the woods Tuesday morning and by accident felled a tree on his son, ten years of age, splitting his head completely open. The father brought his dead child from the woods in his arms.

Edward Judkins of Concord, defeated democratic candidate for commissioner of Merrimac County, has made in the Supreme Court a remonstrance against receiving the vote of one ward in Concord, alleging that more votes were declared than there were names checked.

John E. Larkin, who was arrested in Chicago in February, and known as the "Suncook eloper," has been convicted as accessory to the theft of $315 from the girl's father, and sentenced to five years in the State prison.

☞ The Bangor Whig says the buildings of Solomon Hall in Lincoln were all burned to the ground last Monday night week, at about nine o'clock. The buildings consisted of a newly finished house, a shed, and two barns. All his stock, consisting of eleven head of horned cattle and some sheep, was destroyed, and about all his farming tools.

☞ Brig Birchard & Torrey, from Portland for Charleston, was towed into Norfolk 12th inst., by steamer Isaac Bell, with loss of anchors.

—A cougar upwards of nine feet in length has been killed in Omaha.

BUSINESS.—Six hundred men are now at work at Providence on locomotives for the Pacific Railroad.

During last year ten thousand ploughs were manufactured in Des Moines, Iowa, for use in the State, and twice as many will be made there this year.

Messrs. Pratt, Whitney & Company of Hartford, a few days since received a foreign order for $30,000 worth of machinists' tools, lathes, etc., which will require some time to fill. They will soon enlarge their works by adding a foundry for making their own castings. They intend shortly to increase their capital to $400,000 and make a joint stock company.

A new and very important invention of a New Haven man is a shoe machine, which, it is predicted, will work a revolution in the manufacture of shoes. It is exciting the attention of shoe men in all parts of the country. A straight needle is employed and a waxed thread, and with it one man can sew six hundred pairs a day. By the laborious hand system six or eight pairs is a good day's work. No other machine of the kind, as far as it is known, exists.

TRADE IN ENGLAND.—English papers speak of low condition of trade, particularly those in which cotton forms the staple of manufacture. In Scotland muslin weaving is extremely dull, and thousands are out of employment. The Liverpool Post of the 22d ult. says that on the previous Saturday, in one district alone, 4271 persons, 970 of whom were able bodied workmen, received parochial relief. Gloomy and distressing accounts of the homes of the operatives are given by those in the habit of visiting, and the prospect is in no respect reassuring. Where men, by association and otherwise, can manage to raise the means, they have determined to emigrate to this country; and one of the Manchester papers favors this movement, but warns such as may join it that they had better leave their trade-striking theories and practices behind them as reports from Englishmen in America are not very favorable regarding their policy or success.

THE TWITCHELL MURDER CASE.—Mrs. Twitchell has furnished to the press of Philadelphia a full statement in regard to the murder of her mother. She disavows any knowledge of how or by whom the murder was committed, but does not intimate that it may not have been done by her husband. She then goes into a long explanation of ceasing to visit Twitchell in jail, and says that as she was leaving his cell he pressed into her hand a closely written paper which she found to be an appeal to her to save his life by confessing that she had committed the murder, and followed by a story that she was to tell that she had committed the murder in a quarrel and that lawyers had been consulted who said she could not be harmed. On a subsequent visit he gave her another story. She was to tell that she had been criminally intimate with one Lee, who had with her concocted a plan to rob and murder him. On another occasion he gave her another written appeal to save him, and recommended her to say that Mrs. Hill had not been murdered at all, but had fallen from the window. They are in Twitchell's handwriting, but were evidently drawn up for him by some legal mind. The whole statement throws but little light on the affair, but explains the conduct of Mrs. Twitchell.

THE LATE MAYOR HARPER OF NEW YORK.—The Presbyterian Observer relates some curious facts concerning the late James Harper. Just before the accident which terminated his life he had renewed the policy ($10,000) of insurance on his life against death by accident. A few months ago he said to his family that he would no longer pray, as he had been wont, to be delivered from sudden death, as he had ceased to regard it as an evil, if we live in a state of habitual preparation. And from that time onward he omitted such petitions from his prayers in the family. He had also lately, in conversation, remarked that if any accident happened to him in riding, he would like to be carried to St. Luke's Hospital. His wish was strangely fulfilled, as the accident occurred near the hospital, into which he was taken, and where he died.

—A reverend gentleman, in whose family allopathic practice prevails, even to the lesser branches thereof, was catechising one of his offspring recently, and among other questions, asked: "What is the difference between creed and doctrine?" This was a poser to the young class in theology, until a four-year old, considered exempt, piped out "I know, I know what it is." "Well Jonny, what is it?" said the pleased father.—"Creed is the Bible, and doctorin' is the paregoric," cried the youngster, triumphantly, with a vived recollection of the last dose ordered by the family physician.

☞ A. T. Stewart sent a communication on Monday to the New York legislature, offering $2,000,000 cash for the franchise of the Broadway Horse Railroad.

New Publications.

The Brooklyn Monthly for April seems to be entirely made up of original articles and readable ones too. This number, is illustrated with a portraitof Rt. Rev. A. N. Littlejohn, D. D., the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn. It is published by Horace W. Love & Co., No. 379 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Price $3.00 a year.

—A gentleman whose father had been cured of a hopeless case of dropsy, wishes the fact stated, with the desire that others may be similarly benefitted. Make bean pod tea—either white or lima beans—sweeten to the taste and drink abundantly.—Exchange.

Early tried,—and harmless,—but doubtful as a remedy.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SECURITY.—One of the greatest conveniences for persons possessing valuables, and one that has become a decided success in a comparatively short space of time, is the institution known as the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston. Individual safes (of which the lessee keeps the key,) are set in a vault as nearly fire and burglar proof as human skill and ingenuity can make it, and the vaults are guarded incessantly, both night and day. So great has been the demand during the past year, for the ample security thus given, that the managers have been obliged to add eight hundred safes, at a rental of from $20 to $100, to their original number. Circulars, furnishing full information, may be had on application to Henry Lee, Manager.

Holloway's Ointment.—ITS ANTI-INFLAMMATORY PROPERTIES.—Above all other external applications this Ointment is the antagonist of irritation. Diseased action cannot long go on in the ulcerated limb to which it is applied. It neutralizes the poison of an angry sore as surely as an alkali quenches the fiery principle of a powerful acid. This is not hypothesis; it is history—a fact from the current record of fifty years of observation and experience. Sold by all Druggists. a14

The Purest and Safest.

The efficacy of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general nervous diseases, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have."

But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a PREPARATORY ANTIDOTE to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is the HOUSEHOLD TONIC of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of Science recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales. a13

TO FARMERS.

DOUBLE REFINED POUDRETTE,

equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also make superior articles of

NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime paid us full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Heagley, of North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used it on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lyme, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given as good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so broken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this celebrated plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this moment of writing a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever."

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened, and followed obviously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured the agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the Pain Killer. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally, gave immediate relief. Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. a12 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the obstructions and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, heal the lungs, and all by doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, will be glad to see all who desire his advice, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was partially cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered $100 reward for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally; it never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. Price, 50 cents and one dollar. Depot 10 Park Place, N. NAVY YARD MATTERS.—A petition was circulated among the workmen on Wednesday to see if they would agree to work 10 hours a day and have the one fifth, or 20 per cent added to their pay,—by whose authority I know not; not a man would sign it.

Steam Engineering workmen met and voted to lay the petition on the table—chose a committee of three to adopt resolutions and consult with all the other workmen on the yard, and will meet again Friday noon for further action.

If Congress can't make a law to be understood they had better sell out! If the bone and sinew of the country is neglected and considered of no importance, and capitalists are to have both ends of the rope, its well to know it in season; and if the same was intended all for a farce or a political dodge it is already played.

Considerate Republicans are waiting patiently, though anxiously, to see what will be done for the workingmen by the administration. REPUB.

WHAT RUM DID!—William Tetherly of Eliot came to this city on a marketing tour on Wednesday and imbibed too freely. The liquor affected his brain so much that after leaving the wharf near the foot of Deer Street he fell back in his boat, and was discovered in an insensible condition drifting down the Piscataqua. On being brought to land vain efforts were made to recall him to his senses. Then there was hurrying in hot haste and a grand rush for Dr. Parsons, who speedily appeared and found the man only a little "tired."—Meantime the startling report that a man had been found dead in a boat spread about the city and scores of curious people visited the wharf—some no doubt being disappointed because the story was only a sensation. How much does a glass of whiskey cost in the end?

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—The rebel organ says that a vote of thanks was offered that paper "for its advanced position in regard to the great cause of education and for the full and accurate report of the proceedings of the Institute." In what manner has the organ promoted the cause of education? Has it done so by the elegant expressions generally used in its editorial matter?—or by its chivalric disregard of truth and bitter malignity toward those who are not fully able to see things in the same political light that its editors' perverted imaginations places them? QUESTOR.

☞ The New York Sun calls the mayor of Portland the champion economist. No other office-holder has asked to have his salary reduced since the foundation of the government of the people, by the people and for the people. In fact there was once a Congress which raised its salaries.

Pooh! Pooh! says Uncle Toby;—Gov. Plummer asked the legislature of New Hampshire to reduce his salary from $1200 to 1000. They did it; and the salary has remained at $1000 ever since. Somebody at our elbow says that Mayor Bailey asked the same favor of our City Government.

☞ President Grant has appointed Gov. Harriman Naval Officer at Boston, a very lucrative position. This is a deserved recognition of his valuable services during the Presidential campaign. If Gov. Harriman accepts the office before June 1st it will be necessary for him to resign his present office, in which case Hon. E. A. Stevens of this city, President of the Senate, will be Governor for the remainder of the present term.

☞ Mr Alfred M. Lang of this city has secured the agency of Rockingham County for the sale of Starrett's Patent Meat Cutter, which is one of the most handy of household utensils. There are three sizes, selling for $6, $8 and $10, respectively. Mr. Lang is a deserving soldier and lost his right arm at the battle of Petersburg, Va. We hope he will meet with the encouragement he merits.

THE WEATHER on Wednesday was varied in feature and fickle in its character. It was cloudy, clear, cold, pleasant, comfortably warm, rainy, snowy and mixed. Towards night it snowed snow balls of the size of peas and the form of toy tops, which covered the ground in a half minute. Good for the weather clerk.—April is a success.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, April 13.

The April trial term of the Supreme Judicial Court, Judge Jeremiah Smith of Dover, presiding, was opened to-day with an earnest prayey by Rev. J. W. Chickering. Judge Smith is the son of the late lamented Judge Jeremiah Smith of this town, and this is his first appearance in his judicial capacity in his native place. His charge to the grand jury was a fine specimen of forensic eloquence; brief, clear and terse, it was confined solely to the duties of jurors, and a lucid explanation thereof. Judge S. has already gained hosts of warm friends by his manner of conducting the business of the Court.

To-day was mostly devoted to calling the docket, which comprises 316 cases. (The January docket embraced 375 cases.) There but three or four criminal cases worthy of note, so far as yet known. There is one case of entering and robbing a store in this town, and three cases of larceny and one of fornication, from Portsmouth. Among the continued cases is the venerable "flowage case," which has cumbered the dockets since 1849, and is apparently no nearer a termination now than at any time within a dozen years. The following list of the grand jurors present was kindly furnished me by Charles G. Conner, Esq., the gentlemanly Clerk of the Court.

John W. Noyes of Chester, Foreman; Wm. H. Shackford, Geo. W. Marston, Edwin M. Lamprey, Gilman Batchelder, Ira Bennett, Abram Waldron, Emery Woodman, Thomas D. Lancaster, James Griffin, Simeon S. Eaton, Thomas J. Goodwin, John Foss, Henry H. Staples, Joseph R. Crowell, Jeremiah T. Poor, George A Wood, Joseph Jewell, Ira P. Godfrey.

Petit Jury, (first and second weeks,) Emery Batchelder, John W. Marshal, Wm. H. Hodgdon, John Page, Geo. S. Bragdon, Richard L. Prescott, Calvin Boyd, John R. Emery, Thomas Rand, Joseph Y. James, Josiah Hilton, Harrison Smart, Israel T. Foster, Augustus H. Russ, Joseph Spinney, Charles E. Dixon, Isaac Dow, James W. Lefavour.

A large number of cases are reported ready for trial, and the session bids fair to be a lengthy one.

Spalding's Troupe of Bell-ringers, Harpists, Vocalists, &c., gave one of their inimitable entertainments here last evening, all of which was excellent, but Georgie Dean Spalding's performances particularly so. In her harp solo she played "Fisher's Hornpipe" with one hand, "Yankee Doodle" with the other, and at the same time sung "Tramp, tramp," which called forth the most enthusiastic applause ever heard in our Town Hall.

I learn that there is a strong probability that several parties from Fremont, Raymond and that section, will be presented before the Grand Jury, charged with violation of the prohibitory law.—In view of this fact, and the chance that some notice may be taken of the unblushing and open disregard of that law in this town, I am credibly informed that some of our rumsellers have suspended the sale of liquor during the session of the Grand Jury.

Several men, who say they have been summoned on liquor cases, were in town this afternoon, and some of them appeared as though they might give evidence against parties in this town. At all events, they were considerably intoxicated, and made a good deal of noise. H.

☞ The Lewiston Journal says a man named Herrick Ham, was found by the police of that city, Saturday, in an intoxicated condition, and taken to the lock-up. At half-past eleven that night they entered his cell and found him dead lying on the floor, suffocated by his own vomit.

☞ George Jones (Count Johannes) has instituted a suit against the New York Third Avenue Railroad for $5000 damages, on account of being ejected from a car for non-payment of fare.

Morning Chronicle.

THE GARDEN IN APRIL.

A correspondent of the New England Farmer says that little is gained, but much vexation and disappointment result often from planting tender vegetables in the garden or elsewhere, too early. The ground must have time to thaw, settle and become warm; and if the garden is naturally well drained, or has been under-drained thoroughly, these conditions are much earlier attained than otherwise.

Having so often urged the necessity or importance and economy of a good garden, in connection with the farm and household, it is unnecessary to further allude to it here. Those who have enjoyed the products of a well managed garden, will not need further arguments to convince them of its importance. Those who have neglected the garden for other general farm crops and products, are assured that a good garden will pay—pay in more than one way, too.

The requisites are a good sheltered warm location, with fair exposure to the warm rays of the morning and midday sun, warm, rich, deep, well fined soil, with plenty of good manure, and a spirit of energy and perseverance not to be discouraged with trifles, nor inclined to put off a present duty to a more convenient time.

It is very easy to test the correctness of this statement by trying a garden, as recommended, and keeping a rigid debt and credit account with it—crediting everything taken from it at its market value, and charging everything laid out on it; and at the end of the year compare the account with that of any field crop, without taking into the account the greater degree of health you and your family have enjoyed from having vegetables, &c., fresh from the garden, instead of those bought in the market after becoming wilted and losing their freshness, or from having been raised by yourself instead of others.

Asparagus.—Rake off the coarser winter covering of manure, sow a sprinkling of salt or brine over the bed, and fork in the whole, working the surface mellow without injuring the crowns of the plants. For new beds make the soil rich, work it deep, and plant out good strong one-year-old roots, one foot apart each way, covering the crowns three inches deep with rich fine soil.

Bean-Poles and Pea-Brush should have been gotten in readiness before this; but if not done, lose no time in providing all that will be needed, as soon the sap will flow and the leaves will grow on brush after they are cut, and when stuck they have an unsightly look.

Beets.—Early Bassano may be sown as soon as the ground will admit, as the plant is hardy and will endure a considerable degree of frost, and the seed is slow to germinate. The seed of the beet is not that which usually passes as the seed, which in reality is a kind of woody envelope or cup inclosing several seeds; for this reason it is we often find several plants close together apparently from one seed; hence the remark, "My beet-seed grew five or six plants from one seed." The seed should be sown thinly in drills eighteen inches apart, and covered half an inch with fine soil.

Cabbage.—Seed may be sown in the hot-bed, or in boxes, set in the kitchen window, or in cold frames; and late in the month sowings may be made in the open ground. Plants grown in the hot bed, or wintered in cold frames, should be hardened off and transplanted as soon as it will do; pick out from the hot-beds into cold frames or pots and harden, so as to set in the open ground as soon as the weather will permit. Properly hardened and grown, they will endure quite a degree of frost.

Cauliflower.—Early plants in the hot bed may be transplanted into cold frames or pots and hardened so as to set in the open ground when the weather becomes settled. The more judicious hardening they have, in the meantime, the better.

Cold Frames.—These are oftentimes substituted for the hot-bed, and are advantageous in starting many plants under that will not endure the open air yet, and require a long season; but they require care in ventilating, etc.

Cress.—Sow in rows six inches apart, in warm, well prepared soil; sprinkle the plants with ashes and plaster mixed, to keep insects off.

Draining.—Many gardens in the country will pay well for underdraining. Soils are benefited in many ways by underdraining. Thorough underdraining is often equivalent to an entire change of soil and climate, making the soil more porous, sweet, mellow, warm, &c. A single drain will often work wonders in a garden, and it will cost but little to try the experiment.

Hot-Bed.—With most farmers, early this month will be soon enough to start the hot-bed. Modes of preparing and managing them have heretofore been given, and need not now be repeated. Sow seeds for early and tender plants, and those requiring a long season, such as lettuce, radishes, egg-plants, &c.

Onions.—Sow seeds in well prepared beds and ground as soon as the soil will work without sticking to the tools.—Wood ashes makes one of the best fertilizers for the onion. Manure with any kind of weed or foreign seed in it is to be especially avoided. Sow in drills one foot apart; use seed of last season's growth only, as older will disappoint you.

Parsley.—The seed is a long time coming up, and should be sown early. It makes a very pretty edging for beds or borders, &c.

Parsnips.—Sow in rich, deep soil, in drills eighteen inches apart, as soon as the soil will admit. Last year's growth of seed should be used.

Peas.—Plant early varieties in well-prepared soil in good heart; dry, warm soil is the best. The pea plant is seldom injured by spring frosts, and will often endure to be covered with a late snow after coming up, as I know by experience and frequent observation.

Seed.—Set out cabbages, parsnips, carrots, onions, turnips and other roots in rich soil, to grow seed for another year, where they will meet the notice daily, that they may have proper care and the seed be gathered at the right time. Some seeds are better grown in every garden than to depend upon the market therefor, as adulteration, &c., is too frequent. Some growers and dealers are to be implicitly relied upon, but I am sorry to say all are not.

I have always found it perfectly safe in planting beans, cucumbers, melons and the like, to "make haste slowly," and retain the seed in the house till well into May, when we have settled warm weather.

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assortment, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINEST SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best fast-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST and blank club orders.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR:

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

A MORAL VIEW OF SMOKING.—Please don't smoke! If you have not formed the habit, keep yourself out of temptation. If you are just beginning to like the smell, perchance the taste of a fragrant Havana, don't go beyond the beginning. If the habit has fairly got hold of you, shake it off. It is much better, in every way, that you should abstain from the filthy inconvenient, deleterious practice of smoking. Better for your pocket; better for your health; better for your intellect, and better for your morals.

And that is just the point we are after—the animus of our injunction. And now we know just what will happen. Nine tenths of those who read this will turn at once to not less than a good dozen of excellent people—pious Christian people—folks who live virtuously and make the world better for their lives, — but who, nevertheless, do smoke, and that habitually and persistently. But, allowing this to be true—which we do—what does it prove? Just what can be proven by the prevalence of any other deleterious habit—the power of Divine Grace and well settled human convictions to withstand the tendencies of evil. A man is not better for being the slave of a foolish or evil habit. He is, by so much, the worse. Show me an excellent man who is an habitual smoker, and we will show you one who would be a better man, were he to break the thraldom.

We have two individuals in our mind (both ministers of the Gospel, "in good standing") both inveterate smokers, we have met them frequently, and under various circumstances—at home and abroad, in the pulpit and out of it. They are strangers to each other, but are both "good fellows," and have "lots of friends." When they travel they carefully stow away their wives and babies in the regular passenger car, while they repair to the "smoking car" to enjoy their favorite weed and the company of all the blacklegs and loafers on the train.

At the public hotels their families have access to the parlors, while they are driven to the filthy bar-room. The society into which their baneful habit throws them is almost invariably pernicious, and the habit itself is a perpetual stumbling block in all their efforts to lead others in the better way. They are in a constant warfare with conscience which cannot be smoking into somnolency, and their usefulness is impaired even beyond their own consciousness.

We have heard these men preach, but never without a constant, undefined sense of their unfitness. Their moral truths always fall short of the mark. Their exhortations are invariably tainted with the fumes of tobacco. When they speak of the "power of Satan," we think of the power of evil habit. When they exhort sinners to repentance, we feel like saying, "Physician heal thyself."

We like them both—they are our personal friends—but we cannot withhold from them a kind of pity, such as we feel for some excellent fellow who is a slave to drink. And to say the truth, so far as the mere habit is concerned, we cannot see the difference. So we are constrained to say of our clerical friends, "Nice fellows! Pity they—smoke!"

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES OF EARTH.—Several years ago a Yankee friend of mine who, as commander of his own ship, had learned to live pretty fast, was taken sick in Florida (that land of "Flowers and Fleas,") and had a narrow escape with life. When the fever left him, we, with much difficulty got him on board, and after a quick run landed him safely in New York, but in a terribly crippled state from gout or some disease which caused his legs to swell badly, and he was a great sufferer. We lost no time in sending him home to his family "up the Connecticut River."

Being much attached to the captain, as soon as I could spare the time I took boat and landed near his residence before sunrise the next morning, and at once went in search of my old friend, and found him—not in bed, but in his garden, hoe in hand and bare-footed, standing in earth knee deep where he had been since daylight, was looking well, and said he felt like a boy. This had been his daily practice since his return home.

Your articles on "Earth as a disinfectant," bring this circumstance to mind and may interest some of your readers. We shall hope to learn whether earth should be applied directly to wounds or sores or enclosed in a bag—without knowing certainly I should suppose the latter.—Cor. Country Gent.

The Singer's Alms.

BY HENRY ABBEY.

In Lyons, in the mart of that French town,
Years since, a woman leading a fair child
Craved a small alms of one who, walking down
The thoroughfare, caught the child's glance, and smiled
To see behind its eyes a noble soul.
He paused, but found he had no coin to dole.

His guardian angel warned him not to lose
This chance of pearl to do another good;
So, as he waited, sorry to refuse
The asked-for penny, there aside he stood,
And with his hat held at by limb the nest,
He covered his kind face, and sang his best.

The sky was blue above, and all the lane
Of commerce where the singer stood was filled,
And many paused, and listening, paused again.
To hear the voice that thro' and thro' them thrilled.
I think the guardian angel helped along
That cry for pity woven in a song.

The singer stood between the beggars there,
Before a church, and overhead the spire,
A slim perpetual finger in the air
Held toward heaven, land of the heart's desire,
As tho' an angel, pointing up, had said,
"Yonder a crown awaits this singer's head."

The hat of its stamped brood was emptied soon
Into the woman's lap, who drenched with tears
Her kiss upon the hand of help. 'Twas noon,
And noon in her glad heart drove forth her fears.
The singer, pleased, passed on, and softly thought,
"Men will not know by whom this deed was wrought."

But when at night he came upon the stage,
Cheer after cheer went up from that wide throngs
And flowers rained on him. Naught could assuage,
The tumult of the welcome, save the song
That for the beggars he had sung that day,
While standing in the city's busy way.

O, cramped and narrow is the man who lives
Only for self, and pawns his years away
For gold, nor knows the joy a good deed gives;
But feels his heart shrink slowly, day by day,
And dies at last, his bond of fate outrun;
No high aim sought, no worthy action done.

But brimmed with molten brightness, like a star,
And broad and open as the sea or sky,
The generous heart. Its kind deeds shine afar,
And glow in gold in God's great book on high.
And he who does what good he can each day,
Makes smooth and green, and strews with flowers his way.

All surplus premiums of profits returned to the Policy-holders, instead of being partially or wholly appropriated to the use of the Stockholders, as is the usage with all "Mixed" and "Proprietary" Companies.

Dividends made annually, from the start, and not postponed until the third, fourth or fifth year, as in most other companies.

Profits apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division; and not by the mode adopted by many companies, which is grossly UNJUST to a large proportion of the Policy-holders.

(None of this is in the Note-of-hand of Policy-holders, as in many other Companies.)

Its Annual Income, - - $5,000,000.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The News.

The McArdle case has been dismissed from the Supreme Court for want of jurisdiction.

Beecher is a free trade convert.

Gen. Sherman writes that he was alone responsible for the terms offered Gen. Johnston at the time of his surrender, and that no blame should be attached to Ex-President Lincoln in consequence.

The Paris Presse deprecates the rejection of the Alabama claims treaty by our government.

The U. S. Senate on Wednesday ratified the British naturalization treaty. A large number of Presidential nominations were confirmed, among them those of A. H. Young of Dover as Collector of the 1st N. H. District and S. A. Haley of Newmarket as Assessor.

Recent frosts in Alabama have rendered necessary the replanting of a portion of the cotton fields.

The civil war in Japan has been vigorously renewed.

Public lands in South Carolina will be sold to actual settlers on five years' credit.

Mr. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, is appointed to a four thousand dollar position as appraiser of merchandise in the custom house.

Hon. John P. Hale's resignation as Minister to Spain was received by the President several days ago.

Ninety female clerks were discharged from the Treasury Department on Tuesday.

Secretary Boutwell announces that the July interest coupons will now be paid on presentation with a rebate of interest.

Andrew Johnson is swinging through Tennessee.

Valuable cattle have been poisoned at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., by licking the side of a newly painted barn.

An earthquake has been felt in the Japanese Islands, but up to the last dates no loss of life or property is reported, and the shocks were slight.

"Edwin Slaughter, of New Hampshire," reported nominated for Consul at Coaticooke, should be Edward Vaughan. Capt. Vaughan belongs in Claremont, and is an active and influential Republican. He succeeds Charles H. Powers, of Jaffrey, who has been Consul at Coaticooke for six years.

Mr. Dexter H. Follett has sold his half interest in Selwyn's Theatre at Boston to Mr. Arthur Cheney, his partner.

The natives of the South Sea Islands have taken up arms against the slave-traders and five or six of the crew of schooner Prima Donna, who touched at the island of Valua, have been driven off with loss. A small white colony is reported to have been massacred.

Hon. Richard Plumer is appointed Postmaster at Newburyport, in place of G. J. L. Colby, Esq., of the Herald, resigned.

GRAIN TRADE.—The St. Paul Press derides the plans of St. Louis to secure the grain trade of the upper Mississippi, and says that Minnesota will soon have a route of her own whereby her breadstuffs will reach a market. This route is the railroad to Lake Superior, thence by boat to Collingwood, on Georgian Bay, thence by cars to Toronto, and thence to Liverpool, "in less time from St. Paul than it would require to pass St. Louis." This of course will be direct trade with Europe, and the Press anticipates that Liverpool merchants will send their orders for wheat to St. Paul instead of New York.

The grain elevators of Buffalo propose to reduce the price of elevating from two cents to half a cent a bushel. A general reduction of elevator, warehouse and canal tolls is said to be absolutely necessary if New York State and city are to retain the grain carrying trade.

New Publications.

Howe's Musical Monthly, No. 2, published in Boston by Elias Howe, is received from the publishers by E. A. Batchelder, who is the agent in this city. The Monthly is sold for 35 cents per copy—$3 per year, and contains 21 pieces of music, vocal and instrumental. It is surprisingly cheap, and each number is well worth fourfold the price.

☞ The mysterious article advertised, or rather the article so mysteriously advertised, in this and many other papers, is—a pocket handkerchief! So blow it as hard as you have a mind to —It is found that fishes can live under water upon which is a pressure of four hundred atmospheres, thus rendering it probable that the greatest depths of the sea may be inhabitable.

The American Merchant Service.

Messrs. Editors:—The published history of the murders on board the ship James Foster, jr., on her recent passage from Europe to this country, has suggested to me the idea of writing for your columns a few sketches of circumstances which have come under my own observation; and to give my opinion as to the best method of preventing the tragedies which disgrace the American merchant service far more frequently than that of any other nation.—Having commenced, I intend (if your patience doesn't give out,) to furnish a series of articles, as there is much to be said on opposite sides. That I can interest many of your readers I have no doubt; and, as a small spark sometimes starts a big fire, 'tis not impossible but that even my writings may do some good.

That there is a very large and important screw loose in the laws regulating the merchant service is evident to every one who ever really paid any attention to the matter. The chronic state of war between seamen and their officers, culminating often in murderous mutinies on the part of the men, and still more frequently in savage brutality from their superiors, is proof of this. The very low moral character of the great body of sailors is also corroborative evidence that there is something wrong, for merely doing ship's duty cannot degrade and corrupt a man any more than building a house or holding a plough. What I consider to be the principal cause of the present state of things I will say at another time; but first I shall make a few statements, and endeavor to prove them to be correct.

In the first place; ill-usage and oppression, often reaching the most inhuman brutality and even murder, are very common,—much more so than the public generally imagines,—on board of American ships; not one case in a hundred being ever heard of in the courts of law. There are two principal reasons for this, viz., the almost impossibility of a seaman getting a hearing from a consul in a foreign port, (or of getting justice if he does,) and the shiftless improvidence of the men themselves, which makes them neglect anything in the shape of an appeal to law after they get home. In no other merchant navy is inhumanity so rife as in ours; indeed, in many large foreign seaports, "blood-boat," "floating hell" and "American ship" are synonymous terms. This is no honor to us or our flag; but it is so, and not without reason. I will mention a few incidents to show what is meant by "discipline" on board of some ships, and what protection common sailors generally receive from American consuls.

Less than ten years ago, the ship to which I belonged, with many others, was laying in Hong Kong harbor. Another ship was anchored about two cable's length from us,—not so far but what we could see men knocked down daily,— hourly, sometimes,—with belaying-pins, capstan-bars, or anything else that came to hand. We could hear curses and cries at almost any time we liked to listen. One day the second mate, who was particularly "down" on a certain Dutchman, set him to work in the hold directly under the main hatch, and, watching an opportunity when his attention was engaged, dropped a lump of coal on his head, killing him instantly. The body was put in a Chinese sampan, taken ashore in care of the second mate and carpenter and buried, after the "accident" had been duly reported. But several of the sailors saw the whole affair, and that evening one of them managed to steal ashore, and the next morning appeared before the U. S. consul with his story,—but that worthy at once sent him on board his ship in irons, as a deserter, and he was seized up in the 'tween decks and well flogged, by the captain's order. No one attempted any more impertinent interference in China, and, singularly, the would-be complainant "died of consumption" on the passage to Callao.

At the time of the previous affair, another splendid clipper ship, engaged in the slave-trade between China and Cuba, was one of the fleet of idlers in the harbor. She also was a floating hell; and one of her men cut his throat, and another went mad and jumped overboard, while I was there. Such a haggard, cowed-looking lot of wretches as her crew I had seen but once before,—I have seen as bad since, often. No complaints were made or attempted; but I read long after, an account of the mutiny of one of her men, who stabbed and instantly killed one officer (the captain's son,) and badly (I believe fatally) wounded another. This occurred while the ship lay at anchor in the Strait of Sunda; and a British ship sent an armed boat and took her into Batavia, whence the mutineer was sent home for trial. What his fate was I have never heard; though, from my knowledge of the ship, I am satisfied that his provocation was the greatest. However much that grey-haired old captain may have suffered when his idolized son lay before him a corpse, he richly deserved it all. I have been told that he died in Havana of a broken heart, but that is incorrect. He had no heart. Decidedly, I have but little sympathy to spare for him. PAKEHA.

SECURITY.—One of the greatest conveniences for persons possessing valuables, and one that has become a decided success in a comparatively short space of time, is the institution known as the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston. Individual safes (of which the lessee keeps the key,) are set in a vault as nearly fire and burglar proof as human skill and ingenuity can make it, and the vaults are guarded incessantly, both night and day. So great has been the demand during the past year, for the ample security thus given, that the managers have been obliged to add eight hundred safes, at a rental of from $20 to $100, to their original number. Circulars, furnishing full information, may be had on application to Henry Lee, Manager.

The Purest and Safest.

The efficacy of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have."

But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a PREPARATORY ANTIDOTE to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is the HOUSEHOLD TONIC of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of science recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales. a13

TO FARMERS.

The Lodi Manufacturing Co. invite Farmers and others using fertilizers, to send for a pamphlet, descriptive of their Fertilizers. They offer their

DOUBLE REFINED POUDRETTE,

equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

They also have superior articles of

NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime paid us full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used it on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lynne, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Bradley Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given as good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manured two bushels of corn from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F.R.S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, when a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It is some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. a12 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, raises it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the acrid bile to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic flushes, to stop the cough they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient begins to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills early in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, has not wasted away to a skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the above medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. Patients can be cured at a distance by correspondence with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered $1000 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggist. ☞ The Portsmouth Philharmonic Society gave their Concert of Esther, at Newburyport on Wednesday evening, to a very select and appreciative audience—which was not so large, however, as better weather would have given them.

A party of one hundred or so, including the Philharmonic Society, went over in the various trains during the day; and after spending an agreeable day, no doubt, all returned in the Society's evening special train in charge of Conductor Philbrook, which left Newburyport a little past 10 o'clock, and arrived here in just about half an hour.

The Concert passed off well, and was received with much satisfaction by the audience—and thus probably closes, with reasonably good success, the fourth season of this musical organization. The Society are indebted to C. H. Mendum & Co., for the loan of carpets, &c., to Sheldon Brothers for fine furniture, Rowell & Hutchinson for silver ware, Larrabee & Son and Stoddard & Beacham for rich lap robes, J. C. Carr & Co., for shoe goods; and especially to Lt. Comdr. Haswell of the U. S. S. Vandalia, for very kindly furnishing foreign flags; and to Messrs. Ireland & Trefethen of Newburyport, for furniture; to Mr. G. F. Bailey, architect, of the same, for numerous courtesies and much assistance—also very largely to the press of both cities, and doubtless many other persons, for direct aid and encouragement or excellent advice. All of which was most thankfully received, no doubt, and will be judiciously used in the future of the Philharmonic, let us hope.

Nor must we omit to mention the City officials in charge of the Newburyport Hall, Messrs. Pearson and Parsons who were very courteous; nor Mr. B. F. Carter, who indulged Mr. Tilton with the use of a splendid new Chickering piano, at a price merely nominal; nor Mr. Stavers, of the Temple here, who as scenic manager, did much for the success of the stage presentation.

THE MORRIS MINSTRELS offer a tempting programme this evening at the Temple. The troupe consists of 17 performers and have the reputation elsewhere of giving good entertainments. They appear for one night only. Queen and Collins, well known in their specialties, are with the company, Add Ryman and Johnny Hart doing the "end" business. The Velocipede Song and Race is announced as one of the interesting features, for the first time in Portsmouth.

Among the attractions, a musical friend tells us that those who fail to hear the boy soprano Master Somers, will miss a great treat.

DIED, in this city, on Thursday morning, April 15. Rev. JOSHUA D. BERRY, D. D., aged 62 years, 4 mos.—Dr. B. was a native of Newington; was a diligent student and good scholar, an able and successful teacher, and a highly esteemed member and presbyter of the Protestant Episcopal Church. We understand his funeral will probably take place on Sunday, at Newington.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ The large and valuable well known Peverley Hill Farm, is advertised to be sold by Auction on Saturday, to-morrow. Some of its points are set forth in Mr. Hackett's advertis ement.

☞ The Methodist Church in this city will be closed for repairs after Sunday next. We learn that Mr. John H. H. Folsom is to have charge of the work.

☞ The Election of Officers of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association, stands re-adjourned to this Friday Evening at a quarter to 8 o'clock.

☞ Rear Admiral James C. Lardner is to relieve Rear Admiral Lanman in command of this Naval Station on the 24th inst.

☞ Mr. Tripp, who is to remain in Portsmouth, advertises his new and large Spring stock of Room Papers, Paints, &c.

☞ Auctioneer Wendell on Monday sold the Rye Town Farm to Messrs. Nath'l and Thos. Wiggin jr., for $3550.

City Council, Thursday Eve. April 15.

In Board of Aldermen, Hon. Wm. Simes appeared for Mrs. Burroughs, and protested on the part of that lady, and others, and the Universalist Society, against the erection on the Pleasant St. salt water reservoir, of the tank for street-sprinkling purposes, according to permission given by the Aldermen, to Mr. Wm. Plaisted. Mr. Simes stated that permission was granted by Mrs. B. for the entering of her land for the erection of a reservoir for the use of the Fire Department, and for no other purpose.—The Board having given permission for such use of the reservoir inadvertently, it was voted that Mr. Plaisted be directed to remove said apparatus, and that the Com. on Streets be authorized to confer with him as to any loss by so doing.

The special Com. on Fleet St. reported that to widen about 6 feet, from Hanover St. to the old Bell Tavern Stable now, and secure the same width to Congress St. when the Mech. Association buildings shall be rebuilt, would cost 1800 to $2000. Mr. Cotton will sell his land needed for 30 cts. per foot, the Brooks heirs for 25 cts. probably, Mr. Parry will give his, and Mr. Lydston his; Mech. Assoc'n would want $1500 when done years hence, and if the rear buildings cut now, would require the cost of so doing, and the damage to tenants and rent. After refusing to indefinitely postpone the whole subject, the matter was laid over for one week.

The City Treasurer reported that his funds were exhausted; and the Com. on Finance were authorized to confer with the Treasurer as to raising the amount necessary for deficiency the coming three months.

Com. on Claims reported adversely to paying bills for damages sustained by Messrs. Ulysses Parks and John L. Bowles, from boys coasting. Adopted.

The Ordinance fixing the City Election for the 2d Tuesday of March, and the year to commence the 4th Tuesday, was passed.

The subject of Mr. B. F. Webster's encroaching on Sagem St. at the Eastern Railroad, was taken from the table of the last Board, and referred the Com. on Streets with power to act.

Petition of Messrs. Sheldon and others, relative to encroachments on corner of Langdon and McDonough Sts., was also referred to same Com.

Petition of B. Cheever for permission to build a receiving tomb on front of Cotton's Burying Ground, was recommended by the Com. to be granted by his paying 30 cts. per foot for the land, the City reserving the gravel. Adopted.

The Bonds of Haven L. Scott as Superintendent of the City Farm—Messrs. Wm. P. Jones and Wm. Simes, were approved.

Complaints being made that by the burning of bushes, gravestones were often broken in Cotton's Burying Ground, — the Com. on Burying Grounds was directed to inquire into the matter.

In Common Council, Ordinance in amendment to Ordinance No. 104, fixing salaries of Selectmen and Moderators, was referred to Committee on 2d Reading of Bills.

The Appropriation bill was referred to same Committee.

Morning Chronicle.

Jack-Shooting on a Foggy Night.

For nearly two miles we crept thro' the damp and chilly fog, hearing nothing to interrupt the profound silence save the occasional plunge of a muskrat or the sputter of a frog skating along the surface of the water. But all of a sudden, when heart and hope were about to fail, some distance ahead of us we heard the well known sounds, k-splash, k-splash, and knew that a deer, and a large one too, was making for the shore. Here our adventures began. I signalled Martin, by a desperate "hitch" on the thwart, to run the boat at full speed toward the sound.—He did. The light shell shot through the fog, and when in swift career struck the bank, bow on. Martin was tremendous at the paddle, and a little more force would have divided that marsh from side to side; as it was, the thin, lath-like boat was buried a third of her length in the bogs and marsh-grass.

With much struggle, and several suppressed but suggestive exclamations from Martin, we extricated the boat from the meadow, and shoved out into deep water. We had heard nothing from the deer since he left the river.—Thinking that possibly he might have stopped, after gaining the bank, to look back, as deer often do, I rose slowly in the boat, turned up the jack, and peered anxiously into the fog. The strong reflector bored a lane through the fleecy moss for some fifty feet, perhaps, even at that distance objects mingled grotesquely with the fog. At the extreme end of the opening I detected a bright, diamond-like spark. What was it? I turned the jack up, and I turned it down. I lowered myself until my eyes looked along the line of the grass. I raised myself on tiptoe. Nothing more could be seen.

"It may be the eye of a deer, and it may be only a drop of water, or a wet leaf," said I to myself. Still it looked gamy. I concluded to launch a bullet at it, anyway. Whispering to Martin to steady the boat, I sunk my eye well down into the sights, and, holding for the gleam amid the marsh-grass, fired. The smoke, mingling heavily with the fog, made all murky before me, while the explosion, striking against the hills on either side, started a dozen reverberations, so that we could neither see nor hear what was the result of the shot. After waiting in silence a few moments, hoping to hear the deer "kick," without any such happy result, I told Martin I would go ashore to load, and see what I had shot at. He paddled forward, and, seizing the tall grass, while he forced the boat in against the bank with his paddle, I clambered up. Being curious to see what had deceived me, I strode off into the marsh some forty feet, and, turning up the jack, do and behold a dead deer lay at my feet! "Martin," shouted I, "here the deer is, dead as a tick!"

"The d—l!" exclaimed the guide from the fog.

"What did you say?" again I shouted.

"I said I didn't believe it," returned Martin, soberly.

"Paddle your canoe up here, then, you old sceptic, and see for yourself," I rejoined, taking the deer by the ear and dragging him to the bank. "Here he is, and a monster too." Martin did as directed.

"Well," exclaimed he, as he unbent his gaunt form from the curve into which two hours of paddling had bent and cramped it, and straightened himself to his full height, until his eye rested upon the buck,—"well, Mr. Murray, you are the first man I ever saw draw a fine bead in a night like this, standing in the bow of a Saranac boat, at the twinkle of a deer's eye, and kill. That jack of yours is a big thing, and no mistake." By the time he had finished, the boat had drifted off into the river,—for the current was quite strong at that point,—and I was alone. I was just fitting a cap to the tube of the recharged barrel, when I felt a movement at my feet, and, casting my eyes downward, I saw that the deer was in the act of getting up! The ball, as we afterward discovered, had glanced along the front of the skull, barely creasing the skin. It had touched the bone slightly, and stunned him so that he dropped; but beyond this it had not hurt him in the least. Quick as thought I put my foot against his shoulder and pushed him over. "Martin," I cried, "this deer isn't dead; he's trying to get up. What shall I do?"

"Not dead!" exclaimed he, shouting from the middle of the river through the dense fog.

"No, he isn't dead; far from it. He is mighty lively, and getting more and more so." I returned, now having my hands full to keep the deer down.—"Come out and help me. What shall I do?"

"Get hold of his hind leg; I'll be with you in a minute," was the answer.

I did as directed. I laid hold of his left hind leg, just above the fetlocks, and sprung to my feet.

Reader, did you ever seize a pig by the hind leg? If so, multiply that pig by ten; for every twitch he gives, count six; lash a big lantern to your head; fancy yourself standing alone on a swampy marsh in a dark, foggy night, with a rifle in your left hand, and being twitched about among the bogs and in and out of muskrat holes, until your whole system seems on the point of a separation in which shall send you in a thousand infinitesimal parts in all directions, like fragments of an exploding buzz-wheel, and you have my appearance and feelings as I was jerked about that night amid the mire and marsh-grass, as I clung to the leg of that deer.

Now, when I fasten to anything, I always expect to hold on. This was my determination when I put my fingers round that buck's leg. I have a tremendous grip—my father had before me.- With his hands at a two-inch auger-hole in the head of a barrel, I have seen him clutch, now with his right, now with his left hand, twenty-two house rats as they came darting out to escape the stick with which I was stirring them up, and dash them dead upon the floor, without getting a single bite; and everybody knows that a rat, in full bolt, comes out of a barrel like a flash of lightning. I fully expected to maintain the family prestige for grip, I did. I stuck to that deer with all my power of arm and will. I felt it to be a sort of personal contest between him and myself.

Nevertheless, I was perfectly willing at any time to let go. If I had undertaken the job at the request of another, and was ready to surrender it instantly upon demand. I shouted to Martin to get out of that boat mighty quick if he wanted to take his deer home, for I shouldn't hold on to him much longer. It took me about two minutes to deliver that sentence. It was literally jerked out of me, word by word. Never did I labor under greater embarrassment in expressing myself. In the meanwhile Martin was meeting with difficulty. The bank of the river was steep, and the light cedar shell, with only himself in it, was out of all balance, and hard to manage.

It may be that his very strong desire to get on to that meadow where I was holding his deer for him operated to confuse and embarrass his movements! He would propel the boat at full speed toward the bank, then jump for the bow; but his motion forward would release the boat from the mud, and when he reached the bow the boat would be half way across the river again. Now Martin is a man of great patience He is not by any means a profane person. He had always shown great respect for the cloth.

Concluded to-morrow.

The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR!

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Agricultural Items.

The New England Agricultural Society will have a trial of mowing machines, reapers, tedders, horse rakes, hay forks and other hay making machines at Amherst, Mass., in June, on the grounds of the agricultural college, under the direction of a committee chosen by the society's trustees.

Lands are made to increase yearly in fertility, mainly in three ways—by buying commercial fertilizers, by ploughing under clover, by buying rich food for animals and saving all their droppings. That farmer understands his business who knows which mode is best for him. The most successful farmers practise all three.

In consequence of the increase of farm implements, says the Prairie Farmer, the question must be met, can fifty small farmers, with little or no machinery, compete successfully with one farmer who owns as much land as all of them, and has abundant machinery for working it.

Sugar makers in Ohio report that the sap of the present season is of an inferior quality and say that the yield of maple sugar and molasses will be small. Reason: They had a mild open winter, little good sleighing, and could plough in February.

Milk varies as much in caseine or cheese-making quality as in cream. The best milk will give a pound of cheese to eight pounds of milk—the poorest, a pound to twelve. The average is ten. This shows that factories ought to receive by the pound, not by the quart.

A gentleman of the Farmers' Club of New York reports a yearly profit of $80 from 30 hens. D. S. Woodworth of Lebanon, Conn., reports $81 56 as the money received in a year from the eggs of 30 hens. This is about $2.75 from each pullet.

Hot Beds.—The requisites for making a hot bed are boards, glazed sashes, manure in a state of active fermentation, and a supply of light, rich soil. The old way of making a manure stack on top of the ground, and putting a frame over it, is well nigh abandoned. It is more economical of manure and other materials to make an excavation. All the operations depend upon the size of the ashes. Six feet by three is the regular size, but any other will do.

Select a well-drained place, facing the South, and sheltered by a fence, building, or hedge, from prevailing cold winds; make an excavation two feet deep, of a width and length to accommodate the sash. Drive down stakes, and board up the pit, having the boards at the rear 18 inches, and those at the front 12 inches above the surface. The manure to be used should be in a state of active fermentation—a condition which can be secured by turning over stable manure two or three times, at intervals of a few days, according to the temperature, watering it if it becomes dry.

A good rule is to form the manure in a compact, conical heap, and when it "smokes" turn it over. Fill the trench with fermenting manure, pack or tread it firmly, cover it with six inches of light, rich soil, and put the sashes in place. Put a thermometer in the soil, and when it declines from 100 degrees the sowing may be done. Sow tomatoes, egg plant, peppers, early cabbages, etc., in rows four inches apart. The soil covering the seeds must be both rich and light. Where plants are forwarded to the best advantage, a milder bed is in readiness, to which the plants are transplanted, when large enough to handle.—American Agriculturist.

A Good Idea.—A gentleman in a suburban town where the intermission of the Sabbath services at noon is quite short, has done the handsome thing for a year or two. He noticed that quite a number who had come some distance, staid over for the afternoon service, particularly old ladies; and it struck him that they would greatly relish a cup of tea with their lunch, which he has accordingly furnished up to present time, to the great delight and comfort of those who have shared in its benefits. This is an idea worth acting upon in all country towns. Open your vestries and give the old folks a good cup of tea on Sabbath noons, and the donors will be thrice blessed, and the congregation will not grow less.

—Lord Aberdeen once confessed to M. Guizot, in passing by the house of one of his tenants, that the cottage reminded him of a great shame of his political life; and he explained it by saying that the tenant always annoyed him by his opposition at every election, until at last Lord Aberdeen revenged himself by lowering his rent one guinea. This took the independent elector from the list of of the enfranchised and Lord Aberdeen was annoyed no more.

—The Hartford Courant believes that "on the whole and in the long run, it is the wisest thing, even for a politician, to have a conscience, and a great blunder not to have it." Dixon?

— A natural history lecturer recently spoke about the ork at sea. A green listener supposed he meant the ordinary fish-'ork.

"IT'S THE EARLY BIRD," ETC.

BY A LIE-A-BED.

More than one has shown how hollow
Is this proverb and absurd,
For the worm, it sure must follow,
Got up earlier than the bird.

Doubtless, too, the bird in question,
Eating with too great a zeal,
Suffered much from indigestion,
Owing to that morning meal.

And it would not be surpassing
If that birdie fell a prey
To the sportsman,—early rising
Makes the aim so sure they say.

Perhaps its young, too,—had it any?—
By their parent left forlorn.
Caught catarrhal ailments many,
From the keen, cold air of morn.

Other birds,—for birds will chatter—
When they saw the bird alight,
Might have chirped with scornful patter,
"Ah! the rake's been out all night!"

Summing up the case concisely,
This decidedly I say:
Early birds don't get on nicely.
Early rising does not pay.

THE EQUITABLE

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES,

Office No. 92 Broadway, New York,

The most successful Life Insurance Company in the World.

All surplus premiums of profits returned to the Policy-holders, instead of being partially or wholly appropriated to the use of the Stockholders, as is the usage with all "Mixed" and "Proprietary" Companies.

Dividends made annually, from the start, and not postponed until the third, fourth or fifth year, as in most other companies.

Profits apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division; and not by the mode adopted by many companies, which is grossly UNJUST to a large proportion of the Policy-holders.

Assets in Cash, - - - - $8,000,000.

(None of this is in the Note-of-hand of Policy-holders, as in many other Companies.)

Its Annual Income, - - $5,000,000.

(No portion of this is composed of Promissory-Notes, as in all Note-Companies.)

The Cash Income is constantly increasing with tremendous rapidity, and, as a necessary consequence, swelling the enormous cash accumulation which forms the security to Policy-holders.

All Premiums and All Losses Paid in Cash.

No Promissory-Notes to be deducted from the face of the Policy when it matures, as in all Note-Companies.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. S. LIBBY,

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, APRIL 17, 1869.

The News.

New York has ratified the 15th Constitutional Amendment. Twenty-one States have already done so,—and only five more are needed to make it the law of the land.

The U. S. Supreme Court has decided that judges are not liable to suits by private individuals for their judicial acts.

Venezuela has a new revolution, and its Congress is arrayed against its President.

All the passenger cars of the Union Pacific Railroad are required to accommodate travel west.

Crop prospects in Texas are poor.

People from New Mexico, and army officers from the plains say they anticipate the worst Indian war this summer ever known. The Indians are concentrated; they will sell their skins, get their ammunition and arms, and when the grass is strong, about July, they will make a general warfare on the whites.

The U. S. Senate ratified the claims treaty with Peru, and Mr. Anthony replied to Mr. Sprague.

Secretary Boutwell discharged over one hundred clerks of the Johnson-copper persuasion, on Thursday.

The captured American brig Mary Lowell has been adjudged a legal prize by the Spanish courts. The acting consul-general has sent the U. S. S. Penobscot to Key West, with dispatches informing our government of the facts.

The Cuban revolutionists represent that they have an army of 42,000 men.

☞ Col. Charles O. Rogers, psoprietor of the Boston Journal, died in that city Thursday evening.—The Journal during his proprietorship has been a faithful reporter of news, political and general, as free from party bias as possible. And as it has circulated largely in New Hampshire, through the entire length of the State, it has let a good deal of daylight into dark places, which used to shape their views of public affairs mostly by such light as they got from the Patriot in Mr. Isaac Hill's day. Other Boston papers, and those of our own State of equal talent or superior, have also done their share of the enlightenment;—but none we think have done more, perhaps no one quite so much as the Journal, in the way above noted. Its politics have not been neutral nor doubtful;—but they have not shaped its news.

THE HALE-PERRY AFFAIR.—Senators Cragin and Patterson had something to say in the executive session of the Senate on Thursday, about newspaper correspondents, because the Hale-Perry documents have just got into print. It is said these documents were furnished our State Department confidentially by the Spanish government, and that Secretary Fish made a special request of the Senate to treat them as confidential. These two senators are reported as having pitched into Mr. Perry quite roughly, and as having talked about an investigating committee to overhaul the journalists.

The Galaxy for May is on our table, fresh from the publishers. No magazine is more welcome to its readers than the Galaxy—always interesting and never tedious.

Thus seven revolutions a minute of a four-foot wheel gives one mile an hour, within a fraction; and seventy revolutions a minute, ten miles an hour. So says the Scientific American.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, April 14.

Numerous were the enquiries this morning as to the cause of the rum-shops being closed. Such a state of things is of so rare occurrence that it is no wonder people were surprised. On inquiry I learned that several witnesses summoned to testify in relation to alleged violations of the prohibitory liquor law in Fremont and Raymond, appeared before the Grand Jury yesterday so completely under the influence of liquor, as to be utterly unable to give coherent evidence; and that Mr. Solicitor Brown said if the same thing occurred to-day, measures would be adopted to bring to justice the parties that sold the witnesses the liquor; and that this remark, which of course was carried directly to the rumsellers, was the cause of most of the rum-shops remaining to-day with closed shutters and locked doors.

Had it not been a painful and sickening sight, it would have been amusing to see the thirsty inebriates vainly travelling from one place to another in pursuit of their morning "bitters," their anxiety to procure a fresh supply of the liquid poison plainly showing the extremes to which men will go in the gratification of a vitiated appetite:—while the action of the rumsellers, in closing their places during the session of the Grand Jury, proves that they stand in wholesome fear of the law, if only there is a prospect of its provisions being enforced.

Thursday, 15th. The first case on trial to-day was Boardman vs. Brown. This suit was brought to recover on a note given by deft. to one Page, which was transferred to another party, and so on until it came into possession of the plff. Deft. claimed that the words "or order" were put into the note after he gave it, and without his knowledge or consent. Page swore that the words were added by Brown, after the note was written, at his (Page's) suggestion; he refusing to take the note unless it was made negotiable, and on this the case turned. Verdict for plaintiff. Frink & Butler for Plff; Bartlett for deft.

The Grand Jury came in at 11 1-2 A. M. and the following indictments were read by the Clerk:—

Frederick Rice,—Breaking and entering, and stealing overcoat of value of $40 in Portsmouth. Plead—No Guilty, but subsequently retracted, and pleaded guilty of stealing the overcoat. Sentence two years hard labor in State Prison.

William Locke,—Larceny of coat at Portsmouth; Plea Guilty. Sentence—six months in County jail, and to pay a fine of $30, and costs of Court. Frank Lynch,—Breaking and entering Bridewell at Portsmouth, and damaging the same. Plea—Not Guilty. Tried and acquitted this P. M.

Chas. E. Richmond,—Breaking and entering store of C. A. Merrill in this town, and stealing therefrom money and goods to the value of $50. Plea, Not Guilty. Admitted to bail in the sum of $800.

Peter Lincoln,—Larceny of coat and small sum of money at Portsmouth.—Plead, Guilty of simple larceny. Sentence—six months in County jail, and to pay a fine of $30 and costs of Court.

The following indictments were found for violation of the liquor law. True M. Gould, 3; Silas O. Wheeler, 4; Patrick Conners, 2; Jacob Elliott, 2; Daniel L. Magoon, 2; Jeremiah Banfield, 5.

The Eastern Railroad Company was indicted for running over and killing the son of C. Augustus Oehls, at Portsmouth, Chas. C. Thompson for illegal voting, and Wm. H. Danielson for stealing a watch and money.

The Court adjourned till Monday at 9 1-2 o'clock, A. M. H.

It is an excellent appointment, well earned by long continued and faithful services in the Republican cause, and is received with great satisfaction by his hosts of friends throughout the District. His large and varied experience as a disbursing officer, in the army with his excellent record in that and many other positions of trust, gives the strongest assurance of the successful and honorable performance of his new duties.

☞ We think April is cold: so it is; but better so than a sudden and violent thaw might have been.—In Maine, the people in the interior of the State are giving thanks because the great body of the snow is taking itself away by slow degrees, and may not after all be the occasion of a severe freshet. The matter is being very satisfactorily settled.

—A plan for cutting a canal through the valley of the Garonne, France, to unite the Mediterranean and the Bay of Biscay, is receiving much attention and is favorably regarded. The cost of the scheme is estimated at $88,400,000 and to be possible of accomplishment in six years. The projected canal would be for merchant and war ships of the largest size.

—The Voz de Cuba, printed at Havana, says the troops and the rebels coming close together near Bayamo, recently, "were under the necessity of firing on each other." What a horrible war! Several casualties are said to have occurred.

—Out of forty-two canal boats which arrived at Chicago one day last week, all but two were laden with corn, the aggregate amount being 240,000 bushels.

SECURITY.—One of the greatest conveniences for persons possessing valuables, and one that has become a decided success in a comparatively short space of time, is the institution known as the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston. Individual safes (of which the lessee keeps the key,) are set in a vault as nearly fire and burglar proof as human skill and ingenuity can make it, and the vaults are guarded incessantly, both night and day. So great has been the demand during the past year, for the ample security thus given, that the managers have been obliged to add eight hundred safes, at a rental of from $20 to $100, to their original number. Circulars, furnishing full information, may be had on application to Henry Lee, Manager.

The Purest and Safest.

The efficacy of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have."

But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a PREPARATORY ANTIDOTE to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is the HOUSEHOLD TONIC of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of Science recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the medicine of the people, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales. a13

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and for one night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart Frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miser-like care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief.—Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGH-LY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. a12 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and set it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the whole of the medicines which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they stop a cough, they stop the night chills, they stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the liver begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. The Mandrake Pills act freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

No. 1 Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his friends have long given up pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery he has enjoyed uninterrupted health. Numerous other Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1ja4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being unable to effect a cure, and he wrote a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for the letter, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to two years of age. For nearly 20 years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. NAVY YARD MATTERS.—At a meeting of the workmen on Friday the following resolutions were passed.

Whereas, In view of the late order of the Hon. Secretary of the Navy reducing the pay of the workmen on this Navy Yard, which evinces a disposition to depreciate honest labor while those receiving large salaries are undisturbed, and,

Whereas, we are now and always have been a law abiding people and honestly believe the laws of Congress are as binding upon one class of citizens as another, therefore

Resolved, That we endorse the eight hour law as just and equitable, and are ready to sustain it at any sacrifice.

2d, That the eight hour law has nothing to do with the rate of wages, that being fixed by a previous law.

3d. That we consider the course taken by the Hon. Secretary as unjust and unlawful, inosmuch as the average time under the (so called) "Ten hour system," was but a little over nine hours per day.

It was also voted,

That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the Portsmout Press, with a request that they be printed.

That copies of the above be sent to each member of Congress from Maine and New Hampshire; also a copy to the Hon. Secretary of the Navy.

Orders were received from the Navy Department on Friday, to fit out the Nantasket, that she may be taken to Boston; and 30 or 40 Blacksmiths, Machinists, &c., are to be taken on in the Steam Engineering Department.

☞ It appears that Mrs. Cutts gave by her will;

To the Portsmouth Athenæum $3000.

To the Portsmouth Howard Benevolent Society, $3000.

To St. John's Society, Portsmouth, $1000.

To her Executors $20,000, in trust, to prepare, widen and ornament the sidewalk from the dwelling houses on Richards Avenue to South street and the Cemetery, and fence her lot in the Cemetery, erect monuments to the deceased, and her sisters, and to keep the same in repair.

A VERY DESIRABLE COLONY.—St. Johnsbury, Vt., has a goodly representation in Portsmouth. More of the same sort would be a desirable addition to our list of enterprising citizens. They are Messrs. Geo. W. Butler, teller of the National Mechanics and Traders Bank; Lafayette S. Butler, cashier of the N. H. National Bank; Jerome C. Butler, firm of Butler & Laighton, grocers; A. D. Rowell and John W. Hutchinson, jewellers, &c.; Warren Graham, who is with Messrs. R. & H.; and Holland Wheeler, at Mr. Howard N. Dunyan's Store. The wives of Hon. John R. Reding and Mr. J. C. Butler belong to the list, to which may also be added Mr. A. B. Hutchinson, (father of J. W. H.) who has just purchased the Hatch farm in Greenland, and removed thither.

CALLED.—Mr. E. S. Huntress of this city, of the Senior Class in Andover Seminary, has received a unanimous call from the Congregational Church and Society of Wareham, Mass., at a salary of $1200, and only one service in Summer. He is to settle after graduating in July, the Society supplying the pulpit in the interim.

GREENLAND.—John E. Holmes Esq., removed from the Post Office in this town a year ago by Johnson, Sinclair & Co., has been reinstated, and George E. Brackett removed.

The Sale by Auction of the Sheafe farm on Peverly Hill, on Saturday afternoon, by Mr. Hackett, presents a rare opportunity to purchase a good farm in close proximity to our market.

MARRIAGES.

In Kittery, April 15, by Rev. Mr. Pillsbury, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gose, Mr. AUGUSTUS O. GOODSOE of the U. S Navy and Miss F. EMMA JONES —both of Kittery.

In Dover, March 17, Mr. HORACE J. GOODWIN of So. Berwick and Miss ELECTA J. BRAGDON of York.——April 8, Mr. JOHN SMILLIE and Miss MARTHA SOUTHWICK.——Mr. JAMES CARLTON and Miss ANNIE M. PARCHER.——Mr. J. HENRY SELLEA, formerly of Saco, and Miss ANNIE E. BROWN.

DEATHS.

☞ The Funeral of Mrs. H. F. GERRISH will take place from her late residence on Middle St., this (Saturday) afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In Greenland, April 8, WESLEY B. TASKER, aged 21, formerly of Exeter.

Brig Birchard & Torrey, Frisbee, from Portland for Charleston, with hay, which was towed into Norfolk 12th inst in distress, had experienced very heavy weather, was blown to the eastward of the Gulf, sprung mainmast, split sails, and was making for Norfolk for repairs; anchored in Lynnhaven Bay on the 10th in thick weather, with both anchors. Finding his vessel dragging, the captain set the colors of distress, when the steamer Isaac Bell went to his assistance, and at the risk of much damage to his steamer got a hawser to her and towed her to Norfolk (as before reported.)—The brig was compelled to slip one anchor and chain, as the sea was running very high.

LOST, in the Cars, between Portsmouth and Newburyport, Wednesday eve'g, April 14, a BREAST PIN. The finder will be suitably rewarded on leaving it at the Chronicle Office.

☞ It is said that a scientific gentleman of this city whose wife had been out of health for several years, analyzed the tea she drank and found that the coloring material was gypsum and Prussian blue.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2, per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ Fannie Patch, a little daughter of Jesse E. Patch, at Kittery, broke her leg about half way between the knee and ankle, while playing with her companions on Friday.

☞ That liberal sample of Maple Sugar, from Mr. Gilbert's fruit and confectionary store, is a very reasonable and agreeable present.—See advertisement.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. John E. Amazeen for a fine bunch of Trailing Arbutus, beautifully pink and white, and fragrant as of old,—the first we have seen so forward.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

A CALL TO BOSTON.—We learn that Rev. James DeNormandie of this city, who has so far recovered from his late indisposition as to indulge in out-door exercise, has received a call to settle as colleague with the Rev. Dr. Gannett, of Boston. The venerable Doctor's health is such as to render a vacation necessary, and it is the desire of his Society to give him the benefit of a European tour.

THE OPERATIC CONCERT, by the Portsmouth Philharmonic Society, at City Hall on Wednesday evening, was "as good as Boston." The Cantata of Esther was rendered in a style that would have done credit to a professional ratherthan an amateur troupe. The voices were fine and well trained, the acting natural and impressive; the costumes and scenery superb. We were glad to see that they had a good house, composed of the best class of our citizens, and that all the indications were that they were highly appreciated. We have heard them praised by men of musical, artistical and literary tastes, and we hope that when next they are on their rounds they will not fail to give us a call.—Newburyport Herald.

The Boston Traveller says the Cantata in a musical point of view was well rendered, the solo voices being especially good, while the choruses and concerted peices were given with precision and fine effect. A repetition of the work would be gratifying to all.

☞ After all said, there few exhibition Halls except in the large cities, so well adapted and convenient, both for audience and performers, as the Temple here in Portsmouth; and the proprietor and manager, Mr. J. W. Stavers, is quite tasteful and very efficient, and every way accommodating and obliging. For much of the neatness and good appearance of his new scenery and stage appointments, he is indebted to the skill and nice workmanship of Messrs. Grogan & Gardiner, as layers of panelled paper, &c.

☞ We understand that Mr. James W. Teague of this city, who has been employed as Machinist at the Portsmouth Steam Factory for about twenty years, has accepted the offer to take charge of a large Machine Shop in Gloucester, Mass., and will enter on his new duties immediately. We regret to lose such excellent mechanics and estimable young men from the city, but hope the change will prove for his benefit.

VELOCIPEDING EXTRAORDINARY.—A well known bicyclist of this city, made a pleasure trip on his velocipede to Salisbury and back on Thursday, a distance of 40 miles, in 8 hours and 20 minutes. This is at the rate of one mile in 12 1-2 minutes, and is rather fast travelling, especially at this season of the year when the roads are not in the best condition. He created quite a sensation during his trip.

☞ Squibbs saw an energetic but inexperienced youth vainly endeavoring to dump a load of wood from a cart, on Wednesday, without taking out the tail-board, and continued on his way musing at the superior wisdom that mankind displays when experience has not taught them to lessen labor by the occasional use of mother wit.

☞ In consequence of a disappointment as to the preacher for the day, the Universalist Church will not be opened on Sunday morning; but the Sunday School will be held at half paft 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

☞ We are informed by Rev. Mr. De Normandie, that he hat not received a call from Dr. Gannott's church in Boston, as has been prematurely stated.

SAD—for Exeter politicians to pay their income taxes in Dover! Too bad, poor fellows,—but the mountain cannot always go to Mahomet.

[Jack-Shooting on a Foggy Night.

Concluded from Yesterday.

But everybody will see that his position was a very trying one. Three several times, as he afterward informed me, did he drive that boat into the bank, and three several times, when he got to the bow, that boat was in the middle of the river. At last Martin's patience gave way, and out of the fog come to my ears ejaculations of disgust, and such strong expletives as are found only in choice old English, and howls of rage and disappointment that none but a guide could utter in like circumstances.

But human endurance has a limit. I was fast reaching a condition of mind when family pride and transmitted powers of resolution fail. What did I care for my father's exploit with the rats at the two-inch auger hole? What did the family grip amount to after all? I was fast losing sight of the connection such vanities sustained to me. I was undergoing a rapid change in many respects,—of body as well as mind! When I got hold of that deer's leg, I was mentally full of pluck and hope; my hunting coat, of Irish corduroy, was whole and tightly buttoned.

Now, mentally, I was demoralized; every button was gone from the coat, and the right sleeve hung disconnected with the body of the garment. The jack had been jerked from my head, and lay a rod off in the marsh grass. I could on no longer. I would make one more effort, one more appeal. I did. "Martin," said I, "are n't you ever going to get out of that boat?"

The heavy thug of the boat against the bank, an explosive and sputtering noise which sounded very much like the word "damn" spoken from between shut teeth, a splash, a scramble, and then I caught sight of the gaunt form of Martin, paddle in hand and hunting knife between his teeth, loping along toward me, through the tall, rank grass. But, alas! it was too late. The auspicious moment had passed. My fingers one by one loosened their hold, and the deer, gathering all his strength with a terrific elevation of his feet, sent me reeling backward, just as Martin, doubled up into a heap, was about to light upon his back. He missed the back, but, as good luck would have it, even while the buck was in the air,—the deer going up as Martin came down,—the fingers of the guide closed with a full and desperate grip upon his tail.

Quick as a flash I recovered myself from the bogs, replaced the jack, which fortunately had not been extinguished, upon my head, and stood an interested spectator of the proceedings. Now everybody knows how wild deer can jump when frightened; and the buck, with Martin fastened to his tail, was thoroughly roused. The first leap straightened the poor fellow out like a lath, but it did not shake him from his hold. If the reader has ever seen a small boy hanging to the tail-board of a wagon, when the horse was at full speed, he can form a faint idea of Martin's appearance as the deer tore like a whirlwind through the tall grass. Blinded and bewildered by the light, frenzied with fear, the buck, as deer often will, instead of leading off, kept racing up and down just within the border of light made by the jack, and occasionally making a bolt directly for it.

My position was unique. I was the sole spectator of a series of gymnastic evolutions truly original. Small as the audience was, the performers were in earnest. Had there been ten thousand spectators, the actors could not have laid themselves out with greater energy. No applause could have got another inch of jump out of the buck, or another inch of horizontal position out of Martin. Whenever, at long intervals, his feet did touch the ground, it was only to leave for another and a higher aerial plunge. Now and then the buck would take a short stretch into the fog and darkness, only to re-appear with the same inevitable attachment of arms and legs streaming behind. The scene was too ludicrous to be endured in silence.

The desperate expression of Martin's face, as he was swung round and jerked about, was enough to make a monk explode with laughter while doing penance. I rested my hands on either knee, and laughed until tears rolled down my cheeks. The merriment was all on my side. Martin was silent as death, save when the buck, in some extraordinary and desperate leap, twitched a grunt out of him. Between my paroxysms I exhorted him; it was my time to exhort. "Martin," I shouted, "hang on; that's your deer. I quit all claim to him Hang on, I say.—Save his tail anyhow."

Whether Martin appreciated the advice, whether he exactly saw where the "laugh came in," I cannot say, and he could not explain. Still I am led to think that it was to him no trifling affair, but a matter which moved him profoundly. At last the knife was jerked from his teeth, either because of the violence of his exertions or because he had inadvertently loosened his grasp on it. Be this as it may, Martin's mouth was at last opened and out of it were projected some of the most extraordinary expressions I ever heard. His sentences were singularly detached. Even his words were widely separated, but brought out with great emphasis. He averaged about one word to a jump. If another got partially out, it was suddenly and ruthlessly snapped off in mid utterance. The result of his efforts to express himself reached my ears very much in this shape:—Jump—will—you—be-e—damned—I've-e—GOT—you!—I'll—hold-d—on—till—your—ta-i-l—comes—off-f.—Jump-p-p—be D-D-DAMNED—I've—got—you-u-u.

When the contest would have ended, what would have been the result had it continued, whether the buck or the guide would have come off the winner, it is not easy to say. Nor is it necessary to speculate, for the close was speedily reached, and in an unlooked-for manner. The deer had led off some dozen jumps out of the circle of light, and I was beginning to think that he had shaken himself loose from his enemy, when all at once he emerged from the fog with Martin still streaming behind him, and made straight for the river.—Never did I see a buck vault higher or project himself farther in successive leaps. The Saranacer was too much put to it to articulate a word; only a series of grunts, as he was twitched along, revealed the state of his pent-up feelings.

Past me the deer flashed like a feathered shaft, heading directly for the bank. "Hang on, Martin!" I screamed, sobered by the thought that he would save him yet if he could only retain his grip,—"hang to him like death!" He did. Never did my admiration go out more strongly toward a man than it did toward Martin, as, red in the face and unable to relieve himself by a single expression, he went tearing along at a frightful rate in full bolt for the river.

Not one man in fifty could have kept his single-handed grip, jerked, at the close of such a struggle as the Saranacer had passed through, and twitched mercilessly as he now was being thro' the tall bog-grass and over the uneven ground. But the guide's blood was up, and nothing could loosen his clutch.—The buck reached the bank, and gathering himself up for a desperate leap, he flung his body into the air. I saw a pair of widely separated legs swing wildly upward, and the red face of Martin, head downward, and reversed, so as to be turned directly toward me by the somersault he was turning, disappeared like a waning rocket in the fog overhanging the river. Once in the water the buck was no match for his foe.

I hurried to the edge of the bank.—Beneath me, and half across the river, a desperate struggle was going on. Martin had found his voice, and was using it as if to make up for lost time. In a moment a gurgling sound reached my ears, and I knew that the deer's head was under water; and shortly, in answer to my hail, the guide appeared, dragging the buck behind him. The deer was drowned and quite dead.—Drawing my knife across the still warm throat, we bled him well, and, waiting for Martin to rest himself a moment, slid him down into the boat and laid him at full length along the bottom.—Taking our places at either end, and, lifting our paddles, we turned our faces campward.

Down through the dense, damp fog, cleaving with dripping faces its heavy folds, we passed; glided out of the mist and darkness of the lowland upon the clear waters of the lake, now lively with ripples, and under the brightly shining stars, nor checked our measured stroke until we ran our shell ashore in the glimmer of the fire, by the side of which, rolled in his blanket, with his jacket for his pillow, John was quietly sleeping. At the touch of the boat upon the beach he started up, and the coffee he had made ready to boil at our coming was shortly ready, and, as we drank the warming beverage with laughter which startled the ravens from the pines, and woke the loons, sleeping on the still water of Beaver Bay, we told John the story of our adventure with a buck up Marion River on a foggy night.

And often, as I sit in my study, hot and feverish with toil which wearies the brain and wrinkles the face, I pause, and throwing down pen and book, fancy myself once more upon that bank, enveloped in fog, with the buck, and Martin at his tail, careering before me. Then, with brain relaxed and eyes that had been hot with the glimmer of the gas on the white sheet cooled and washed in mirthful tears, I turn to pen and book and graver thoughts, refreshed and strengthened. Blessed be recollection, which, while it allows the ills and cares of life to fade away, enables us to carry all our pleasures and joys forever with us as we journey along!

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assortion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR!

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

CORRY O'LANUS ON BOYS.—Some things may be said in favor of boys; some trades would not live without them. The glass-put-in-men wouldn't have much to do, and putty would be on the decline, if there were no boys to break the windows.

There would be no customers for the cast iron peaches and green apples which come early in the seasons; but for the boys, the doctors wouldn't have so much to do in curing cases of cholera morbus arising therefrom.

Boys can be useful when they have a mind to, and can sell newspapers, black boots, hold horses, and do chores.

In printing offices the boys are known as devils—printers have a plain way of speaking.

Boys individually are better than boys collectively.

If there were only one boy in the world, I think he would be a good boy; it generally takes at least two boys to get up any mischief.

Have one boy in a store and you can have him useful.

Hire a second boy, and their time will be chiefly devoted to chasing one another over the counter, and firing the dust brush and directory at each other's head.

A boy begins to be a nuisance when he is eight years old. How soon he grows out of it depends on circumstances. Some never do.

It is questionable whether boys lead an enjoyable existence. They take a great deal of fun at other people's expease, but they have most always got grievances. They would like to have their own way a little more, and a pretty way it would be.

Give a boy a choice of all occupations in life, and the chances are that he would prefer either to be a Robinson Crusoe on a desert island, or a captain of a band of robbers, such as he had read about, and seriously thinks of going into one or the other of these desirable occupations when he gets to be a man. He has a great respect for a stage driver and the captain of a canal boat—there is an idea of command in these positions that takes his ideas. His idea of being a man is, having plenty of money, doing what you please, and being able to smoke or chew tobacco without getting sick over it.

Somebody wrote a song, 'Would I were a boy again.' Those who had the bringing up of him are not likely to have the same sentiment. Raising a boy once is as much as anybody wants to undergo, and, fortunately, when they once grow up they stay growed up, and have children of their own to afflict them.

A DANGEROUS FEAT.—Saturday afternoon a young man by the name of Charles Marston advertised that he would sailed the Augusta dam between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock. As the river, owing to the recent rains, has of late been very high, the proposed feat created quite an excitement. At the appointed time a large concourse of people had assembled on both banks of the river to witness the daring exploit. Marston soon after started from the main body of ice, about twenty rods from the dam, in a small wherry, steering with a common paddle. The current soon took the boat, and he was propelled through the water with considerable speed until he arrived at the edge of the dam, when he shot over with fearful velocity. As the boat went over Marston flung himself nearly on his face, clinging to the sides, and in that position both man and boat disappeared in the boiling surge below, but almost instantly rose and rode out safely into the stream, amid the cheers of the crowd. Marston is a young man of about 20 years of age, and very small. The height of the falls is some thirty feet. A collection of $25.00 rewarded him for his risk.—Portland Daily Advertiser.

Rather a poor reward, that, for what seems a foolish risk; yet the skillful expedient he adopted, should be a valuable hint to any person who may happen to be caught in the same way above a dam.

Marston made a second trip in a light boat over the Kennebec dam Thursday afternoon. This time he went over the centre dam, where the fall is the highest. An immense crowd was in attendance, and the voyager escaped uninjured.

On Friday he again went over the dam, but this time in company with Major Frank Davis. They made the trip, but the boat upset in the surf, and they had a terrible struggle to save their lives. Another boat went to their rescue and aided them. This will end all further foolish attempts of this sort there.

—The Bangor Whig is right in saying that in this country "taxation is adjusted in such a manner that the luxuries of life bear the chief burden of government," as far as the direct taxes are concerned.

— The Chicago river tunnel is now completely open, and is largely used.

LIFE.

The following inscription is taken from Greyfriars' Churchyard:

Our life is but a winter's day;
Some only breakfast and away;
Others to dinner stay,
And are full fed;
The oldest man but sups
And goes to bed.
Large in his debt
That lingers out the day;
He that goes soonest
Has the least to pay.

—Speculation in real estate in Chicago is very active. Land in the vicinity of the proposed parks is worth twelve times as much as a few months since.

— Too many noble horses are checked up as tight as they can bear, and spend hours of irritation and agony with a rasping bit in their mouths.

— English papers speak of a girl still living in Wales who has not eaten anything for sixteen months.—A profitable boarder.

AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY,

David H. Carpenter was hanged on Friday, at Angelica, N. Y.. for the murder of his brother, Richard E. Carpenter, on the 25th of September last. A good place to hang, perhaps, but 'twas not an angelic operation.

The brig H. B. Colson was seized at New Orleans, on Friday, by Collector Casey for alleged violation of the revenue laws, and because it was alleged she had on board arms for Cuba. The investigation revealed an attempt to defraud the insurance companies, the captain stating that he had been offered $5000 to take the vessel to sea and destroy her.

The Cuban government officials are confiscating the estates of prominent revolutionists.

WINTER IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.—The Humboldt, (Nevada,) Register, chronicles the return of two residents of Unionville from "the States."

They were in the Rocky mountains during the recent blockade on the Union Pacific Railroad, and say the snow was not more than four inches deep, but in that elevated region the winds held high carnival, and in sportive revelry swept the snow into the deep cuts of the railroad, obstructing the passage of the cars. In Echo Canon, east of Salt Lake, embankments had settled to such an extent as to render the road impassable; broken freight cars were piled high in places where smash-ups had occurred. Numerous herds of antelope were seen along the road east of the Rocky mountains.

☞ The balmy weather of Friday and Saturday started the green grass in all directions, and the refreshing rain of Saturday afternoon laid the dust finely.

NOT TWO FOR ONE.—The rebel organ grinder says the Collector overreached himself by informing the U. S. assistant assessor of a Gold Watch belonging to a certain gentleman of this City, thereby subjecting him to a tax of one dollar, inasmuch as the aforesaid gentleman notified the City assessors that the collector has a "female canine" on which he is to pay a tax of two dollars; but the aforesaid collector goes him one dollar better, for the canine is a male, and was already assessed.—Will J. H. D. make another examination? C.

A RICH PARISH.—The First Parish in Portland, (Unitarian,) at their parish meeting Monday afternoon, fixed the salary of the pastor at $3300 per annum. A music which was vigorously opposed by certain members of the society, and a very pleasant and animated debate followed, but the motion was finally passed. During the past year the parish debt has been entirely extinguished.

Gen. C. C. Andrews, of Minnesota, who has been appointed Minister to Denmark, is a native of New Hampshire, and, we believe, of Hillsborough County. He served through the war with great credit, enlering the service as Captain and coming out as Mayor General.

In some liquor cases from Fremont and Raymond, which were brought before the Grand Jury at Exeter on the 13th inst., the witnesses were so intoxicated that they were not allowed to testify.

Edwin Vaughan, of Claremont, who has been appointed Consul at Coaticooke, Canada, succeeds Charles H Powers, of Jaffrey, who has been Consul there six yeaes.

Mrs. Betsy C. Sargent died in Windham, April 6th, at the age of ninety-two years, and three months. She hardly knew what sickness or disease was, and had never been confined to her bed a week.

She was born, married, and died in the same town, never took medicine nor wore thin shoes, was a great reader, particularly of the Bible, had a retentive memory and was as fond of a joke as any of her ancestors. which were Scotch Irish. She always lived and slept by an open fire, and would never adopt the use of a cook-stove.

Pelham has elected General Joshua Atwood as moderator for thirty-one consecutive years.

Deerfield pays a bounty of twenty cents for every woodchuck killed in that town from April 1st to June 1st.

The soldiers' fair in Concord last week netted seventeen hundred dollars.

Mr. Russell, the landlord of the Central House, in Goffstown, several weeks since surrendered his license to sell liquor, and Messrs. Tirrell, (who keep at the Taggart stand, now known as the Uncanoonuck House,) and Stevens a restaurant, both wanting an excuse to throw out the liquor, were requested do so by the Selectmen, which they cheerfully did, and now a man must go beyond the limits for a drink.

Melvin Mitchell of Sutton, accused of causing the death of his wife by burning her with kerosene oil, was indicted at the recent session of the grand jury at Concord, for an assault on his infant child. The dying declaration of his wife cleared him from the charge of murder.

Rev. Samuel C Spofford, recently of Bedford, died suddenly at Laporte, Indianna, on Monday last. He graduated at Darmouth College in 1848. His age was 53 years.

The Pittsfield Times says: "The railroad will reach us long before we are ready to receive it. The whole winter has been spent in discussing doubts and fears, repeating idle and foolish rumors, and little preparation for increased business or population made."

The Purest and Safest.

The efficacy of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons within our number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have."

But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a REMEDIATORY ARTIFICE to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is the HOUSEHOLD TONIC of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of Science recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales. a13

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, be equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so spent, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the PAIN KILLER. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief. Thus were we have repeatedly witnessed it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. al2 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the doctor knows the disease and cure well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has passed the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use at times with great care,) that will PURGE the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which is in these preparations is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood, without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body; the stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. diyja4

In 1802 the grandfather of Dr. Tobias introduced the Venetian Liniment in England. It was a success, although the price was a guinea per bottle. His late Majesty, William IV., used it for Chronic Rheumatism, and was entirely cured after suffering for two years, his attending physician being amazed at the effect; enclosed is a letter of thanks, which is now in possession of my uncle, in Liverpool. I have offered £100 sterling for the cure, but it was refused. In 1847 I put it out in the United States, and now in 1868, the sale is immense. Thousands of families are never without it. It is safe and innocent to apply externally, and to take internally. For twenty-one years I have warranted it to cure the following complaints: Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic, Cramps, Vomiting and Sea Sickness, taken internally; and Chronic Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Toothache, Frosted Feet, Swellings, Insect Stings, and Pains in Chest, Back and Limbs, externally. It never fails, if used as directed. For Cholera and dysentery it is certain, if used when first attacked. No one once using it will ever be without it. Sold by the Druggists. AN OLD LEDGER.—A friend has loaned to Uncle Toby, for study and use, an ancient Ledger, a large folio, bound in Parchment, containing 271 folios, that is 542 pages, very thick firm paper, and the ink all perfect, though the book is 190 years old; as the accounts therein, range from 1676 to 1688.

On the outside of the cover, is an indistinct stamp, the figure of an eagle, and this title;—"C L No. I Ledger begun Anno 1678."

It was undoubtedly the ledger of an eminent merchant in Boston, Mr. USHER, a brother of Lt. Gov. John Usher; but the merchant owner's name is not to be found in the book, nor is it dated at Boston, or any place. This, though a curious fact, and a great fault, is by no means peculiar to this old ledger; for we have seen a number of account books, ancient and modern, with the same fault. The intrinsic evidence, in the book itself, however, as above suggested, fully proves its ownership and locality.

The accounts, of course, were kept in Pounds, Shillings, and Pence, (lawful money,) i. e., the pound was $8.33 1-3 cents. Large sums of money were handled, and the commissions were usually a very small per centage, though the gains of some adventures were large, and the losses of others rather severe.

In the Cash account of August 24, 1678, is an entry, "by Profit and Loss paid sundry expenses at my late wives Funeral £143 ±15 d1." This sum, about $479, shows the family to be wealthy, and their habits to be costly; other figures show the same things.

In 1684, our merchant made a Voyage to London, and married there, for we find, credited, in Profit and Loss account, Nov. 30, "By Voyage to London, for £1200 sterling, in pt. of my wife's dowry, £1500."—And a charge is made of £24, "pd. my wife & 2 servts. passage, & given the ma," (probably a present to somebody.) Also, "Cash given the Docr. of the Dolphin, for head money, &c."

There is an account, running from 1677 to 1679, with Sr. William Warren, Wm. Wood, esq., Sr. John Shorter & Gregory Paige of London, for account of Masts.—This account footed up near £4000, and was not closed till 1684, at the time of the second marriage.

Richard Waldren senr. of Dover, and Nico. Shapleigh of Kittery,—furnished 36 masts, 20 yards and 20 bowsprits, for £1650.

In the account against Waldren & Shapleigh they are charged with 23 bbls. Pork, at prices varying from 62s to 65s per barrel., showing that pork used to come this way from Boston 190 years ago, somewhat as it does now.

For the Chronicle.

☞ A correspondent informs us that Kittery is in earnest on the Temperance question. The citizens held a grand Union Meeting at the M. E. Church Thursday evening; and addresses were made made by Revs. A. Cook, J. Wilson, J. Graves, J. A. Goss Wm. H. H. Pillsbury, also Messrs. Chadbourn, Adams and Williams. A very good feeling was manifested, and almost every person present voted to assist and sustain the 27 Town Committee and officers of Town to put a stop to the sale of ardent spirits—that is now reported sold on the sly.

The Committee are to meet in a few days to organize for a dicisive action, Hon. Mark Dennett chairman.

How well it would be if in entering business we could ask God to bless our business. If we are not in business that we can ask God to bless,—we are on the road to Hell.

☞ On Friday afternoon, a fire took place in the woods in the north part of this city, on the bank of the river, above Freeman's Point, destroying standing trees belonging to Timothy Dame, and Geo. W. Brown. The fire was probably caused by the burning of brush on an adjoining lot, where some choppers were at work, clearing land for Mayor Jones. The damage was said to be about $200.

☞ About a dozen vessels, mostly colliers, arrived in port on Saturday, and line the wharves at the North End. As an indication of brisk trade we hail these harbingers of business, and hope our quiet wharves will yet be the scenes of brisk and profitable trade.

☞ Thespian Rehearsal this evening at 8 o'clock, precisely.

From the Journal.

CITY PARK.—Our neighber "P." of the Chronicle takes exceptions to our article in the Journal of last week on this subject, and in his own estimation completely demolishes all our positions. As he prints our paragraph in the same paper with his imagined demolition thereof, we might trust his readers to judge between us, and dismiss the subject as did the submissive husband who, when reproached for enduring bodily castigation from an irritable wife, replied "Well, if it gratifies her and don't hurt me, what matters it?" But perhaps courtesy demands a brief rejoinder. At starting he says—"These objections offered by the Journal article were among the first considered and disposed of by the Board"—(the Trustees in charge of the Elwyn field)—and then he considerately believes us from the necessity of defence from the charge of reviving extinct issues by declaring that "the location (which was our leading objection) we never heard objected to before!" The statement that there is never any bad odor from the South Mill pond we won't combat; for a south wind when the water is drawn off and tides run low will carry refutation of our pleasant nighbor's pretence to the olfactory senses of half the residents of the city. Then we are told that "there is no necessity for the water often to be let out of the pond, if fitted for a mall, but it could be high tide all the while, except occasionally to change the water;" and then he tells us that he presumes that neither the pond nor the lands adjoining are for sale; and if the city cannot purchase the pond, how can it control its waters? The $6000 now asked for, our neighbor admits is but an opening wedge in this Common project. We think the tax-payers would like to have some approximate estimate of the probable expense before they are ready to enter blindly on such a project. The rate of taxation in this city this year is estimated at 2 2-3 per cent. It would be unwise therefore to take immediate action for the construction of a park; and any measures to increase the city debt just now should have the warrant of necessity. We might intimate that the new view of the residences bordering on the millpond is not a very desirable prospect for the proposed Common, but we will urge no new objections; let us have the matter fairly submitted to the people, and we will cheerfully accept their verdict.

It may be none too soon to be looking for a desirable site for a future mall for Portsmouth. The Crowds that assemble frequently at the Cemetery demonstrate the demand for a Common, and there are other lots than those proposed at the South end, of which it is probable a title could be obtained at less expense and trouble. We have no interest in any one in particular, but there are delightful sites on Middle street, which is fast becoming the Court end of the city, where the construction of a pond to suit a Common would be less expensive than to make a Common to suit the South Mill pond.

Reply.—How easy it is to set up an image of straw, and then knock it over, isn't it? We shall be very brief in our response. As to objections, we did not refer much to location, as we (and almost everybody else interested,) consider the South Road and Pond unobjectionable and incomparable. Besides, Mr. Elwyn has already given a lot there worth from $3000 to $5000; and if the Journal can point out a lot elsewhere half as good, and a man who will give half as much land, we should enjoy seeing it.

If the South Pond flats ever smell disagreeably, we have failed to perceive it in three years daily passing them. But if they do, is a fresh water made pond likely to be sweeter than salt water flowing from old ocean? The idea, too, seems almost ludicrous, to talk of making a pond, when there are forty acres of land so well situated on this fine sheet of water,—which land or water probably is not for sale to the City proper, but could perhaps be had in trust for all citizens' use forever. At least, one or two of the owners of the Pond stated to us, that they bought it, years ago, with the idea of improving it for public use at some time.

And here is just where the chief misunderstanding or misconception occurs—and there are none so blind as those who won't see. Says one objector, Oh, dear, how much it is going to cost the City, and how much it will increase our taxes! Oh no, is the answer, it is to be mainly done by private subscription, and the City Government is not to be responsible for it at all, and will only vote such assistance as they see fit. And instead of increasing taxes or City debt, it will only add to the taxable property in extent and value.

The fact is, the best way is for the thing to be kept clear from City responsibility altogether, although it should, if worthy, have the endorsement and some aid from the City Government, — as much as will "pay," and no more.—And if that Board of Trustees are not competent and judicious men for the work, let us have some that are; but if they are of the right sort, why, aid, encourage and back them up in their efforts solely for public good,—and not oppose their only feasible plan, by proposing others indefinite, impracticable or impossible.

The Journal does well not to urge any objections to the view from the proposed Common,—since there is absolutely no weight in any such objection.

In brief—we have deliberated and discussed this matter of a Common for a dozen or more years; and we are more and more convinced, that the best and only way to procure it, is as and where now suggested. And the readiness of three-quarters of the City Council to countenance and aid conditionally in the matter, with City funds, added to the almost daily offers of private subscriptions, ready when a start shall be made, which come to our knowledge,—convinces us that Portsmouth ought to have a Park, and almost assures us that she will ere long. The Merchant Service.—No. II.

Still another case, in which I was more immediately interested. I wish to give, as I feel at liberty to use names here; but I shall be most happy to give an apology over my signature to any person who may possibly feel aggrieved at my statements, and who shall succeed in convincing me that I ought to do so. Ten or twelve years ago I joined the ship "Francis P. Sage," of New York, (a superannuated cotton-box,) for a voyage to the Pacific, Melbourne being our first port. The captain was Wm. Ingersol, as handsome a man as I ever saw, and as brutal a scoundrel as ever went unhung. The first mate was a broken-down, drunken ex-captain whose name I withhold; the second an excellent seaman, but a brute, named Wm. Frost; and the third the captain's brother-in-law, John Waterhouse, nearly as bad.

On the way down New York harbor with the steamer ahead, Frost knocked a Peruvian sailor down with a handspike, and beat him with it after he was down, breaking his arm, — the pilot standing by at the time. From that hour until we let go the anchor in Melbourne harbor, 83 days after, the ship was a better representation of hell than I wish to see again. Not a single day passed without more or less of the men being beaten, kicked, knocked down and jumped upon, or in some way injured. The mate would have nothing to do with this treatment, so one day Ingersol beat him with a capstan-bar, badly hurting his wrist and jaw, and then turned him for'ard to work as a sailor. The ship had four boys. One of them was English, and the tortures inflicted on him would not be credited if written. The three American boys and myself (the only American in the fo'castle) were treated well enough,—I think no one of the four ever received a blow,—but no one with a soul could be a witness of the devilish cruelties practised there without detesting the perpetrators,—I am happy to say that my hatred for their works is as fervent and orthodox now as it was ten years ago.

We reached Melbourne at last, after what seemed an age, but was in reality a good passage, and commenced discharging cargo at once. On the second day after our arrival several of the men asked permission to see the consul, which was refused, of course. They then demanded to be taken before a magistrate, with a similar result. According to British law at that time, a refusal to comply with this last request subjected the master to a fine of not less than £50; but he acknowledged his refusal in the court, and the magistrate illegally remitted the penalty. Finding they had no other means of getting before the consul, the men "knocked off" and refused to work any more; the police-flag was hoisted, and the men taken ashore as prisoners,—the third mate remarking to me as they went over the side, "D—d fools! The consul here is a——, and can be bought for a ham and a cheese. They'll do a big lot,—the old man (espinin) was ashore last night!"

A sickening appearance the crew made in the court. More than half their number had bruised and cut faces or black eyes; one had a broken arm and was almost an idiot; the English boy had a cut, caused by a kick from a heavy boot, extending from his eye to the corner of his mouth; three men (one of them sixty years of age) were ruptured, and one had a fractured skull. (The last mentioned man escaped from the ship, and died soon after at Balaarat, from the effects of his injuries.) The magistrate before whom they were arraigned was one Lieut. Pasco, of the Royal Navy, who refused to listen to any of their statements, or to allow them to question the captain or his witnesses, and who soon sentenced them to three months imprisonment with hard labor. The American consul, Tarlton,* was on the bench at the time, and concurred in everything. That evening the third mate, Waterhouse, said to me, "Didn't I tell you so? That fellow (the consul) would hang every old sailor afloat for a barrel of flour. I know him from last voyage."

The men remained in custody till the ship was ready for sea, when they were taken on board; but, as they still refused to work, the captain, with the knowledge and consent (so he stated to the consul in Hong Kong) of the consul, tied their hands behind their backs, and then triced them up by the wrists, between decks, until they could but just touch their toes to the deck. In this position, (according to sworn testimony of another,—I did not see it,) they were kept for half an hour, screaming, groaning and begging for mercy, while the captain, his wife and her sister and brother, dined in the cabin, separated from them only by a thin bulk-head.

After that they went to work, and the ship shortly sailed for China, where one of the American boys, named Lushington, from Framingham, Mass., got on shore and laid the case before the consul, (a Mr. Roberts, I believe,) who compelled the captain to pay damages to and discharge the entire crew; and who commented so severely on the conduct of the Melbourne magistrate and consul that an investigation took place there, and Lieut. Pasco was removed from the bench he disgraced. What became of the consul I do not know.

PARKHA.

*I am not certain as to the name, but I speak of the person who disgraced the United States as consul at Melbourne, July and August, 1859.

POST OFFICE JOKES.—The Lewiston Journal says that a rough fellow threatened to "skin" the postmaster of that place because he would not give him an advertised letter. He was induced to show the documentary proof however, proceeding to extreme measures, and it was found that his misapprehension arose from seeing his name on the list of legal voters! So the post master escaped the fate of Apollo's rival, and was not flayed. Recently an Irish woman called at the same office, and on being told that there was a letter for her from the dead letter office, burst into tears, saying, "an sure I thought some of 'em mought been dead that I didn't hear from them before." An explanation dried her tears.

FORCE OF IMAGINATION.—The N. Y. Times says: The melancholy youth who attempted to shoot himself dead a day or two since at noon in the City Hall Park, in full view of the passers by, but who only succeeded in perforating his overcoat, affords a striking illustration of the strength of the human imagination. He thought he had killed himself, and fell prone upon the ground. Two policemen raised him, bore him tenderly to a carriage, and took him to the New York Hospital. All the way thither he believed that he was mortally wounded, and never ceased for a moment to piteously bewail his rashness. It was only after a physician had examined him that his mind was disabused of its false impression. He then found the use of his feet and walked out of the hospital as well as any one. This is analogous to that of an old wood-chopper whose nether limbs were encased in an old under garment of red flannel. His axe slipped and cut through his trowsers. Looking down he saw something red behind the rent, and at once thought he was seriously wounded. He thereupon fainted, and for a long time could not be convinced that his limb was unhurt. Imagination carries the mind to odd lengths sometimes.

—The city government of Concord have unanimously passed an ordinance to enforce the law against liquor selling, and called upon the Mayor to carry out the ordinance to the letter, without favor.

— We read of soldiers who did all they could to destroy life in time of war turning life insurance agents in time of peace. The lions become lambs.

— In Bulgaria, when a couple get married, the priests get boozy and the bridegroom and bride are shut up in a house together for a week.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best Gold-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the county at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.*

SEND FOR PRICE LIST and blank club orders. Address all orders and communications to the

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR!

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Chronicle.

THE GREAT CONFLAGRATION AT THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—Some details have been received of the fearful conflagration which happened at the Cape of Good Hope last February, when a tract of country four hundred miles long and varying in breadth from fifteen to one hundred and fifty miles was swept over by fire. The weather had been unusually hot and dry for the previous six weeks. On February 9 the temperature throughout the colony rose to more intense heat than ever previously known. During the morning scorching hot winds blew from the northeast, and in the afternoon a fire broke out at several places and wrapped millions of acres in an enormous conflagration, the cultivated lands, farm buildings, native forests, and bush farm stock and wild animals sharing the same fate.

Several persons were also burnt to death. Those saved had to take shelter in the rivers, water dams and wet ditches, where many of them were badly scorched. The calamity occurring just after the harvest—and an unusually good one—and destroying its produce, has caused great distress. An English gentleman whose estate was included in the general destruction, and who had great difficulty in saving his family, says it was not such a fire as steals in the middle of the night upon a house surrounded by trees, and, after blazing and crackling away for a few hours, lets the morning sun find out the ruin through the thick green leaves glittering with dew. This was a clean sweep of everything—houses, trees, gardens, orchards, forest, all gone—the labor and the pleasure of sixteen years swept away in a few minutes. Not a green thing in sight—all dust and ashes, dust and ashes.

THE AURORAL DISPLAY, Thursday night of last week, was a brilliant one, and dispatches from different sections show that it was not confined to this latitude. At Philadelphia remarkable displays occurred, the greatest since the electric storm of 1859. Broad banks of red and green light, reaching from the eastern to the western horizon, and as far south as the eye could see, suddenly changed into knots overhead, which sent forth broad rays in every direction. During its continuance the Western Union Telegraph Company worked their wires to the western part of the State without the use of a battery at either end. At Richmond, a belt of white apparently about six feet in width appeared across the sky, extending from east to west, and drifted northward, crossing and to some extent obscuring the moon, and finally gathered as a fan closes and disappeared. The people generally turned out to witness the phenomenon. At New York city the most brilliant auroral display for years took place. The auroral current affected the telegraph wires east and west, almost almost suspending operations for a time. The wires to Boston were worked with the auroral current alone for a quarter of an hour. The streamers nearly covered the heavens and were very brilliant.

APPLAUSE DE FRANCAIS.—The French theatres have an applause manufacture which is an ingenious mechanical claque which is alleged to be used in a French provincial theatre,—consisting of hammers fastened at different places upon the pit floor, and which, on the pulling of a string, simulate the noise of a stick. The machinery goes further, according to the story, and includes two castanets covered with leather, which, on being pulled, imitate the clapping of hands!

☞ The Illinois State legislature on Thursday, in commemoration of the day, visited the tomb of President Lincoln. Brief religious services were held. The visitors generally were liberal in their subscriptions to aid the monument fund.

A FREE CHURCH.—In Melrose, Mass. the Episcopalians have made Trinity Church free to all who may choose to attend; no pew rents, no taxes, but relying upon the weekly offertory to meet the expenses of the Parish.

☞ It is said that the late James T. Brady, the famous New York lawyer, was counsel in fifty-four capital cases during his life, in not one of which was he ever unsuccessful.

BUSINESS.—

A company has been formed in Lowell for the manufacture of copper and paper cartridges. It expects to turn out 200,000 copper cartridges per day.

Mr. L. W. Kimball, of Pittsford, Vermont, is manufacturing doors, the panels of which are made of paper, which is capable of high polish.

An order has recently been received at the Union Metallic Cartridge Company's works in East Bridgeport, Conn., from Madrid, for ten million cartridges of the Berdan patent. The company has been obliged to double its capacity by the addition of a dozen new furnaces, and will now be able to turn out 125,000 cartridges daily on the Russian and Spanish orders, besides nearly as many of other kinds.

A Mansfield firm is filling an order from Boston for 10,000 pairs of skates.

Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY,

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, APRIL 20, 1869.

The News.

It is reported that Gen. J. B. Steedman with a fillibustering force of 1000 men has landed in Cuba. The force first rendezvoused near New Orleans and afterwards on the Florida coast. Reinforcements from New York are expected to join them. Our naval force in the South Atlantic Squadron now numbers 11 vessels, carrying 109 guns.

The Senate will probably adjourn this week.

Parker & Peck of New York are defaulters to the extent of $200,000.

It is reported that the President has demanded of the Cuban government the release of the brig Mary Lowell and the surrender of the two passengers seized on board the Lizzie Major.

Spain is actively engaged in building vessels to re-enforce her fleet in the Cuban waters.

At a fire in Baltimore on Saturday night one fireman was killed and several others were dangerously wounded by the falling in of a brick wall.

The suit of the Kimberlys against General Butler is on the docket in the United States Circuit Court at Baltimore for next week. General Butler will be present at the trial.

The U. S. Senate has confirmed Edward M. McCook as Governor of Colorado; Wm. A. Howard of Michigan, Minister to China, vice J. Ross Browne, recalled; and Chas. C. Crowe of Alabama, Governor of New Mexico. The latter was drafted into the rebel army.

Seventy two Treasury clerks were discharged on Saturday.

Reverdy Johnson asks permission to remain as Minister to England till August, so as to complete his year of service. Assurance!

The agent of the Lyman Mills at Holyoke, Mass., has compelled all the operatives, about 1200 in number, to be vaccinated.

The removal of Mr. J. Ross Browne from the Chinese mission causes great dissatisfaction in San Francisco.

The President has nominated A. T. A. Torbett of Delaware, as Minister to Salvador; Alex. T. Russell of Pennsylvania, Minister to Ecuador; H. A. Miller of Arkansas, to the Sandwich Islands; and F. E. Dumas, (colored) of Louisiana, Minister to Liberia.

Honolulu has had heavy rains.

Several of the lagoons on the coast of Lower California are not so deep by six feet as they were last year. The change is attributed to the action of earthquakes.

Orders have been received at the Brooklyn Navy Yard to place all vessels there on a war footing.

Hon. John P. Hale has published a card denying the charges made against him.

A Washington telegram says there seems now to be little doubt that the fleet of iron-clads that are being fitted out by the Navy Department are intended to back up Secretary Fish's demand on the Spanish authorities in Cuba for an immediate reparation of the recent outrages.

Mr. Dana of the N. Y. Sun declines the office of Appraiser of the port of New York.

There is considerable excitement among the senators about the publication of the Hale-Perry correspondence, which was confidentially furnished to the Senate. Senators Cragin, Trumbull and Thurman have been appointed a committee to ascertain how it leaked out.

Reverdy Johnson still continues making an ass of himself in England. He told the Newcastle folk that he had an immense large family—so large that it would almost fill a ship. Then—it was late in the evening—he boasted that his countrymen could drink as much wine as Englishmen. At a rather early hour he taunted England with not being a thorough-going free-trader, because she did not admit American whiskey free of duty. At a still earlier hour he twitted her with not paying the principal of her national debt, with having recognized the South as a belligerent power, and with having fitted out the Alabama. Finally, after dinner, the American Minister made ample amends for his criticism by admitting that his countrymen might do worse then take English wives.

Base Ball.—The Harvards have challenged the Tri Mountains and the Lowells. It is expected that the game with the Lowells will take place on Tuesday, the 27th inst.

—Rev. G. P. Huntington, son of Rev. Dr. Huntington, was ordained to the Episcopal ministry at Emanuel Church, last Friday. About thirty clergymen were in attendance.

New Hampshire Items.

Lorenzo Dow, of Concord, has a three legged calf, three weeks old, apparently healthy. The right fore leg is wanting, and there is no shoulder on that side.

At Enfield, the Free Press learns from farmers that large numbers of sheep are dying this spring in every flock. One flock of 180 at the Church Family Shakers is already reduced one-half and they think not one over 80 will see grass again. The cause is not well known, but some attribute it to the feeding of a large amount of damaged hay, while others think the hardy constitutions of the old native sheep have been broken down by crossing with the fancy breeds of foreign countries. The latter looks reasonable, though the former may have some effect, for last year a great deal of hay was got in when it was in a bad condition.

At Lebanon, there have been three different parties in town, representing different firms, each claiming the exclusive patent on velocipedes, and each demanding royalty of those who have manufactured and used machines there. They have dwindled down in their demands, however, from $15 to $3 per machine, and do not find customers at that.

Among the graduates at Dartmouth the present year is one colored man, George Rice of Newport, R. I. He is a man of wealth and a fine scholar and stands very high in his class and in college, in every respect.

The mails between North Conway and Madison were carried on a hand sled during the first part of this month.

Mr. William Sawyer has been appointed postmaster at Wakefield, in place of A. J. Milliken removed.

The Unitarian society, of Laconia, have extended a call to Rev. C. Y. DeNormandie, of Fair Haven, Mass., to become their pastor, and he has accepted, and will commence his labors on the 25th. The pews in the new church were sold last week and enough was realized from them to pay the indebtedness of the society, and leave a dozen free pews. The church edifice cost $25,000.

Rev. Elisha Adams, of Concord, has been appointed Temperance Agent, by the New Hampshire Conference, for the ensuing year, and he will enter upon his duties at once.

The house and barn of Mr. J. R. Rowell at Hill Centre were burned on Thursday last. Loss $2000; insured.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, April 19.

A man named Michael Keenan, 78 years old, from Concord, arrived at the American House in this town on Wednesday last. On Friday evening as he left the dining-room after tea, the hall being rather dark, he opened the door at the top of the cellar stairs, instead of the one leading to the office, and, stepping forward, was precipitated to the bottom of the stairs, breaking his breast-bone, and otherwise injuring him severely. He was at once attended by Drs. Perry and Carroll, who gave small hopes of his recovery. He has serious injuries about the head and neck. He was alive last evening, and, spite of his age, may recover.

The annual meeting of the Exeter Agricultural and Horticultural Society was held at the Society's rooms on Saturday evening. The following is a list of the officers elected for the ensuing year.

President; Wm. P. Moulton, Vice President; Dan'l F. Hayes, Wm. A. Currier, Secretary, John J. Bell, Treasurer, Gardiner Gilman; Trustees, John H. Kimball, Jacob P. Cilley, Hervey Kent, N. A. Shute, John P. Adams, C. W. Treadwell, W. Odlin.

A spirited discussion was held, on the relative merits of different varieties of potatoes, in which the Early Rose appeared to be first favorite. (This variety will be planted extensively this season, in this vicinity.)

It was decided to hold meetings on Saturday evenings, for the discussion and consideration of matters connected with the agricultural interest. The subject for next Saturday evening is "Manures and their use."

Our farmers are doing a little ploughing, and I have heard of some early seed being put in the ground. The season is fully as backward as at this time last year.

There is quite a rivalry among several of our citizens, as to the superiority of their respective colts. The finest one I have seen is a ten-months old Abdallah, the property of Hervey Kent, Esq., agent of the Exeter Manf'g Co. The colt weighs 640 pounds, and promises to make a splendid horse.

Morris Brothers' Minstrels are billed to appear here on the 21st inst., and Charley Morris' troupe on the 22nd. The former is a favorite troupe here, and the latter embraces an array of talent that will ensure a good house, though everybody wishes they did not come quite so near together. H.

Senate Reforms.—The Washington Chronicle publishes a recent report of the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, made by its chairman, Senator Cragin. There is no position connected with the committees of the Senate more thankless and enviable than the chairmanship of this committee. Compelled by the necessities of his position, as guardian of the funds of the Senate to combat the greed of contractors, to restrain the expenditures of officials, and to oppose the efforts of fellow-Senators to oblige their friends at the expense of due economy in the public expenditures, the position is anything but a bed of roses.

But exacting and thankless as is the position, we know of no member of the Senate better fitted to discharge its duties than Senator Cragin. Prompt and diligent, attentive to business, kind of heart, and courteous in manner, he is, nevertheless, unyielding in his integrity, and vigilant in guarding the just interests of the treasury.

The report evinces clearly his strong desire to promote economy and retrenchment in the expenditures of the Senate, and we trust the coöperation of the Senate, which he invokes, will not be withheld, and that his highest anticipations may be realized. Mr. Cragin closes with the following significant paragraph:

I simply desire to say in conclusion, that if the Senate will stand by the Commiitee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, and will not press upon the Sergeant-at-arms the employment of unnecessary men and unnecessary expanditure, we will reduce the contingent expenses of the Senate in the next year from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars without any detriment to the interests of the Senate.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

Facts for the Ladies.—I beg to state that I have used Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine in my family sewing, fourteen years, without even the most trifling repairs, and is in so good condition that I would not exchange it for your best number (now upwards of 350,000). One needle served me more than a year for fine sewing.

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood left has more room; but the case does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body can spare better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A Universal Curative Principle.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Abram Van Wart was cured of internal tumor by the use of Brandreth's Pills when all other means had failed. Dr. Brandreth's office, Brandreth House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. a20

The Purest and Safest.

The efficacy of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have."

But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a PREPARATORY ANTIDOTE to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is the HOUSEHOLD TONIC of the AMERICAN PEOPLE, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of Science recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its vast and ever increasing sales. a14

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Allcock's Porous Plaster.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Cold Feet, Pain of the Chest, of the Side, Bruises and accidents, especially of the Spine, also chronic weakness or affection thereof, Sore Throat, Varicose Veins, and even in affections of the heart, this celebrated plaster has been found to afford permanent and immediate relief.

Dr. J. W. Johnson, of Hartford, writes: "At this moment of writing a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by the application of the Porous Plasters. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever."

Letter from Dr. Fuller of Peekskill.

Thomas Allcock & Co.. Gentlemen:—Since my severe accident I have used as an application to the bruised parts your admirable Plaster.

It has had an excellent effect, soothing while drawing out the soreness and sustaining and strengthening the part upon which it is applied.

[From the "Home Monthly."]

Some years since, while residing in the city of Providence, we heard much said in praise of Perry Davis' "Pain Killer." We listened incredulously to these testimonials. Well, health failing, as a last resort, the doctors sent us to Minnesota. The winter was intensely cold, and a terrible form of Neuralgia prevailed among the settlers, and we fell into the grasp of the disease, and day and night, for weeks, endured untold agony. Many remedies were tried without avail. One day, however, a stalwart frontiersman entered the room, bearing in his hand a vial partly filled with a reddish liquid.

It was some of the Pain Killer. He had bought it in California three years before, and had kept it with miserly care until then. Applying it externally and internally gave immediate relief. Since then we have recommended it successfully in cases that baffled the best medical skill; and, when we see persons reject this remedy, we recall our own experience, and think that the time may come when pain, incurable by other agents, may teach them the value of this great discovery.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGH-CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value. a12 2m

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and are very palatable. Those bitters are recommended to all persons requiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects; which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which the Iron Bitters will give.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the liver to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and, by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either by tubercle abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of the food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, he will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yjaz

THE POSTMASTERSHIP.—Mr. Elbridge G. Peirce, Jr., the new appointee, is well known to our citizens, and well qualified to perform the duties of the position. We have no doubt he will make a popular Postmaster, as he is capable, of strict integrity and affable in manner—the last being not the least requisite for the faithful performance of the irksome duties of the position.

Previous to the outbreak of the rebellion he was in business at the South, and as it became more and more evident that war would ensue he was looked upon with suspicion, as he was a northern man. Being drafted into the rebel service repeatedly he succeeded in being exempted from duty until he was finally forced to abandon all and with a small sum of money escaped on a fleet horse to the Mississippi, and finally succeeded in getting aboard a gunboat. His property was confiscated after his departure and the "Confederates" added a small fortune to their stealings. Since arriving home Mr. Peirce has been employed in the clerical force at the Navy Yard and for the past year has held the office of Inspector for the Bureau of Yards and Docks. We wish him the greatest success in his new position.

Joseph B. Adams, Esq., the retiring Postmaster, has held the office about three years and during that time has performed the duties acceptably, and without any complaint that the public are aware of. As a faithful official he has certainly given better satisfaction than the majority of men could give in such a patience-trying position, and his removal, no doubt, is occasioned by lack of sufficient political and personal influence to retain the position rather than for any alleged neglect of duty.—In his retirement from public office we join heartily with our citizens generally in wishing him the greatest success in his future business relations, and trust that his successor may secure the confidence of the public as surely as Mr. Adams has done.

AT LAST!—On Monday, Joseph G. Todd, Clerk to Chief Engineer at the Navy Yard, was notified that his services were no longer required, and Alfred M. Hoyt, Esq., of this city, was appointed in his place. Todd was appointed to the position in February, 1868, as a reward for his bitter opposition to anything in the shape of loyalty during the rebellion, and as a compensation for his ranting political harangues afterwards. Mr. G. W. Marston, now of this paper, was removed to make room for this most notorious copperhead, and not desiring a re-appointment, there ensued a lively contest for the position between Mr. Hoyt and a returned soldier, in which the civilian has come out victorious.

Mr. Hoyt is well known to our citizens as a valuable man in public as well as private life, loyal, capable and efficient. His appointment will give satisfaction to a host of personal friends who will be pleased to hear of his success, while it can occasion no ill feeling among the friends of the non-successful candidate. We do hope, however, that in the remaining appointments to be made at the Yard, the soldier element will not be entirely discarded. The Maine and New Hampshire delegations in Congress have thus far in a great measure ignored the Boys in Blue, who rallied to their support nobly after fighting bravely and bearing honorable scars of wounds received in battle.—We do not speak of this in connection particularly with the appointment of Mr. Hoyt, for no one can regret his personal success. The country owes to the veterans who successfully fought the rebellion, prompt recognition of their gallant services; and the representatives of the Republican party should be aware that it is to their interest as well to remember the soldier's even as they would be remembered by them.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.— About 25 Machinists, Blacksmiths, Coppersmiths, and Pattern Makers were employed in the Steam Engineering Department on Monday.

There is difficulty in finding good workmen to work at the reduced rates, as they can do better outside of the Navy Yard.

We hear that the office of Chief Accountant has been abolished—thus disposing of another soldier, a former member of a Massachusetts Regiment.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 7 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the country at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

WE GUARANTEE all our Goods to be precisely as represented, and WARRANT them to give perfect satisfaction or to return the money at any time and pay all expenses.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST and blank club orders. Address all orders and communications to the LAZARUS & MORRIS' CELEBRATED PERFECTED SPECTACLES and Eye Glasses.

The large and increasing sales of these SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR!
FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of foiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of securing their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. At Suncook, early Saturday morning fire was discovered in the police station, and two men, who were committed on Friday night, for drunkenness, were taken out insensible, not burned at all, but almost dead from smoke. One of them died on Sunday.

The twelve brick-yards at Dover made in 1868, 3,135,000 bricks worth $8.50 at the yards, and consumed 1000 cords of pine wood in the manufacturing of them.

The Claremont Eagle of the 17th says:—In spite of the lateness of the season our farmers seem to be making plenty of maple sugar,—a most fortunate circumstance, considering the row in Cuba has raised the price of ordinary sugar. The snow is going off quietly and the water soaking into the ground. We shall probably escape a flood this year.

The Dover Gazette mentions the opening of the spring term of a Grammar School in that city, and adds the following statement of a disgraceful act.—As usual a good share of 'hazing' was done by the Corner boys, and torn garments, swollen noses and scarred faces attested that the green 'uns had rather hard fare for a beginning. As in days of yore every new scholar had to stand up to the rack and run the gauntlet to settle the question of pluck. If he had the requisite amount of courage and fought valiantly for his position, well and good, but if not he was branded a sneak and a coward and plunged into the horse pond in Ricker's field opposite.

A VILLAGE BURNED.—The village of Hancock, Michigan, was nearly all destroyed by fire on the 11th inst. The district burned over is about sixty-five acres, comprising six entire blocks, and containing one hundred and ten occupied buildings, besides the usual number of barns, &c. The loss will not be far from a half million dollars, and the insurance covers about $100,000.—Over two hundred families are left homeless or lost a large portion of their effects.

We agree with the following from the New York Tribune:

The terrible calamity which yesterday destroyed the village of Hancock, Michigan, is but another lesson against the system of inviting conflagrations by building wooden towns. That mode of building cannot be better than criminal that permits sixty-five acres of dwellings and business houses to be burnt off like a dry prairie.

SNOW AT THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.—A gentleman who has been prospecting as far up as the White Mountain House says the snow around what is called Jacob's Ladder, lay, on Friday, as near as he could see, nearly even with the top of the trestle-work, say from ten to twelve feet deep. No one has been to the Summit house the past winter.

THE GOOD WIFE.
BY EDWARD P. NOWELL.

"She makes my home the pleasantest spot on earth to me."—Dr. Calvin Chapin.

Blest is a home which hath a wife so sweet,
So kind, so gentle, cheerful, and refined,
That happy is the man in whose retreat
Dwells such a helpmate with such helps combined.

The mystic Vesta, goddess of the hearth,
Whom ancients pictured as divinely pure,
Was not more lovely than the wife of worth,
Who home invests with pleasures that endure.

She makes a heaven of her little realm,
Where husband, children, friends, in bliss abide,
And tho' the waves of outward cares o'erwhelm,
At home e'er flows contentment's tranquil tide.

How sweetly falls at evening on the ear
The good wife's love-fraught welcome to her spouse,
And then, at morning, her fond words endear
More closely all the treasures of his house.

Praise, endless praise, to Him who giveth all
Good gifts, that in this trying, changeful life,
He granteth such a boon from heaven to fall
As home made charming by a faithful wife.

AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made too many of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY,

HARD HIT ON SOMEBODY.—"Perley" telegraphs from Washington, under date of the 18th inst., to the Boston Journal as follows:

"The Senate Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the nomination of Gov. Harriman as Naval Officer of Boston, have authorized Senator Buckingham to report it back favorably, and the Senate will undoubtedly ratify it. Gov. Harriman's New Hampshire friends are rather indignant at some of the Boston criticisms on this rotation in office, and they assert that, while they have done all in their power to secure the place for him, he did not retain a place broker to secure him the nomination by the promise of a $1000 fee, of which $150 was paid down."

Loss about $7000.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I beg to state that I have used Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine in my family sewing, fourteen years, without even the most trifling repairs, and is in so good condition that I would not exchange it for your latest number (now upwards of 350,000). One needle served me more than a year for fine sewing.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. a21

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Liquor Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F.R.S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so nearly low, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Helmbold's

CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA,

Established upwards of 18 years. Prepared by

H. T. Helmbold,

a12 2m 594 Broadway, N. Y.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating the delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. 4i25

YOUNG LADIES BEWARE!

OF THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. a12 2m

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, it is received and applied with equal faith. Travelers of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in curing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood lef has more room; but the ease does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body and blood are better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A UNIVERSAL CURATIVE PRINCIPLE.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Abram Wood was cured of Spinal Curvature in by the use of Brandreth's Pills when all other means had failed. Dr. Brandreth's office, Brandreth House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. a20

Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cents.

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it were $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Beside which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Sprains, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one once tries it who is ever without it. It is perfectly safe to take inwardly. Sold by all Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a20

NOT A FEW of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from corruption of the blood. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is a remedy of the utmost value. a12 2m

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS will often work a complete and salutary change in their condition—toning the stomach, regulating the liver, bracing the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal machinery. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. a21

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA cleanses and renovates the blood, instilling vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors that make disease. a12 2m

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and be very palatable. These bitters are recommended to all persons requiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects; which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which the Iron Bitters will give.

Prepared by Wm. Ellis, Chemist. For sale by WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Agents, 170 Washington Street, Boston; and by Druggists and Grocers generally.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is the great Blood Purifier.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration; for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off; and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions; relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they throw into the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop cough, night sweats, chills or fever. He removes the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must Schenck do? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the last stage of pulmonary Consumption, although physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the celebrated medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. Advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

☞ Mr. Addison Carroll, of this city, lost a good work horse on Tuesday, very suddenly and unexpectedly. IMMIGRATION.—The annual report of the New York Commissioners of Emigration for 1868 shows that 213,686 aliens arrived at that port during the year. This was a decrease of 29,041 from the year 1867. Of the whole number 101,989 were from Germany, 47,571 from Ireland, 29,695 from England, and 34,431 from other countries. The number of immigrants from Sweden was nearly 10,000 greater than in 1867.

☞ The London Times, referring to the recall of Reverdy Johnson and appointment of Mr. Motley as Minister to England, says:

"We shall lose a genial and indefatigable speech-maker, but shall gain, in exchange, a gentleman who will be understood on both sides of the ocean to say only what the great mass of his countrymen really mean."

☞ Referring to the young fellow who has been shooting the Sprague dams, at Augusta, Squibs says he isn't half so big a d—d fool, after all, as Senator Sprague himself has turned out to be, nor has he made anything like such dangerous and fatal plunges.

THE SUGAR SEASON.—The Lebanon Free Press says:—

We have had uninterrupted sugar weather now for nearly two weeks.—Many farmers have not tapped extensively, owing to the depth of snow in the woods, which is still from two to three feet. It is probable that many have tapped this week who had not done so before, and on the whole we may expect an average sugar crop.—The snow has nearly all disappeared in our village, but enough of it is visible on the hills. So gradually has it melted that the streams have not yet attained their usual height at this season of the year.

An Enfield correspondent of the same paper says:—

For two weeks there has been a continual run of maple sweet, and there has been made a larger amount of syrup and sugar in the same time than ever before. Many farmers tap from 300 to 500 trees, and find no difficulty in taking care of the sap with their improved conveniences for gathering and boiling. The price, which started at $2.00 per gallon, dropped very suddenly to $1.25, and it can be had in any quantity at that figure.

☞ Fanny Fern thus disposes of that ornamental and useless object called a "handsome man," and sensible folks will concur. She says;

But your conventional "handsome man" of the barber's window, wax figure—head pattern; with pet lock in the middle of his forehead, an apple-sized head, and a rasberry moustache with six hairs in it, paint pot on his cheek and a little dot of a "goatee" on his chin, with pretty blinking little studs in its shirt bosom, and a little neck-tie that looks as if he would faint were it tumbled—I'd as lief look at a poodle. I always feel a desire to nip it up with a pair of sugar-tongs, drop it gently into a bowl of cream, and strew pink rose-leaves over the little remains.

ANOTHER SUGAR ITEM.—The Manchester News of Friday says:—

Maple sugar makers remark that the sap this year is much sweeter to the taste than usual. This quality is so extraordinary as to astonish persons who have been many years acquainted with the properties of the sap of the maple.

Maple sugar is selling in Richford, Vt., at from ten to thirteen cents per pound. Notwithstanding the snow is so deep in the woods a large amount will be made, and intelligence to the same effect comes from other quarters, where the crop was reported to be a certain failure.

A SATANIC CLASSIC.—We perceive, in two or three respectable papers, argumentative articles in favor of capital punishment, in which the writers say, "All that a man hath will he give for his life." They may not perhaps be aware that they are quoting from Satan: but if they will look into the Book of Job, chap. 2, they may see that in the dialogue, "Satan answered the Lord, and said, skin for skin; yea all that a man hath will he give for his life."

BILES.—A writer who has been studying Webster's new "Unabridged" Dictionary, expresses a regret that the lexicographer's definition of the word "boil" had not met the eyes of the new version people before they translated the book of Job, as it would have been so beautiful to say instead of boils, "And Satan smote Job with circumcised subcutaneous inflammations, characterized by pointed postular tumors, and suppurating with central cores!"

—A correspondent in Florida, evidently affected by surrounding circumstances, sends the following to an exchange;

How doth the little crocodile
Improve his shining tail,
And pour the waters of the Nile
On every golden scale.

How cheerfully he seems to grin,
How neat'y spreads his claws,
And welcomes little fishes in
With gently smiling jaws.

EASY PROBLEM FOR SMART ONES.—We have had the following question propounded to us: "If Smith sells Jones a horse for $50, buys him back for $40 and sells him to Brown for $45—how much does Smith make out of it?" You tell!

—Preparations are making for a large increase of the sponge business at Tampa, Florida.

—As Colfax had Nellie Wade, why didn't he have her uncle weighed, also? Because he's Ben Wade.

—A San Francisco paper, the organ of the Roman Catholics, makes a statement which will be new to our readers, which is: That there are a considerable number of Catholics among the Chinese population in this country.

AMERICAN
BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING,
—AND—
SEWING MACHINE!
H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,
Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.
The Reasons Why
This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.
1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.
2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)
3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)
5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)
Caution.
We would hereby warn the Public against all bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.
This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.
N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

Morning Chronicle.

The Merchant Service,—No. III.

In my two previous articles I mentioned several incidents in support of my statements about cruelty on board our merchant ships, and difficulties in the way of redress for our seamen. I could multiply these cases indefinitely, but will but just refer to one or two more. Five years ago a ship came into the New Zealand port where I was at the time, and anchored in the stream. The river (or arm of the sea) is broader and more rapid than the Piscataqua; yet man after man made the almost hopeless attempt to swim ashore, no one seeming to be deterred by the failure of his predecessor. Five of her crew were picked up in one week, dead. Some months after, I met one (of nine who tried it) who did succeed in reaching the land, and asked him why they kept making the fatal venture; and he answered that "hell itself couldn't be any worse than that ship was." Yet her captain was one of the most urbane gentlemen I ever met,—on shore.

Then our late California news tells us that a sea-captain has just been defeated in a libel suit, against a newspaper which had accused him of brutally abusing his men, and finally sending one of them adrift in an open boat. The evidence that he did do so was so strong that the jury took but a few minutes to consider their verdict. The boat man has not been heard of since he was set adrift, and the captain is punished for his probable murder by—losing his libel suit! But I think I have said enough for the present, on this score,—I, at least, am sick of it.

When some case of excessive barbarity to seamen attracts public attention, people exclaim, in astonishment, "Why, I don't see why they submitted to such treatment." One reason is, that any resistance, no matter how provoked, is mutiny,—next to piracy the highest crime a sailor can commit. Another is, that in any case of dispute between seamen and their superior officers, the seamen are considered guilty until they prove themselves innocent. It may be said that this is not law. Perhaps not, but it is fact. In any case of disturbance the master has the first chance to tell his story; those witnesses are called that he desires; he can secure the best legal talent, and his word has more weight than the oaths of many common sailors. The sailor, without friends, and with a character presumably bad, must have an overwhelming case indeed to win; and a full appreciation of this makes him submit to the most degrading wrongs and injuries, until in some fit of despair he uses a weapon, and becomes, possibly, a homicide.

It is said that sailors will not do their duty except through fear; that the very men who are most abject before a tyrant are the most sure to bully a humane person; and that they will nearly all take advantage of easy officers.—This, I am sorry to say, is all too true; but it does not in any way disprove my statements. The ideal sailor is a noble fellow; the real sailor is generally very far from being one. He has all the vices usually allotted to him, and but few virtues to counterbalance them; and my object in these papers is not to set him up as idol, but to ask that he may have a chance to rise to an honorable manhood if he will, as well as others of the human race.

Our merchant ships, (and our navy too, I believe,) previous to the late war, were almost wholly manned by foreign seamen. One ship, in which I sailed from New York, carried seventeen sailors, fourteen of whom were Americans, according to the ship's papers; but I was the only one of the lot born west of the Atlantic. Another, carrying eleven men, had two Americans before the mast; and a third, with nineteen souls all told, had not one on board save the captain and myself. I do not think I ever found so large a proportion of a ship's crew as one third, American born.

This is not to be wondered at. The Americans, however willing to enslave others, do not like so be slaves themselves; and the common sailor, when he has once signed his name to a ship's articles and gone on board, is (save and except that he cannot be sold,) just as much and as really a slave for the time for which he has signed, as ever was any negro in South Carolina. I am not talking at random; and if any one has patience to follow me to a close, I believe I shall be able to sustain this assertion,—and show with a good degree of reason that, having freed the millions of black slaves on the land, America cannot consistently stop short of emancipating the thousands of white ones under her flag on the sea.

In my next article I shall endeavor to show that the boast "the stars and stripes waves only over freemen" is a falsehood; and will be, so long as our present merchant shipping laws exist.

Agricultural Items.

One of the aims in farming should be, to produce, as far as possible, everything you consume—to buy nothing you can raise yourself.

Don't keep a calf tied or shut up in some dark, dank corner, with hardly room enough to lie down. He needs the sunshine as much as hens, or the plants in the garden.

A correspondent of the Gardener's Monthly wishing to remove the old putty from a large number of sashes, stacked them all in one pile and smothered the whole in stable manure, just fit to make hot beds, and after steaming a few days found the putty soft and very easily removed.

Mr. Greeley does not seem satisfied that his $100 prize for the best grape was awarded to the Concord. At a public meeting in New York, he recently said, "all my money did, was to advertise a grape already known; thus improvement was checked, not stimulated. I am a little discouraged by the result, and do not propose to offer another bank note for a plate of common grapes."

Mr. Meehan, of the Gardener's Monthly, is very positive as to the uselessness of attempting to preserve the tap-root in transplanting. He says "the shortening of a tap-root is of no more injury to a tree than the shortening of the finger nails to a man. This matter was settled by Senebier and others over a hundred years ago. Their experiments we have repeated; and no intelligent man teaches any other doctrine."

—It is declared to be encouraging crime for a lady to ask her husband to hook her dress.

—It is proved by a British astronomer that we are warmed to a limited extent by the fixed stars.

—North Carolina robbers dig up and transplant to their own use growing apple-trees.

—It costs General Dix $20,000 a year beyond his salary to live in Paris.

COAL ASHES.—It is generally thought in the country that the ashes of mineral coal are not only useless as a fertilizer and improver of the soil, but that, on the contrary, they are hurtful. Hence, we see that farmers reject these ashes, greatly to the detriment of agriculture, while quantities of them might be procured with no other cost than that of gathering them.

It is, therefore, interesting to report an experiment undertaken by a correspondent of the French Journal de l' Agriculture. He filled in the fall three flower pots with pure bituminous coal ashes without mixture of any kind, and sowed in the first wheat, in the second oats, and in the third some strawberry seed. These pots were buried in a bed in his garden and left to themselves.

The germination took place successfully during the winter, and in March following the plants presented a fine appearance. In April, the wheat, oats, and strawberry plants were in fine growth. The wheat and oats ripened perfectly; the berries were large, clear, very well filled, and heavy. The wheat straw attained a height of more than fifty-four inches; that of the oats forty-three inches. As to the strawberry plants they came on finely, and continued to grow well until October, when it became necessary to transplant them. Set out in the open ground, they are now the greenest, the strongest of all the seedlings.

Thus it is seen that, without the addition of either soil or manure, coal ashes were sufficient in itself, according to this trial, to nourish and bring to maturity both wheat and oats, and to support the growth of strawberry plants during a year. Coal ashes, from its nature, should effect a division of soils, and be very useful in overcoming the stiffness of compact lands; it would, then, at the same time, act as a manure and an improver.

This, moreover, should be the case, judging, not only by this experiment just described, but from analysis made by several chemists, among others Davy, who found that these ashes contained, in proportions varying with the localities whence the coals came, sulphates of potassa and lime, carbonate of lime, clay and silica.

The above experiments have been corroborated, in part, in my own experience. I have found it to pay well the trouble and expense of hauling coal ashes a distance of four miles. The ashes should be screened before spreading upon the fields. The clinkers and cinders are of more service on roads than on cultivated land. Stiff soils are benefitted more by coal ashes than any others. Their application tends to loosen them, which alone would make them more productive, if they did nothing else. On an acre, sown with oats, I applied coal ashes, and the yield of grain was better and the straw much ranker than on any other part of the field.

Though it has generally been alleged that these ashes possess no fertilizing properties, experience, as well as science, clearly proves it to be erroneous. They do possess enough to make it pay to gather them in large quantities. Especially are coal ashes in towns and cities valuable, because some proportion of wood is always consumed with the coal. They can always be had for the trouble of hauling, and in the winter months the expense of doing so is not great, because teams then have little to do. They should be used for top dressing grass-lands and meadows, and all other soils that are tough and stiff. —Delz's Experimental Farm Journal.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made two years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1869.

The News.

Governor Harriman was unanimously confirmed as Naval Officer of Boston by the Senate on Tuesday.

The great storm at the west on Monday extended over Indiana, Iowa, Missouri and Tennesee.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has been divided into three divisions.

Cuba is getting more lively.

Prominent Bostonians have formed a Reform League for the encouragement of labor, and business.

Elections for members of the Dominion Parliament are in progress in Nova Scotia.

It is expected that the French Atlantic cable will be landed at Cape May, New Jersey.

The latest returns from Michigan show that the Republicans elected 10 of the 16 Circuit Judges.

The workmen in the Springfield Armory have received intelligence from Washington that Attorney General Hoar has decided against them on the question of paying the same wages under the eight hour law as under the old ten hour system.

☞ In Portland, Mayor Putnam has issued instructions to the police force in relation to prosecuting persons violating the laws against tippling houses. As in cases of all other misdemeanors, all complaints accompanied with sufficient information will be received and acted upon,and persons in any way advertising themselves as violating any law, either by signs, exhibiting samples, or other wise, are to be regarded as informing against themselves. Every person arrested for drunkenness, throws upon the police the duty of ascertaining by reasonable and honorable means, the parties who unlawfully furnished him the means of his intoxication. And for that purpose every person arrested for drunkenness should not be discharged, but taken before the court, to be held by the court either as a prisoner or as a witness.

☞ Washington correspondents report that on Monday the chaplain of the Senate, as if with knowledge of the tirade to be delivered by Mr. Chandler, prayed once more on the subject of our foreign relations, this time aiming his words at England. It is to be hoped that the first act of the Senate at its next session will be to choose some one with a better appreciation of his position and duties than Mr. Newman, who has brought such scandal on himself and the Senate.

The New York World's correspondent reports that Mr. Pile requested the chaplain to pray for his confirmation to the office to which he is nominated, but as Mr. Chandler had engaged his services for that day,he was obliged to decline. This correspondent adds that, "Every day an accurate estimate of coming events can be drawn from these prayers of the chaplain, who is just a little more up to snuff than any of his predecessors."

—California has nearly a million and a half dollars lying idle in its treasury.

—Green peas have been selling in San Francisco at twenty-five cents a pound.

—It is said that more money is spent in New York for tobacco than for bread.

—A young lady is employed as a clerk in a national bank in Danville, Indiana.

—Diseases of the brain have rapidly increased in England of late years. Beef and beer, or thinking?

—Iowa claims that it raises more and better spring wheat to the acre than any other State in the West.

—Immense quantities of bat guano have been found on Lookout Mountain, Tennessee. It is believed to be superior to the Peruvian guano.

—A Paris paper notices in its society gossip a recent party, at which it says "there were not many people present, but a good many Germans."

—A man in Kentucky, on separating from and settling up with his wife, charged her eight dollars and thirty-three and one-third cents each for three children, for which he gave a receipt in full.

—President Grant has made a rule to receive no calls on the Sabbath, and has forbidden his secretaries to bring him any letters or telegrams on that day, with the exception of those referring to important public business.

—A daughter of the Hon. Marshall O. Roberts of New York was married the other evening to Mr. Ames Van Wart, the sculptor. Mr. Roberts is reported to have made the bride a present of a check for one hundred thousand dollars.

New Hampshire Items.

The Mascoma River is higher than at any previous time since 1862. On Monday night the upper and largest dam in Lebanon was swept away. Hall's flour mills and Mahon's machine shop were on this dam,and the damage is estimated at two thousand dollars, besides stoppage. Other damage was done, to perhaps equal amount.

The woolen mills at Londonderry will begin to operate soon. These mills have been closed for some time.

On Tuesday night, near East Kingston Depot, the freight train of the B. & M. railroad, ran over and killed a man named J. Dowle, who was seen intoxicated at 7 o'clock in the evening. He was about 60 years old, and came from Sandwich, but has worked at E. K. for a year past.

THE NATIONAL PEACE JUBILEE AT BOSTON. — The Coliseum Building to accommodate this immense Musical Festival is progressing with the rapidity predicted by the warmest friends of the enterprise. More than two hundred men, 175 of whom are carpenters, are constantly employed by the contractors, and are divided into gangs of about twenty, each under an experienced foreman. More than $25,000 worth of lumber has been furnished thus far, and it is of a quality to ensure strength in every part of the immense structure. The walls are boarded in, a portion of the roof is covered, and the remainder will be put on as soon as the windows are set. The centre of the roof, which is to be heavily trussed, will be supported by lines of upright pillars of the strongest timber, already delivered. In fact, all the material and the plan of construction, so far as it has been developed, are pronounced by experienced engineers who have visited the spot, the best possible to secure the utmost strength and security.

The amendments made in the plan provide for the accommodation of several thousand more people than could possibly have been seated by the original. The style of the roof, which is to be somewhat on the monitor pattern, with ample provision for light and ventilation, will be to a certain degree ornamental, but otherwise the structure will be perfectly plain, all the extra expense being put to the purpose of securing to the public the means of comfort. Ten grand entrances, between twenty and thirty feet each in width, are apportioned, three to each side and two to each end, affording opportunity for rapid ingress and departure.

The City Government has already taken the first steps toward providing comfortable and sufficient approaches to the building, St. James avenue having been Macadamized and rolled solid, and the plans to bridge Dartmouth street over the Boston and Albany and the Providence railroads completed.

Tickets, with reserved seats, will be ready May 3d, and may be secured by addressing A. P. Peck, Boston. The advertisement in another column gives full particulars.

THE CELEBRATED PACHERON STALLION CONQUEROR, imported into this country by the Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture, has been purchased by Horace Woodman, Esq., of Saco, Me., and will make the season at Mr. W.'s Stables at that place. Those interested in the improvement of horses are directed to the Advertisement in another column, which gives full particulars of this remarkable horse, and also of other stock horses which are well worthy the attention of those engaged in breeding.

WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT, the poet, is now seventy-three. His eyes are a little dimmed by age, but he has few of the infirmities of old men. He will walk four miles on the stretch with less signs of fatigue than are displayed by younger men; will leap a fence breast-high with ease, or ascend a flight of stairs with great rapidity, stepping occasionally two or three steps at a time. He is apparently good for many years more of busy life.

☞ A few days since President Grant nominated a certain gentleman for consul at one of the ports on the Mediterranean. The day the name was sent to the Senate, the nominee got gloriously drunk in honor thereof, and the following day the nomination was withdrawn. Good!

BUSINESS.—The Wason Car Company at Springfield has orders on hand enough to keep its present force of five hundred men employed until next December. The company manufacture two passenger cars weekly besides other work.

—A sugar and corn plantation of one hundred and seventy acres, in Louisiana, nearly equally divided between the two crops, returned a profit last year of $25,660.

IS IT ANYBODY'S BUSINESS.

Is it anybody's business
If a gentleman should choose
To wait upon a lady,
If the lady don't refuse?
Or, to speak a little plainer,
That the meaning all may know,
Is it anybody's business
If a lady has a beau?

Is it anybody's business
When that gentleman does call,
Or when he leaves the lady,
Or if he leaves at all?
Or is it necessary
That the curtain should be drawn,
To save from further trouble
The outside lookers on?

Is it anybody's business
But the lady's, if her beau
Rides out with other ladies
And doesn't let her know?
Is it anybody's business
But the gentleman's if she Should accept another escort,
Where he doesn't chance to be?

Is a person on the sidewalk,
Whether great or whether small,
Is it anybody's business
Where that person means to call?
Or, if you see a person,
As he's calling anywhere,
Is it any of your business
What his business may be there?

The substance of our query,
Simply stated, would be this—
Is it anybody's business
What another's business is?
If it is, or if it isn't,
We would really like to know,
For we're certain if it isn't,
There are some who make it so.

If it is, we'll join the rabble,
And act the noble part
Of the tattlers and defamers
Who throng the public mart;
But if not, we'll act the teacher,
Until each meddler learns
It were better in the future
To mind his own concerns.

—Sorghum is declared to be a very exhausting crop.

—The population of Alaska is estimated at 75,000—somewhat mixed.

—Miss Evans has completed another novel, for the copyright of which it is reported that she has an offer of $15,000.

—Sheep-raisers living near the seashore have discovered that fish make as good feed as hay, and that one fish is a full meal for a sheep.

—The convicts at Sing Sing are exultant over a change by which bread has been substituted for "mush and molasses" as the evening meal.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I beg to state that I have used Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine in my family sewing, fifteen years, without even the most trifling repairs, and is in so good condition that I would not exchange it for your latest number (now upwards of 350,000). One needle served me more than a year for fine sewing.

An Absolute Safeguard.
Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. a21

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so low, and yet so irritable as to render other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

OF THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. a12 2m

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.
Bleeding may give ease, because the blood lef has more room; but the ease does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt,and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body and blood are better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A UNIVERSAL CURATIVE PRINCIPLE.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment,and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of cures have been reported to me, and many state that if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one once tries it who is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full Directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a20

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is the great Blood Purifier.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and purify the blood; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs,and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, or when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, make the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing stop nature, the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Broncho, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflamantion and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting,but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach,the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints,as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck. who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Hanover St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. Patients can be examined free, but thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Jacob G. Crockett, Foreman of Machinists at the Navy Yard, resigned on Wednesday, having been tendered a position at the West, and Mr. Albert W. Rix of this city, is, we hear, appointed to the vacancy. Mr. Rix is a thorough mechanic, of much skill and experience, and has no superior in this vicinity, and the appointment is a merited recognition of his valuable services. We hope the other appointments to be made at the Yard will prove as generally satisfactory as this will to the workmen and their friends. In this instance, particularly, the appointing powers have shown due regard to the qualifications necessary for the faithful performance of the duties of the position,—which augurs well for the appointments yet to come.

☞ Mr. David Philbrook, drover, took up from Hampton for Brighton, this week, six yoke Beef cattle which scored as follows: 4250, 4250, 4075, 3885, 3740, and 3500 lbs.

Of the five yoke fat Oxen advertised at the Navy Yard Wednesday, Messrs. Stokell & Co. took one, Mr. Bartlett one, Mr. Cottle one, Mr. Spinney one, and the other was withdrawn and held for use.

☞ There is no need for able-bodied men to complain of no work to do, when so much farming needs to be done in this vicinity. Nor can lack of pay be justly offered as an excuse for shunning it, when $200 a day or so is estimated, to be paid every season for vegetables, &c., brought from abroad, which could and should be grown at home.

ACCIDENT ON THE EASTERN RAILROAD.—The express from Portland for Boston, which left this city at 9 o'clock on Tuesday forenoon, met with an accident at Wenham, by which the entire train was thrown from the track. No one was seriously injured. The track was torn up for forty or fifty rods, and the trains were delayed several hours.

☞ Chief among those to whom the Philharmonic Society were indebted for courtesies on the occasion of their late trip to Newburyport, were Supt. Prescott of the Eastern Railroad, and Wm. H. Brewster, Esq, of Newburyport—neither of whom ever forgets that they were former residents of Portsmouth.

☞ On Wednesday Marshal Johnson arrested James Barrett who robbed Dana Dodge of Newburypot at the Eastern Depot on the 11th of January last. Barrett was required to furnish $600 bonds to appear for examination on the 5th of May—in default of which he was committed to jail.

☞ Mrs. Fonda announces her opening of Spring Millinery for to-day. The other principal Millinery establishments, Mr. Tibbets and C. N. Shaw & Co., are also in the field with new goods and new advertisements.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ When Constructor Hanscom leaves this Navy Yard, hosts of his friends will regret to lose one of the most genial and hospitable of gentlemen, as well as skillful and efficient of officers.

☞ We learn that Mr. Pierce, the newly appointed Postmaster of Portsmouth, will not take possession until the close of Mr. Adams' four years term—about the 10th of May.

☞ The Metallic Weather Strip advertised by Mr. Page, is a very neat finish to a door, and appears to be the best and most efficient fixture yet for the purposes intended.

☞ The Spring is rather backward in this vicinity, but the warm and rather gentle rain of Wednesday will tend considerably to shorten the reign of frost.

—It is an offence punishable with fourteen years' imprisonment or transportation, for a clergyman in England to marry a couple after noon of any day without a special license.

ART JOTTINGS FROM BOSTON.—Bostonians may well be proud of the facilities furnished for the culture and enjoyment of art. Our libraries have fostered its growth. Our Public Library of 145,000 volumes is the freest in the world and has the fullest reading room in the United States. The Congressional has 123 periodicals, the Cooper Union 215, and this 287. Our free Art Galleries have done even more. Their number has rapidly increased of late, too rapidly indeed for pecuniary profit. A few of the dealers, like Williams & Everett's, Child & Co.'s and Elliot's, hold on their way successfully. At Child's, Brown has a fine piece of coloring, "The Bay and City of New York," in which the delineations of form and the atmospheric effects are remarkably well handled. It is a reduced copy of the picture given to the Prince of Wales, and is intended for a present to President Grant.

L. A. Elliot has a rich selection of Baxter's small oil prints, of which he is the American agent. Their prices are so low that all can buy, and yet for delicacy of tone and beauty of conception these landscapes are gems. There are fifty or more subjects, and they form pleasant ornaments for parlor or library. "The Tired Soldier" is from the Vernon gallery, among whose treasures we have revelled in years gone by in London. The weary man seated by a well is receiving water from a little girl, and other charming accessories of rural life attract and hold the eye. "The Wreck," after Turner, is another, but we cannot enlarge. Mr. Elliot ministers to a pure and not to a prurient taste, and we commend him to the patronage of Christian connoisseurs.

Before Mr. Prang's removal we gave his factory a careful inspection. His establishment at the Highlands, however, is far in advance of the other in the facilities it has for carrying on the work of chromo-lithography. Here we find a 20 horse power engine aiding the dextrous fingers of scores of artisans in producing hundreds of pictures every day. On the lower story are the fine Bavarian stones prepared carefully by grinding, polishing and coloring; on the next, the pressrooms, and in the upper, the offices and artists' rooms.—Mr. Prang has attained a success alike enviable and unprecedented, and this not merely by liberal and judicious advertising, but by the employment of the best talent in the production of his chromos. No cheap work is allowed and no defective pictures leave the manufactory. We have seen pictures thrown aside as unsaleable in which our unpractised eye could scarcely detect a blemish.

That the fac simile of a thousand dollar painting can now for ten dollars be placed on the walls of a poor man's parlor is a simple fact, but one which is highly gratifying to those who by the culture of our finer tastes seek to advance the people in real refinement and substantial happiness. DUO ALA.

☞ Mr. Dana declines the office of appraiser of New York in the following terms:

Having been educated to commercial pursuits, the office is not repugnant to my tastes; and as for serving the government at some sacrifice of my own interest and convenience, I trust that during the past few years I have sufficiently proved my readiness to do it. But I already hold an office of responsibility as the conductor of an independent newspaper, and I am persuaded that to abandon it or neglect it for the functions you offer me would be to leave a superior duty for one of much less importance.

☞ So it seems that the U. S. Senate unanimously ratified Gen. Harriman's nomination as Naval Officer at Boston, thus acknowledging his paramount fitness and claims for the position,—notwithstanding the violent and unseemly opposition on the part of some of the Boston press and politicians. A very handsome and well merited compliment for our Governor Harriman of New Hampshire.

IMPORTED PERCHERON

STALLION "CONQUEROR."

This celebrated Stallion will stand for the season of 1869 at the stable of the subscriber, on NORTH STREET, NEAR THE P. S. & P. DEPOT, IN SACO, MAINE.

He is 8 years old, stands 17 hands high and weighs 1600 pounds; of splendid figure and action; a beautiful dapple gray: perfectly sound and believed to be the best horse of his kind ever imported; kind to ride or drive; will work in all harness; was imported at great expense by the Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture, and was purchased by his present owner for the purpose of introducing a superior breed of Draft Horses in this region.

Notwithstanding his size, he has trotted a single mile in four minutes, twelve miles an hour, and walked five miles an hour. This latter feat is believed to be unprecedented in a horse of his size, and is very valuable feature in a draft horse, and one that he imparts to his progeny in a marked degree.

Terms, $25 for the Season; to be paid at the time of service. As it is desirable to leave only a perfect class of stock from this horse, he will serve only mares as sound. All mares sent from a distance will be furnished good pasturing at $1.25 a week, and will be received at the depot or boat, and carried to the stables free of charge. While every attention will be given for their safety, the subscriber will not guarantee against theft or accident.

I will pay the following prices for the two best Colts after Conqueror: for the best Stud Colt shown at the Maine State Agricultural Society's Fair in 1870, $200; for the second best, $150.

HORACE WOODMAN.

Statement of Thomas Motley, Esq., First Vice President Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture:

The Percheron Stallion Conqueror was selected by one of the veterinary surgeons of the Royal French College and sent to this country by Messrs. John Munroe & Co. of Paris, under express orders from the "Trustees of the Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture," and arrived by steamer from Havre, in New York, in July, 1864, and arrived at my stables July 5, 1864. He was considered one of the finest horses to be had.

THOMAS MOTLEY, 1st Vice President
Mass. Society for Promoting Agriculture.

Will also stand at my stables, the celebrated Hambletonian Stallion

"MOUNTAIN BOY,"

a grandson of "Rysdyk's Hambletonian." He is four years old, blood bay, stands sixteen and a half hands high, of fine figure and action, and weighs 1250 pounds. Terms, $40.

Also the splendid bay Stallion

"SAUNTERER,"

sired by "Ned Davis," (he by "Hiram Drew,") who trotted his mile in 2.37—dam "Sea Foam," who made her mile in 2.35. "Saunterer" is five years old, a good stepper, and kind in all harness, weighs 950 pounds and stands fifteen and a quarter hands high. Terms, $15

☞ This stock has been selected with special reference to the improvement of the breed of pleasure and draft horses, and the terms of service have been fixed at a price which is within the reach of every man who desires to raise a good colt.

Morning Chronicle.

The Merchant Service,—No. IV.

I have said that the sailor, once he has signed articles and joined his ship, is absolutely a slave,—and I repeat the assertion. He has no control whatever over his career during the term of his service, no claim to one cent of his earnings, no power to annul the contract, however hard and oppressive it may prove to be, and no power to refuse obedience to any order, no matter how dangerous, needless or degrading the required service may be. This, I maintain, is slavery; and I repeat that the boast, our flag "waves only over freemen," is a lie,—and will be, so long as the sailor is legislated for as if he were some peculiar, anomalous creation,—instead of being regarded as any other laboring man, and receiving the same protection from the common laws of the nation.

Believing, as I do, that the sailor is as capable of advancement as any other working man, and that the moral degradation and debased social position of his class is but the natural sequence of unjust and corrupt laws, and that he can never rise, morally or socially, with so heavy a mill-stone to his neck, I will try to show that these laws, by their working, have proved themselves not only useless but terribly injurious.

First, I will speak of the absolute obedience demanded to the order of a superior. This, at sea, is a necessity. I would not, if I could, detract one jot from the officer's authority. On the contrary, implicit and ready obedience should be enforced, by the heaviest penalties for any insubordination while at sea. It is not the just exercise of this absolute power, but its constant abuse, cherished and fostered as that abuse in fact is by our laws, of which I complain. For this abuse there is absolutely no redress. It may be said that the sailor should appeal to the law,—but what law? The man who gives the order is himself the judge as to whether it is a "necessary and legal" one. An officer* of the Francis P. Sage knocked down and kicked an English boy, because he said he couldn't lick up with his tongue the filth which had flowed from the hog-pen out on the deck. The scoundrel who gave the order "considered it necessary," and he was not even reprimanded, by the captain or consul either. Again, granting that the law will protect the sailor (which it will not) from this abuse,—how is he to make his complaint? He must get on shore to do it; and is it likely that a master will allow a sailor to go on shore,—he having a perfect legal right to prevent him,—to complain of ill-usage? I shall probably refer to this point again before I get through with this subject.

Secondly, it is wholly dependent on the liberality of the captain, whether or no the seaman receives any portion of his wages, no matter what his needs or how much is due him, until the close of the voyage. This is just, or according to the spirit of our institutions? I think not. An authority that will not be disputed by the Christian world, once declared that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," and we, more perhaps than any other people, endorse that declaration, —but we practically except the sailor. The mechanic and artisan, farm-hand and bod-carrier, can each and all get their wages as it falls due; why should the sailor not receive his? Is not the farmer's boy as much entitled to his earnings after he becomes a seaman as he was before? Justice would answer yes, but the law says no. How long would the Pacific Railroad have been in building, if the workmen had not been entitled to demand any portion of their pay until it was completed? Not even the Chinese would have accepted such terms. This principle,—that the sailor is not entitled to his money as he earns it, but must wait till his contract is finished,—is one great cause of the barbarity which disgraces our merchant service, as I shall show hereafter.

Lastly, the law that no seaman,—whatever his treatment may be or his dissatisfaction with his situation,—can terminate his contract, is manifestly unjust, —in fact, it makes him what he is, an abject slave while that contract is in force. It may be that the law does not bind him so, in so many words,—I neither know nor care. I speak of facts, and I know whereof I speak; and when the law can be so construed and applied, I maintain that the law is unjust and oppressive, let its words say what they will. PAKEHA.

*Wm. Frost,—not Wm. C. Frost of this city, but a native of Bristol, England,—called by seamen a "Bristol Yankee."—It is commonly said at sea that there is but one link between a Liverpool Irishman and the devil, and that is the Bristol Yankee.

—A lady smuggled a vote into the ballot box at a recent election in Newton, Iowa, and as the judge could not tell what kind of a vote she cast it was counted with the legal ballots.

—The Chicago Tribune puts a mooted question at rest by saying it has seen a letter from President Grant, in which it is stated that Mr. Wilson was invited to a seat in his Cabinet, and that he (the President) deeply regretted that Mr. Wilson, for reasons of his own, was constrained to decline it.

—The Quincy Whig is responsible for the following: An Irish girl in the employ of one of the first families was sent by the lady of the house, one day last week, to a dry goods store, with instructions to bring home a bed-comforter. She returned after a short absence with one of the clerks.

—Another monster blast has been made in California, by which a mountain was demolished. A tunnel 570 feet in length was made and 1200 kegs of powder placed in it. A young lady was chosen to establish the current by which the charge was touched off. The mountain was thoroughly shattered.

—It is estimated that there are 600,000 bushels of wheat along the line of the Winona and St. Peter Railroad in Minnesota, and at least 150,000 bushels more on farms off the line, which will go by that road to market. At Rochester there are 115,000 bushels awaiting shipment.

—Children are generally happy and contented if left to their own resources. We have seen a boy extract more fun out of a jack-knife, a pine stick and a yard of twine, than his father out of half a dozen Fourth of Julys.

—We are curious to know how many feet in female arithmetic go to make a mile, because we hardly ever yet met with a lady's foot whose shoe was not, to say the very least, a mile too big for her.

—Large fortunes have been made in ice in Illinois the past winter. In the town of Peru alone the profits will be not less than a quarter of a million dollars, of which one firm pockets $100,000.

BEST FOOD TO MAKE HENS LAY.—A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph says: "Last winter I procured two barrels of bone meal, intending to use it for Irish potatoes and other garden crops; my wife, however, appropriated some of it to manuring her roses in the flower garden, by simply strewing it on the surface of the ground around the bushes. The fowls have free access to the garden, and were discovered eating the meal very eagerly. Thinking it might be of a service to them, we gave them some for several weeks, and I assure you it was but a short time before the eggs began to come in such numbers as we had never before known! If a nest was broken up to prevent a hen from hatching, it was but a few days before she was laying again, and thus it continues until the present time.

One hen has taken possession of a barrel which has some bone meal in it, and is laying in the meal. Whether she intends to lay the barrel full or not, time alone will determine. My wife thinks that corn and bone meal are great institutions for her poultry yard, and very extraordinary in their effect; but as the hens have an unusual amount of cackling to do, fears they may bring on bronchitis! This manuring of hens to make them lay, we think is original, but we have no idea of taking out a patent for it, and hence leave the discovery open to the use of all who may choose to try it."

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1869.

The News.

The majority in the Spanish Cortes cannot agree upon a candidate for the vacant throne, and the declaration of a Republic is once more among the possibilities.

Sheep are dull at a decline from last week's prices.

The Brighton market is overstocked with heavy rich beeves. Slim beeves are scarce.

1000 more Spanish troops have arrived in Cuba.

Wise of Virginia is very ill.

The President has nominated 18 Quakers for Indian Agents and Superintendents.

Hon. Chas. A. Phelps has been confirmed as Pension Agent at Boston.

Heavy freshets continue in New York, Vermont and Canada.

In several sections of New York railway communication is seriously interfered with, and Rome, Troy and Albany are partially submerged. In Canada the inundation exceeds that of 1865, and at several points on the Connecticut River a dangerous overflow is threatened.

The Milan authorities have discovered another Mazzinian conspiracy in that city.

The headquarters of the Union Pacific Railroad have been established in Boston.

A refrigerator freight car arrived in Boston from Detroit on Tuesday with 16,000 pounds of beef. But 2500 pounds of ice was used in transit.

The Welland canal is open.

Senator Nye delivered a crushing, sarcastic speech in answer to Sprague, in the Senate, Thursday.

The Washington correspondents who published the information of the accusations against Hon. John P. Hale refuse to disclose the source of the information.

The English papers are discussing America-Cuban affairs.

The London Owl think President Grant is eager for a war with England, France or Spain.

Canada has a bill of damages against the United States for Fenian invasions.

The Kimberly suit against Gen. Butler has been decided in favor of the latter.

No American fillibustering expedition has yet landed in Cuba.

Fisk, Jr., is to run Sunday boats from Boston to New York.

Admiral Farragut has suffered greatly of late of acute neuralgia of the optic nerves, but is more comfortable.

Weston has had another failure.

Sprague made another speech on Thursday.

THE FRESHET.—The Merrimack river is still rising fast, and at this point it is higher, with one exception, than at any time since 1852. A portion of the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, near Hooksett, is flooded and impassable for trains.

Another wash-out has occurred on the Passumpsic, and the trains go no further than Newbury. It is reported that the rafts of logs above Wells River have broken away and a large number of rivermen passed north through Concord on Thursday. There is a large wash-out at South Charlestown and the passengers are carried by in boats. One report says that two million feet of logs have broken away from McIndoe's falls and are doing great damage.

The freshet in Western Massachusetts interferes with railroad travel. A train near Holyoke found the track six to eighteen inches under water on Wednesday. Passing Mount Tom station it encountered a large amount of drift wood, and while clearing it away the track washed off both in their front and rear. The passengers spent the night in the cars.

☞ Mr. Chas. H. Branscomb of St. Louis, formerly of Newmarket, has been appointed Consul to Manchester, England. He was formerly Special Agent of the Post Office Department, and was removed by Andrew Johnson. He ran as a candidate for the Missouri Legislature against Frank P. Blair, Jr., about two years ago, and was successful.

☞ Miss Sarah C. Lewis, an elderly maiden, of Braintree, Mass., shot herself in the mouth with a pistol, on Wednesday, ran out of doors, and fell dead in the street. She was a woman of some property, with no near relatives. No cause of suicide is stated, but insanity has prevailed in her family.

☞ Massachusetts stupids want to prohibit card playing on railroad trains.

THE TRIALS OF EDITORS.—We make the following extract from an address recently delivered before the "Iowa Press Association" on this subject:

In speaking of the revenues of the press, I cannot refrain from expressing my views on the subject of free advertisements. There is always to be found in every considerable community a set of creatures who imagine that by some dispensation they ought not, like other mortals, to pay for what they receive. Editors have extraordinary facilities for making their acquaintance, and are kindly permitted to contribute gifts to their support. In what other branch of business would this be tolerated?

Allowing that one has put the press under some obligation, does he not generally expect to get back more than the worth of his services? If a man does an editor a favor of a marketable value, let him have his remuneration in cash. On the other hand, require him to pay for what the paper does for him. It is just as reasonable to expect the carpenter to shingle your house, and the tailor to make your clothes without charge, as to expect an editor to prepare and publish matter for another's benefit without compensation. Lengthy obituaries, marriages ornamented by extracts from all the poets, and lengthy puffs of some one's corner lots or improvements, come under this class of advertisements.

This custom of gratuitous notice, and advertisements from whatever quarter, ought to cease, for the reason that it would be a benefit to the printer's pockets, and would in some degree abate an almost intolerable nuisance. The printer's path has more thorns than roses; and there is no law, human or divine, that should oblige him to shoulder the burdens of those who are too lazy or stingy to take care of themselves. People will come to terms where they find their interests are involved in a reasonable compliance.

Perhaps no man is made the subject of more abundant concern, and is watched with more untiring vigilance than the editor of a paper. Nearly every other man seems to imagine he can edit a paper better than the editor himself. So editors are pestered with hangers-on in the office, and advised by incompetent mentors; are graciously waited upon by political and reform committees; are bored by strangers and adventurers, and all who have even any diminutive specimens of cutlery to grind.

I will not attempt to disturb the present serenity of this body, which now providentially enjoys a little respite, by recalling, by portraiture, the interruption, the perplexities, the insane requests, the abuse, the bores, the senseless criticism, the wanton indignation that an editor is liable to suffer, and has to expect as a part of his experience. At best his position is a trying one. But the sooner he gives all sorts of people to understand, in most courteous language, that he is the manager of his own paper, the better. Threats to discontinue; effective descriptions of personal interests in its success; all kinds of gushing demonstrations, may be safely ignored.

Few men in the land are comfortable without their paper, and the more unflinchingly independent its course, the better they will like it. No honest editor, as I have suggested, loses anything in the long run by his straightforward manliness and courage. Of all despicable things, a journal that veers to each breath of popular breath, trims its sails for the breeze of vulgar applause; that sacrifices its independence for a mess of pottage, is the most contemptible. Surely my words will find response in every honest heart when I say, Be master of your own position; be lord over your own domain; be judge on the bench of your own sanctum—the jury that decides is the enlightened opinion of your readers.

THE ANNUAL EXAMINATION at the Reform School in Manchester took place on Wednesday. There was a large attendance of visitors from various sections of the State, and the exercises reflected the highest credit upon the officers and children of the school. Addresses were made by Hon. Horton D. Walker of Portsmouth, President, and Jos. Kidder of Manchester, Secretary of the Board of Trustees, Rev. Mr. Alden of Portsmouth, Hon. Ezra A. Stevens, President of the Senate, Hon. Samuel M. Wheeler of Dover, Gen. Natt Head, Warden Mayo and Chaplain Holman of the State Prison, Hon. Peter Sanborn, State Treasurer, Rev. Mr. Safford of Concord, and others.—Eleven children were honorably discharged, and six were presented with books for their good behavior the past year. A young lad named Crowley from Portsmouth was the recipient of one of the books.

☞ A clergyman of Wolcott, Vermont, has patented a globe made of strong linen paper, in sections, which folds up so as to appear like a folded sheet of thick paper. By means of a steel spring it is sprung into shape, on the cover of a common atlas, so that, in all respects, it is a perfect artificial globe for common school use. The inventors have the machinery made to manufacture these globes as an attachment to the ordinary school atlas, at a cost that will place them within the reach of every scholar.

—Vegetation is of rapid growth in California. Four locust trees less than twenty years old were lately cut, and twenty-nine wagon hubs have been made from them, the remainder made more than four cords of firewood.

New Publications.

Evening by Evening; or Readings at Eventide for the Family or the Closet: by C. H. Spurgeon. It is a neat volume of 400 pages, published by Sheldon & Co., New York; and for sale in this city by J. F. Shores, jr. It contains 366 short Scripture lesson or texts, with a page of reflections on each; one for every evening in the year. These, of course, are in Mr. Spurgeon's peculiar manner, positive, deeply tinged with his old school calvanistic theology, but glowing with earnest, spiritual aspirations. The author says, in his preface, —We have striven to keep out of the common track, and hence we have used unusual texts, and have brought forward neglected subjects. The vice of many religious works is their dulness—from this we have striven to be free: our friends must judge how far successfully.

We think he has done it; the book is anything but dull.

At the end of the book there are 62 Hymns for evening family worship, arranged for two months' singing;—and a careful index to the texts of the reflections.

The book is quite a treasure to such readers as admire Spurgeon's Sermons, and enjoy his other book called Morning by Morning, which we know, in some cases, is read year after year.

The Radical for May, contains fifteen articles, among them, Immortality; a discourse by T. W. Higginson, delivered in Horticultural Hall, Boston.

Demorest's Young America for May, has a good Temperance Song, words and music.

—A woman with a child entered a photographic gallery in Newburg the other day, and previous to placing it for a picture the woman subjected the young one to a vigorous spanking. The artist interfered, when he was informed by the woman that she was only trying to get up a fine color in the child's face, in order that it might be represented in the picture with blooming cheeks. She was somewhat surprised to learn that the matter of color in the photograph was quite an after consideration; that the machine to take colors just as they stood was not yet invented.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. a21

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take no other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is the great Blood Purifier.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much: they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they damage the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Quinsy, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighed 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the virtues of these medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 56 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y|a4

City Council, Thursday Eve. April 22.

In Board of Aldermen, The Com. on Finances reported that arrangements had been made for the Mayor to draw money for City use as needed, to the amount of $12,000, at 6 per cent. per annum, from the Rockingham National Bank; said Bank to receive and pay for the deposit of City funds 3 7-8 per cent. per annum. Resolutions in accordance with these arrangements were accordingly passed.

The Com. stated that the City Treasurer's accounts and vouchers are all correct, and that he has used due effort to collect taxes; but that a considerable loss in entailed on the City each year by the non-payment of poll taxes, and the only remedy they can see is to pass a law that no man shall vote till his poll tax is paid.

The subject of widening Fleet Street was taken from the table, and earnestly discussed for a long while. Ald. Nowell moved to indefinitely postpone—yeas 3, Nowell, Spinney and Clark; nays 4, Cotton, Miller, Pender and Slater; Pendexter not voting.

Ald. Miller moved to widen the street six feet—the corner building of the Mech's Assoc'n not to be cut until the lease expires, some four years hence. After numerous amendments, Ald. Slater for 4 1-2 feet, Nowell for laying on the table, and Spinney for 6 inches widening—the motion to widen six feet was carried by yeas 4, nays 3, Pendexter not voting on the question at all.

Ald. Nowell moved to pay Mr. Cotton 20 cts. per foot, and the Haven heirs 15 cts. per foot, for their land, and the Mech. Assoc'n 15 cts per foot, which was carried by a yea and nay vote. Ald. Cotton stated that the land owners would not accept, and he was opposed to Commissioners being called or the City getting into lawsuits—so he moved to rescind the vote to widen the street. The vote stood 4 to 4, and the Mayor did not decide it. Mr. Nowell thought all the abutters ought to give the land, for their own benefit.

Ald. Pendexter and the Mayor stated that Lafayette School-house needed repairs to amount of $250 or so; and the matter was referred to Joint Com. on City Lands and Buildings with the Mayor added, with power to act.

The Sewer on Vaughan St. was referred to, but laid over for one week to ascertain how much the abuttors will pay towards it.

Com. on Burying Grounds reported the fire at the Cotton Ground was accidental, and not so injurious as reported.

Petition of Dan'l Mason, Stephen Tobey and others, for Concrete Sidewalk on Elm St., from house of Mr. Rugg to North Mill, under the usual restrictions, was referred to Com. on Streets, to report next week. The Mayor recommended that Sidewalks of a certain stated width only be paid for in part by the City, in any case, and that only at a given sum per foot.

Wm. Ward gave notice of encumbering McDonough and Langdon Sts. to build.

The School Committee gave notice that $20,000 would be needed for Schools this year, an increase of $1000 over last year.

Comdr. Rowe of the Vandalia, sent a communication accompanied by affidavits, complaining of the confinement and receiving rewards for the return of two Marines, by Policeman Samuel Taylor. Referred to Com. on Police.

More Selectmen's bills were presented and approved, to the amount of $10 and $20 each.

The Common Council non-concurred in the Ordinance to change the time for City Elections.

Concurred in the Ordinance fixing salaries of Moderators and Selectmen.

Decoration of Soldiers's Graves.

Gen. John A. Logan, as Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic organization, has issued the following:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12, 1869.

General Orders, No. 21—I. The 30th day of May proximo—a day set apart by the Grand Army of the Republic to commemorate the glorious deeds of our departed comrades, will be observed throughout the United States in such manner as befits the solemnities of the occasion, and as will testify the undying love of a grateful people for the memory of those who died that the nation might live. This is the second public observance of the occasion, which it is trusted will recur yearly while there remains a heart loyal to the cause in which our comrades fell, and while the moving principle of that struggle is worth preserving. If our organization had no other object, that alone of keeping green the resting places of our nation's defenders by this annual commemoration, would be motive enough to hold us together in a fraternal band.

The Commander-in-Chief desires to thank those patriotic men and women who gave their aid and sympathy on a former occasion to make successful this national memorial day, and they are cordially invited to unite with the comrades of the Grand Army in the approaching ceremonies; and he thanks the loyal press everywhere, through whose generous aid a lasting record has been made of the observances one year ago. To the Congress of the United States, the comrades are specially indebted for authorizing the publication in book form, of the proceedings of last May, and for the promise held out that each year a compilation will be made and published, as a national recognition of sympathy with these memorial observances.

II. It has been determined not to prescribe any form of ceremony for universal observance, but each post, or any number of posts, may arrange together such fitting services as circumstances will permit. Department commanders will use every effort to perfect arrangements for the occasion. The newspaper press are requested to give publication to this order.

III. Department and post commanders are specially enjoined to preserve and forward to these headquarters a copy of the proceedings (in printed form so far as possible) which take place in carrying out this order.

IV. As the 30th of May occurs on Sabbath, posts are at liberty to observe either that day, or Saturday, the 29th.

RYE BEACH.

There was an old woman once, who said, "she always went to meeting early, so as to get home early." It isn't necessary to give our reason, but we had a reason, nearly as sensible as this old woman's, for a trip to Rye Beach this middle of April: furthermore, if next Sunday proves a mild day—it's high time for one such — why some reader will be thankful to have his Rye Beach souvenir quickened even in April,—so here goes a letter: We picked the day of all the week to come to the beach, because it's washing-day, when the ladies would be at home for the great domestic occasion, and the men, also, in duty bound to wait upon them. This is ruleable in the country, of course the custom here, and what was once the habit at Rye always will be done from generation to generation, just as much as keeping up private grave-yards on every man's homestead lot. Well, everybody was at home this washing-day to show rooms, talk prices with the rest of it, and as we proved to be the first callers this year, we were an emotion among them and fared well. There is no such a thing as getting up a "letter" without the stimulus of the human side of a fashionable watering place; now as the presence of all this is some two months off, I will put down a few convenient figures instead. Now then:

Boarding rates are named the same as last season; say $21, $20 to $19 for the best rooms, with two occupants. Small rooms and attics from $13 to $17. Four to five dollars off from that price if the aforesaid apartments are taken by one occupant. Horses a dollar a day. There was ever a good deal of setting noses together among landlords at Rye, on the mutual interest principle versus the great public sheep to be plucked, and pretty general sticking to agreements determined upon. For instance, children up beyond positive infants count as grown folks in the bill; no half price nor other concession for youngsters or servants.

Then the "season" must be per eight weeks,—the effort is making for ten weeks. If rooms are engaged, they must be taken for at least this period, with an abatement of from $4 to $5 when not occupied. For any part of the "season," excepting the whole month of August, board may be secured for fewer weeks. In other words, in August they are willing to take the risk of rooms, that month being the height, full tide of the season. As well here as anywhere, a word to new-comers: In beating up quarters, be chary of unnecessary comment, comparisons and the like between houses, for all Rye seem to be related. They do marry and are given in marriage at this lovely spot, but it's all among themselves, and in course come to be related in the family bond, as well as the great public sheep-plucking interest before named. Moreover, be sure and get the whole name in looking up the house, for certain names are manifold and numerous. Thus the Jennesses, the Philbrooks, the Perkinses, the Daltons, the Batchelders, the Browns, and so on and so on are frequent and of much report at Rye; it is, therefore, imperative for precision and to prevent confusion to get by heart that Disco, the Job, the Michaels, the Daniel,—in short, the Shadrach, Meshach and so forth that belong and verily go with these respected names so universal at Rye.

Little can be safely predicted on a "season" at Rye, save that it is pretty sure to be a full one. But in going the rounds of the popular boarding-houses, they tell us at almost every one that some of their "old families," such as have been regular visitors for years, are not to be here the coming season. So that an unusual number of choice rooms, with the many pet fixings and contrivances, corner ones with extra closets and look-offs are ready for the first applicant. At this watering-place, the fashions, best society and general excellence in house-keeping is with the private houses over and above the hotel.

The first look at Rye this season will strike guests of former years with some amazement at the number and style of the houses now rapidly finishing to be ready in July. Including Rye proper and Little Boar's Head in North Hampton, both of which stand for one and the same "watering place" with the public, the following new houses will be opened the approaching "season": Elbert Batchelder's with, say, 25 rooms; Moses Philbrook's, 5 to 8 rooms; J. C. Philbrook's 15 rooms; Emmons Philbrook's, 10 rooms; Lougee's new hotel, 60 rooms; Sheridan Jenness's, 12 to 16 rooms; and the new house or hotel near the "Ocean," calculated for 40 rooms. In all, the estimate is, that accommodation for from 350 to 400 guests will be added at this beach this summer.

North Hampton station on the "Eastern" is the point for Rye Beach and Little Boar's Head; conveyance over is always to be had, and it is the route, too, of the regular stages. The roads are at the present writing in fair summer time order, with the exception of an occasional stretch of muddy driving, the last record of a big snow drift, or some low spot, which is kept wet by the back water of the mill ponds. This last named cause will begin to abate on and after the 12th of May, that being the canonical day and date at Rye for stopping the saw mills, letting the water go free, in order that the land now overflowed may be worked. Snow patches caked to solid ice lie about in the groves and on the shady side of ledges.

Presume the rule is here, out of "company time," for the people to go to bed as soon as it gets dark under the table. It is an old time rule, and of course Rye folks now-a-days do just as their forefathers went on doing since A. D. 1641. At any rate, we are all alone this evening, in the middle parlor, with the kerosene lamp, the ocean's roar, to a steady accompaniment of a louder roar from the bedroom at the end of the entry. We are trusted up alone, that's all, while Rye is asleep, sound, and the "old South," if she's on time, and she thinks she is, hasn't struck nine yet. It was not wise to go to bed and think of other folks' sins, so I took a bit of candle, which I always carry, and wandered up stairs, room after room, to see what there was left of "last season."

And here it was indeed, the beds stripped, but in every particular other respect left exactly to a dot as when the boarders stepped out, with good-byes last September. This plan is sensible; those parts of the house are not needed by the family, and the good people, jaded and tired of their summer work, don't want to make but one job of fixing up, and that to make ready for the next one by and by, in early June. The look into the room was comic enough; so Rye-beachy, so sea-sidey, so regular watering placey. I won't tell any harm. Imprimis, flies, on every straw carpet plain to be seen, a dust-pan full of flies could have been brushed up; disorganized, dead flies. Then the number of all-est sortest bottles! What a chance right here to advertise hair restoratives, face washes, tooth powders, aperients, bitters, with self-evident commendation; also cosmetics, diuretics, calisthenics, specifics, soporifics, eclectics, emetics, and all manner of relics; but I shan't do it. Neither shall hints be dropped of wardrobe secrets, or the magic mysteries touching the Grecian bend.

Amid all the ludicrous exhibitions, it was truly quite touching to see in what was clearly a child's room, the battered doll heads, bruised playthings, little lots of shells and beach stones, all little toys and things so dear to the very last one, if ever so used up, which clearly in the haste of the closing up pack, had been given over to the bad in the hurry scurry by that nurse who never bore a child, and couldn't feel how easy it certainly would have been to have tucked 'em all into the first box at hand, and how precious that box would have been to the dear little soul at home, again to have rummaged out one after another, every one of those trifles! Ah me, I love, and love to care for the little folk.

The mixed miscellany about these summer time rooms was curious enough. But one mention more, and a hint, too, may be got out of it. Letters old envelopes, notes and memorandums, all doubtless confidential on their day and occasion, lay scattered, one here, another there. Quite a collection could be ransacked out of all the rooms. Only a part of an unsent one I did read, as it lay flat in the bureau comb box. It said: "Dear——, oh I am sorry we must go home after to-morrow. Papa says he's tired of Rye this time, and if we don't go now he shan't want to come again," etc., etc. It is a good plan to burn most letters, and we find it out so, after the pile gets so big that we shrink from undertaking it. The dearest letters, after all, are alone worth the thought of keeping, and how many of these start a pang at re-reading after lapses of time! But those young people haven't lived long enough to feel the truth of this, and when they do get old enough, why they don't get many letters at watering places.—Correspondence Boston Sunday Times.

AN APRIL DAY.

All day the long-hung clouds have dropt
Their garnered fullness down;
All day that soft, gray mist bath wrapt
Hill, valley, grove and town.

There has not been a sound to-day
To break the calm of Nature;
Nor motion, I might almost say,
Of life, or living creature—

Of waving bough, or warbling bird,
Or cattle faintly lowing—
I could have half believed I heard
The leaves and blossoms growing.

I stood to hear—I love it well—
The rain's continuous sound;
Small drops; but thick and fast they fell,
Down straight into the ground.

But leafy thickness is not yet
Earth's naked breast to screen,
Though every dripping branch is set
With shoots of tender green.

Sure, since I looked at early morn,
Those honeysuckle buds
Have swelled to double growth; that thorn
Hath put forth larger studs.

That lilac's cleaving cones have burst,
The milk-white flowers revealing;
Even now, upon my senses first
Methinks their sweets are stealing.

The very earth, the steamy air,
Is all with fragrance rife!
A grace and beauty everywhere
Are flushing into life.

Down, down they come—those fruitful stores!
Those earth-rejoicing drops!
A momentary deluge pours,
Then thins, decreases, stops.

And ere the dimples on the stream
Have circled out of sight,
Lo! from the West a parting gleam
Breaks forth of amber light.

THE USES OF WALKING.—Walking, for young and active people, is by far the best exercise; riding is good for the elderly, middle aged, and invalids. The abuse of these exercises consists in taking them when the system is exhausted more or less by previous fasting or by mental labors. Some persons injudiciously attempt a long walk before breakfast, under the belief that it is conducive to health. Others will get up early to work three hours at some abstrusive mental toil. The effect in both instances is the same; it subtracts from the power of exertion in the after part of the day.

A short saunter or some light treading before this meal, is the best indulgence of the kind; otherwise the waste occasioned by labor must be supplied by nourishment, and the breakfast will necessarily become a heavy meal, and the whole morning's comfort sacrificed by a weight at the chest, from imperfect digestion of food. These observations apply especially to elderly persons, who are prone to flatter themselves into the persuasion that they can use their mental or bodily powers in age as in youth.—Boston Jour. of Chem.

These arguments are undoubtedly sound and scientific, but the premises to start with we think are not generally applicable. Of course walking is excellent exercise for those whose business does not keep them much on their feet; but riding is by far the more agreeable and attractive recreation for most people.

And as to persons injuring themselves by too early rising, or working or playing too long before breakfast—we never met many of that sort. The great majority waste much time in bed of mornings, and almost all eat too much and too often. One of the rarest animals in the world is a man or boy who likes to get up before breakfast. F.

—One hundred and fifty emigrants from New York arrived at Waterloo, Kansas, on Sunday last. They intend to purchase lands in that vicinity and are the advance guard of 2000 families who are making arrangements to join them. A Danish colony has purchased a large tract of the Kikaopolands, costing $7,000.

—During the past winter there was a wholesale slaughter of sheep in Iowa. The carcasses have been fed to the hogs and the pelts sold. From the number killed, it is supposed that statistics this year will show a very large decrease and that wool will be higher.

—The steamship Russia, which sails for Europe on Wednesday, the 28th of this month, has a large list of passengers engaged for the voyage. Among them are Hon. John Jay of New York (our new minister to Austria) and family, and Mr. and Mrs. James T. Fields of Boston.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.
